THE election figures come out, all disappointing, and all pleasing to someone. They seem unimportant to the people on the Mojave desert, in California, where this is written. The couple digging a well with pick and shovel, now down 140 feet back in the valley, care little about the gibness or littleness of Al Smith's vote in New York, George Brennan's vote in Illinois, or Butler's defeat in Massachusetts.

The husband is down in the well, hammering his way through hardpan, not more than 18 inches gained in a hard day's work His wife, at the top, hauls up the dirt by windlass power.

Not who is elected but how much farther down to water, is their question.

WHAT the larger primates have been doing at the ballot box to naturalists here is less important than the problem of wiping out gophers.

Everything depends on where you are, and what you are doing. Travel three thousand miles out here, where the mail ships fly overhead and the wind roars across the mountains from the Pacific, and you wonder that "who's elected' could ever seem important.

COURT WILL NOT GO TO HOSPITAL TO HEAR 'PIG WOMAN'S' STORY

DEATH SCENE PHOTOS OFFERED

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN

COURT HOUSE, SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 5.—James Mills, husband of Mrs. Eleanor Mills, who with the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall, was shot to death in a "Lover's Lane" on the night of Sept. 14, 1922, took the stand at 11:45 this morning in the famous Hall-Mills murder trial.

Thin, Pale Faced Man.

Mills is a thin, pale faced man, with a receding chin and a high forehead which slopes back from a head that hasn't much hair on it. He seemed prepared for the occasion. His hair was plastered down neatly as if he had just come from the barber shop.

"New Brunswick."

"How long have you lived in New Brunswick?"

"All my life."

He said he was 48 years old.

In answer to a question he said, yes, Mrs. Mills, who was shot to death beneath the crabapple tree, was his wife.

"How old was she when she died?"

"I should say 35."

They were married in 1905, he testified, and had two children, Charlotte and Daniel, who were living with him at the time of the murder.

He said his wife became connected with the Church of St. John the Evangelist before he married her. Mills, who was sexton of the church, said he was paid $35 a week.

"What did Mrs. Minna Clark do besides looking after Sunday school equipment and priestly robes?" Mills was asked.

"Nothing."

"Did you ever see Mrs. Clark rummaging the books in the study?"

"No."

Mrs. Hall Watches Witness.

Mrs. Hall watched Mills with a pale, expressionless face. Willie Stevens bent forward, his bulbous eyes on the witness and his hand cupped to his ear, listening to every word. The other defendant, Henry Stevens, sat rigidly in his chair, his florid face set and inscrutable.

Mills never once looked their way.

Custer Massacre Scout Asks $125 For Horse's Death

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—For one horse shot on the Custer battlefield—$125.

This bill, 50 years old, will be presented to Uncle Sam by William G. Bailey, aged retired scout of Indian wars.

Bailey says he was sent by Major Reno to get medical supplies and rush them to the reported scene of the General Custer massacre in the battle of the Little Big Horn in Montana.

His horse was shot. He, and other scouts, he says, owned their horses. Having just been told he is entitled to reimbursement he has persuaded Senator Lynn J. Frazier, North Dakota, to father a bill in congress to pay him.

GASTON SAYS SCHOOLS FACE $25,000 DEFICIT

$48,765 IN BANK

Bonds and Interest Due December 1 Total $6,700.

A deficit of approximately $25,000 will face the East Liverpool district schools on December 31, board of education members were advised by Emmett J. Gaston, clerk-treasurer, at the semi-monthly meeting in the high school building last evening.

Gaston reported a bank balance of $48,765.77, a little more than the payroll of teachers and janitors for November and December.

Bonds and interest due December 1 total $6,700. Bills for coal, light, insurance, supplies and other current expenses are still outstanding and thousands of dollars more in bills are expected before the end of the year, Gaston said.

School Levy Wins Two to One; Bonds Lose by 105 Votes

Electors of the East Liverpool school district approved the proposed 2.3 mill levy by a ratio of more than two to one at Tuesday's election, according to the official tabulation.

The vote was: "Yes, 2,984; no, 1,427. Every polling place in the district with the exception of Precinct D of the Fourth ward returned majorities in favor of the levy.

The proposed $225,000 city hall bond issue, while it received a majority, failed by a margin of 105 to poll the required 55 per cent vote. The vote was: Yes, 2,032; no, 1,854. To carry the bond issue 2,137 votes were required.

ARMISTICE DAY STREET PARADE IS PLANNED BY WAR VETERANS

Private Eddy Post Will Unfurl City Service Flag.

DINNER AT NOON

Afternoon Football Game and Evening Program.

A street parade, dinner and the unfurling of the city service flag, containing approximately 1,200 stars, will be features of the Community Armistice Day celebration, sponsored by Private Eddy Post No. 66, Veterans of Foreign Wars, which will be held here on Thursday, November 11.

The service flag, which, recently came into possession of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, was found moth-eaten, tattered, torn and dirty. It has been cleaned and re-made by the post.

Mayor Ralph C. Benedum will unfurl the flag. Beside it will hang two smaller flags, each containing 631 stars, which will be unfurled at same time. Two other flags, having 37 flowers, representing the men who made the supreme sacrifice during the World war, will be displayed for the first time in connection with this service, which will take place at the Veterans of Foreign Wars club rooms, Fifth and Market street, at 12 o'clock noon.

Parade at 10:30 A. M.

The observance will begin at 10:30 o'clock with a parade forming at Fifth and Market street. The route follows: Fifth street to Broadway, to Sixth, to Diamond or Jackson street, to Fourth, to Carnegie library. Church bells will ring and factory whistles will be blown for a five-minute period prior to 11 o'clock. A two-minute period of silence will be observed just before the exercises begin.

Allegiance to the flag will be given by the entire assemblage, directed by School Superintendent C. S. McVay, at the exercises in front of the Carnegie library. "America" will be sung under the leadership of Prof. H. F. Laughlin, followed by an address by Common Pleas Judge-elect W. F. Lones. "The Star Spangled Banner" will then be sung by the assemblage after which a salute will be fired and taps sounded. The Eagles' degree team probably will give an exhibition drill on Broadway at the conclusion of the open air exercises.

Exercises in Post Rooms.

The open air meeting will precede unfurling of the service flag in the post rooms. A community dinner will be served in the club rooms at noon at a charge of 75 cents per plate. A short program will follow the dinner. Music will be rendered by a panatrope, furnished by the Smith & Phillips Music company.

The afternoon program will include a football game between the Toronto Tigers and a team containing many former college football stars, which is being organized by George Kidder, high school coach.

The Veterans will give an entertainment open to the public at 7:30 o'clock. Musical numbers will be featured by the Kiwanis Glee club, led by Prof. H. F. Laughlin.

Annexation Plan Hearing at Lisbon Monday Morning

Hearing on the application of the city of East Liverpool for permission to annex certain property bordering on the present corporation limits will be conducted by the county commissioners at Lisbon Monday morning.

Maps of the territory have been filed with County Auditor Elmer E. Walker. The annexation plan is sponsored by the planning commission and has the approval of the mayor and city council.

The city will be represented by Solicitor Frank Hoover.

The commissioners will conduct a hearing with regard to the assessments for the improvement of the Harrisville-Westville road in Butler township also on Monday.

TWO OHIOANS ASPHYXIATED

FOSTORIA, O., Nov. 5.—The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Bennis, deaf mutes, were discovered in their home here today by J. E. Whiteman, a farmer for whom Bennis worked, who broke down the door. They had been asphyxiated.

The couple had not been seen since Tuesday, thus arousing the suspicions of Whiteman, who began a search for them. The nature of the gas which caused their death has not been discovered.

MOVIE STAR SUES TO PROVE HER AGE

Lucy Dorraine.

While admitting that it is no crime to mention a woman's age without her consent, Lucy Dorraine, German movie star, thinks it ought to be made a penal offense to state that a woman is older than she actually is. She has filed suit for $10,000 damages against the publishers of a theatrical took in which her age was given as 32. She says she is twenty-eight and a half and can prove it.

Lindell and Kelly Seek Second Ward Council Place

Solons Accept Resignation of Edgar H. Heddleston, But Defer Action on Successor for Two Weeks.

Council last night accepted the resignation of Edgar H. Heddleston, member from the Second ward, and declared the seat vacant. Election of a successor was deferred for two weeks in order to permit applicants to file applications.

Heddleston, who is employed in a pottery at Niles, has not been in attendance all the sessions for several weeks.

Applications of H. S. Lindell, secretary of Windland Brothers, contractors, and William H. Kelly, grocer, were read and ordered filed. Kelly's application was signed by 20 residents of the ward.

Resolution was passed under suspension of rules authorizing the grading of Spring Grove avenue from the Lincoln highway to Wyoming avenue.

Service-Safety Director J. W. Moore was instructed to have a brick sidewalk laid on Ridgeway avenue which was damaged by the city in making an improvement. He was also directed to investigate several complaints, including damage by blasting to the property of Charles Wilson, Trentvale street.

Clerk Shone was instructed to notify two property owners in First street, East End, to have new sidewalks laid in conformity with an ordinance of council.

Vote of thanks was extended to the Review-Tribune and Potters' Herald for support of the city hall bond proposal which was rejected by the voters.

Funeral services for Richard Gilson, postmaster at Steubenville and Republican leader in the 18th congressional district for many years, will be held in his home, Oregon avenue, Steubenville, at 1:30 o'clock Monday afternoon. Rev. Joseph Kenney, pastor of the La Belle View Methodist Episcopal church, of which Mr. Gilson was a member, will have charge of the services. Burial will be made in Union cemetery.

DETECTIVE ACE SEEKS MURDER COUNT AGAINST MORRIS NADEL

Binds Loose Ends of Don Mellett Assassination.

"KEY" MAN FIGHTS

McDermott May Not be Arraigned in Court Today.

CANTON, O., Nov. 5.—While Prosecutor C. B. McClintock was making arrangements today for the arraignment of Pat McDermott on a first degree murder indictment, in connection with the shooting down of Don R. Mellet, militant Canton publisher, Ora Slater, Cincinnati sleuth, began his investigation of Morris Nadel's connection with the assassination.

Mazer Represents McDermott.

Slater, "home-spun psychologist", who has bound together many of the loose ends of the mystery, returned last night from Cincinnati, where he had been confined to his home with illness and today told International News Service that bit by bit he was building a hole-proof case against Nadel and hoped soon to be able to present sufficient evidence to the grand jury which would warrant the handing down a true bill against the suspect.

McClintock's attempt to secure an arraignment of the alleged "key figure" today will be met with opposition from E. L. Mills, Canton attorney for Louis Mazer and Ben Rudner, who was selected late yesterday by Pat as his attorney.

"The statutes provide," Mills said, "that from twenty-four hours to two weeks must be granted a man served with an indictment for conference with his attorney, before he is arraigned.

"Pat was served with the indictment yesterday and has had no opportunity to confer with me, so I will insist that the judge allow several days to pass before arraigning him."

Demand Mazer Trial First.

Storm clouds also hovered over McClintock's demand, to be presented today, that McDermott be tried before Mazer, whose case was to open Monday.

Mills announced that he intended to ask Judge Edwin Diehl to overrule McClintock's request and he will insist that Mazer go to trial on Monday as scheduled.

"We have prepared a case for Ma-

2 DEAD, 4 HURT IN RAIL CRASH

Pennsy Freight Trains Collide at Millersburg, Pa.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Nov. 5.—Two trainmen were killed and four others severely injured early today when two extra freight trains on the Pennsylvania railroad collided at Millersburg, 30 miles from here, according to reports to the Pennsylvania offices here.

The men killed were Paul T. Bailey, Lykens, Pa., an engineer, and Wilbur J. Sees, Sunbury, a brakeman.

According to reports, a local train on the Lykens branch of the Pennsylvania railroad ran onto the main line near Millersburg, and crashed head-on with a main line freight.

Majority of Sheriff George Wright, of Lisbon, Republican, over F. C. Armstrong, Elkton, his Democratic opponent, in Tuesday's balloting was increased to 1,125 votes in the official tabulation, completed by the Columbiana county board of deputy state supervisors of elections at Lisbon, last evening.

Although his name was not printed on the ballot, Attorney Harry Brokaw, of East Liverpool, received 669 ballots for prosecuting attorney, 443 of which were cast under the Democratic column and 226 on the Republican ticket. H. Brookhart, Columbiana, received 26 votes on the Democratic ticket for the same office to which Prosecutor Robert M. Brookes, of East Liverpool, was re-elected with a total vote of 10,328.

Conrad Berg, Democratic incumbent, cut the majority of J. Howard Sinclair, Republican, for county commissioner to 4,470 as compared to 5,184 given Sinclair in the semi-official vote. Changes were also made in the votes given the candidates for county treasurer, recorder, coroner, clerk of courts, state representative and state senator.

Congressman Frank Murphy, Republican, Steubenville, led the ticket in the county, polling 11,956 ballots. Frank Ballantine, Republican, unopposed for clerk of courts, was a close second with 11,902 Fred George, Republican, who was opposed by Dr. Joseph Williamson for county treasurer, polled 11,463 votes.

On the judicial ticket W. F. Lones was given a majority of 1,237 over Judge W. H. Spence, of Lisbon, runner-up in the three-cornered common pleas judgeship fight. Probate Judge Lodge Riddle, also of Lisbon, gained votes in this count but ran 1,473 behind the winner.

The proposed amendment to the primary law was rejected. 9,638 to 4,458.

The total vote in the county was 18,494, which is approximately 60 per cent of the poll in the presidential election two years ago, when the total vote exceeded the 30,000 mark.

Lead of Myers Y. Cooper, Republican nominee for governor, over A. V. Donahey, Democrat, was reduced from 3,223 given him in the semi-official count to 2,589 in the official canvass.

United States Senator Frank B. Willis also increased his lead over Atlee Pomerene, Democratic opponent, from 5,787 in the unofficial to 6,121 in the official count.

There was no change in the vote for the two leading candidates for lieutenant-governor and minor changes

Council last night accepted the resignation of Edgar H. Heddleston, member from the Second ward, and declared the seat vacant. Election of a successor was deferred for two weeks in order to permit applicants to file applications.

Heddleston, who is employed in a pottery at Niles, has not been in attendance all the sessions for several weeks.

Applications of H. S. Lindell, secretary of Windland Brothers, contractors, and William H. Kelly, grocer, were read and ordered filed. Kelly's application was signed by 20 residents of the ward.

Resolution was passed under suspension of rules authorizing the grading of Spring Grove avenue from the Lincoln highway to Wyoming avenue.

Service-Safety Director J. W. Moore was instructed to have a brick sidewalk laid on Ridgeway avenue which was damaged by the city in making an improvement. He was also directed to investigate several complaints, including damage by blasting to the property of Charles Wilson, Trentvale street.

Clerk Shone was instructed to notify two property owners in First street, East End, to have new sidewalks laid in conformity with an ordinance of council.

Vote of thanks was extended to the Review-Tribune and Potters' Herald for support of the city hall bond proposal which was rejected by the voters.

DETECTIVE ACE SEEKS MURDER COUNT AGAINST MORRIS NADEL

Binds Loose Ends of Don Mellett Assassination.

McDermott May Not be Arraigned in Court Today.

CANTON, O., Nov. 5.—While Prosecutor C. B. McClintock was making arrangements today for the arraignment of Pat McDermott on a first degree murder indictment, in connection with the shooting down of Don R. Mellet, militant Canton publisher, Ora Slater, Cincinnati sleuth, began his investigation of Morris Nadel's connection with the assassination.

Mazer Represents McDermott.

Slater, "home-spun psychologist", who has bound together many of the loose ends of the mystery, returned last night from Cincinnati, where he had been confined to his home with illness and today told International News Service that bit by bit he was building a hole-proof case against Nadel and hoped soon to be able to present sufficient evidence to the grand jury which would warrant the handing down a true bill against the suspect.

McClintock's attempt to secure an arraignment of the alleged "key figure" today will be met with opposition from E. L. Mills, Canton attorney for Louis Mazer and Ben Rudner, who was selected late yesterday by Pat as his attorney.

"The statutes provide," Mills said, "that from twenty-four hours to two weeks must be granted a man served with an indictment for conference with his attorney, before he is arraigned.

"Pat was served with the indictment yesterday and has had no opportunity to confer with me, so I will insist that the judge allow several days to pass before arraigning him."

Demand Mazer Trial First.

Storm clouds also hovered over McClintock's demand, to be presented today, that McDermott be tried before Mazer, whose case was to open Monday.

Mills announced that he intended to ask Judge Edwin Diehl to overrule McClintock's request and he will insist that Mazer go to trial on Monday as scheduled.

"We have prepared a case for Ma-

2 DEAD, 4 HURT IN RAIL-CRASH

Pennsy Freight Trains Collide at Millersburg, Pa.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Nov. 5.—Two trainmen were killed and four others severely injured early today when two extra freight trains on the Pennsylvania railroad collided at Millersburg, 30 miles from here, according to reports to the Pennsylvania offices here.

The men killed were Paul T. Bailey, Lykens, Pa., an engineer, and Wilbur J. Sees, Sunbury, a brakeman.

According to reports, a local train on the Lykens branch of the Pennsylvania railroad ran onto the main line near Millersburg, and crashed head-on with a main line freight.

Majority of Sheriff George Wright, of Lisbon, Republican, over F. C. Armstrong, Elkton, his Democratic opponent, in Tuesday's balloting was increased to 1,125 votes in the official tabulation, completed by the Columbiana county board of deputy state supervisors of elections at Lisbon, last evening.

Although his name was not printed on the ballot, Attorney Harry Brokaw, of East Liverpool, received 669 ballots for prosecuting attorney, 443 of which were cast under the Democratic column and 226 on the Republican ticket. H. Brookhart, Columbiana, received 26 votes on the Democratic ticket for the same office to which Prosecutor Robert M. Brookes, of East Liverpool, was re-elected with a total vote of 10,328.

Conrad Berg, Democratic incumbent, cut the majority of J. Howard Sinclair, Republican, for county commissioner to 4,470 as compared to 5,184 given Sinclair in the semi-official vote. Changes were also made in the votes given the candidates for county treasurer, recorder, coroner, clerk of courts, state representative and state senator.

Congressman Frank Murphy, Republican, Steubenville, led the ticket in the county, polling 11,956 ballots. Frank Ballantine, Republican, unopposed for clerk of courts, was a close second with 11,902 Fred George, Republican, who was opposed by Dr. Joseph Williamson for county treasurer, polled 11,463 votes.

On the judicial ticket W. F. Lones was given a majority of 1,237 over Judge W. H. Spence, of Lisbon, runner-up in the three-cornered common pleas judgeship fight. Probate Judge Lodge Riddle, also of Lisbon, gained votes in this count but ran 1,473 behind the winner.

The proposed amendment to the primary law was rejected. 9,638 to 4,458.

The total vote in the county was 18,494, which is approximately 60 per cent of the poll in the presidential election two years ago, when the total vote exceeded the 30,000 mark.

Lead of Myers Y. Cooper, Republican nominee for governor, over A. V. Donahey, Democrat, was reduced from 3,223 given him in the semi-official count to 2,589 in the official canvass.

United States Senator Frank B. Willis also increased his lead over Atlee Pomerene, Democratic opponent, from 5,787 in the unofficial to 6,121 in the official count.

There was no change in the vote for the two leading candidates for lieutenant-governor and minor changes

DENVER.—Henry Kadish, Denver's patriarch of Jewry, is dead at the age of 108 years.

For many years a familiar figure on the streets of Denver, Kadish enjoyed good health up to within a week of his death, which was hastened by a fall that broke his right leg.

Born in Russia in 1818, the white haired, full bearded old man had experienced a fullsome life of sorrow and sadness, joy and achievement that ended amid comfortable circumstances and found him beloved by thousands of friends and neighbors in this city.

Kadish, in his early life, rose from private in the czar's army to the rank of general, and is believed to have been the only general in the Crimean war of Jewish birth.

A Presidential Nursery

In 1826 John Quincy Adams, President of the United States, started a tree nursery in the White House grounds. Many of the trees he planted including the famous Adam's elm, are still there.

He says in his diary: "I shall plant more for the public than for myself." One hundred years later, the American public enjoy the fruits of his worthy avocation.

All of us can plant, while we live, things that will grow and live after us. Every worthy seedling thought, idea and action has the prospect of immortality.

The store that would succeed in an impressive way must plant for the public as well as for itself. The progress of this store is only limited by its ability to serve the public interest sincerely and intelligently.

ENGLAND WINS CONGRESS RACE

Former Attorney General Noses Out Taylor in Sixth District.

Election of E. T. England, Republican and former attorney general of the state, as representative in the sixth congressional district, and of Walter S. Hallanan, Republican and former state tax commissioner, to the state senate in the eighth district was determined on close margins by tabulations yesterday that included rechecking of votes in the various counties and additions of precincts which had been listed as missing from previous tabulations.

This revision of returns showed England elected over Representative J. Alfred Taylor, Democratic incumbent, by a margin of 74 votes, and Hallanan elected by 47 votes over Clyde Beecher Johnson, Democratic incumbent, on complete returns from that district.

The voters of the state appeared to have decided against the property classification amendment to the state constitution, from indications on tabulation of slightly more than half the precincts, while the budget amendment, though not suffering as heavy an adverse vote, was holding only such a slight lead that it too was in danger of defeat when complete returns were available. In many election precincts officials having satisfied their interest as to the vote for county and other officers appeared to have let the vote on the amendments go untabulated and returns from this were reported slowly, with the probability that in some counties it would be impossible to learn the results before the official canvass next week.

When returns had been received tonight from 1,176 of the 2,264 precincts in the state the vote against the classification showed a 15,000 majority, while with one less precinct reporting on the budget amendment the lead in its favor was only a little over 1,200. The figures on these partial reports were: For the property classification amendment 65,704, against 81,446; for the budget amendment 70,742, against 69,454.

Kaiser Benito

Addressing his Fascisti at Bologna on the anniversary of the "march on Rome" by which he seized the government four years ago, Mussolini said:

"Every time I see the armed forces of the country in battle formation, in perfect union, in a fraternity of spirit, in common ideal, my first thought turns toward our king, Supreme Commander of all the forces on land, sea and in the air, and of the men in the militia.

"The people and army have given their full and enthusiastic support to the Fascist government. That means, all of the people are prepared to follow me everywhere.

"Black shirts! Put on your stirrups, raise high your rifles, so that the entire world can see that forest of bayonets and feel the pulsations of your determined and invincible hearts."

Hasn't that a familiar ring? Where have we heard such language before?

More "T. B." Among Girls

The New York Tuberculosis and Health association finds that, while tuberculosis is steadily declining among people generally, it is increasing alarmingly among girls.

The situation is good while the girls are under parental control. From the age of 10 to 15, only 67 per year die out of 100,000. Then in the "flapper age," from 15 to 20, they begin to get out of hand, and 237 of them die per 100,000. From 20 to 25 it is still worse, the rate mounting to 370.

Possibly some girls of the independent age period, reading these figures, may begin to suspect that their parents know more than the latter have been given credit for.

An officer of the association explains that the ravages of tuberculosis among grown girls is due to their quest of a "good time, pretty clothes and a slender figure," for the sake of which they sacrifice food and sleep.

Light Speeds Up

We're all been wrong, it seems, about the speed of light. All the books say that it travels 186,000 miles a second. But Prof. Albert A. Michelson, physicist of the University of Chicago, who with Prof. Morley many years ago performed the experiments on which Dr. Einstein based his theories, has been at it again with this result:

Light, he finds, as a matter of fact travels 188,300 miles a second.

"The public in time will benefit by this discovery," says another scientist. "It affects fundamentals of life."

Maybe so. All truth is probably worth while in same way or other. But as far as most of us are immediately concerned, we could have got along just as happily, if not more so, without that extra 2,300 miles in the speed of light. Things were moving pretty fast for us already.

This evidently means, among other things, that a "light year" is bigger than anyone has supposed because light travels farther in a year. So the stars whose distance is measured in such units are still further removed from us in illimitable space, and the universe is still bigger than any of the astronomers have represented it.

Now let them give us something slow and understandable to think about for a while.

Revival In Debating

Football is threatened with a rival. An American university reports that there were more men on its debating squad last year than on its football squad. And the debaters really seemed to arouse nearly as much interest as the athletes.

In addition to the intercollegiate debates in which the university team engaged, the squad divided up into several teams which debated among themselves before local audiences. Many thousand persons heard them discuss various questions at clubs, high schools and other places. Now the work is being pushed further.

This may not be an unmixed blessing. In some ways debating is certainly not preferable to football. It means argument, and there is too much argument in the country already. Nevertheless, students cannot very well engage in public debates without doing more or less reading and studying, which is a good thing in itself and something that college students should be encouraged in.

It is worth while, also, to acquire skill in presenting a subject clearly and thinking on one's feet, against a time when the speakers may really have something original that is worth saying.

The worst thing about cosmetics is that they're mostly used by girls who don't need 'em.

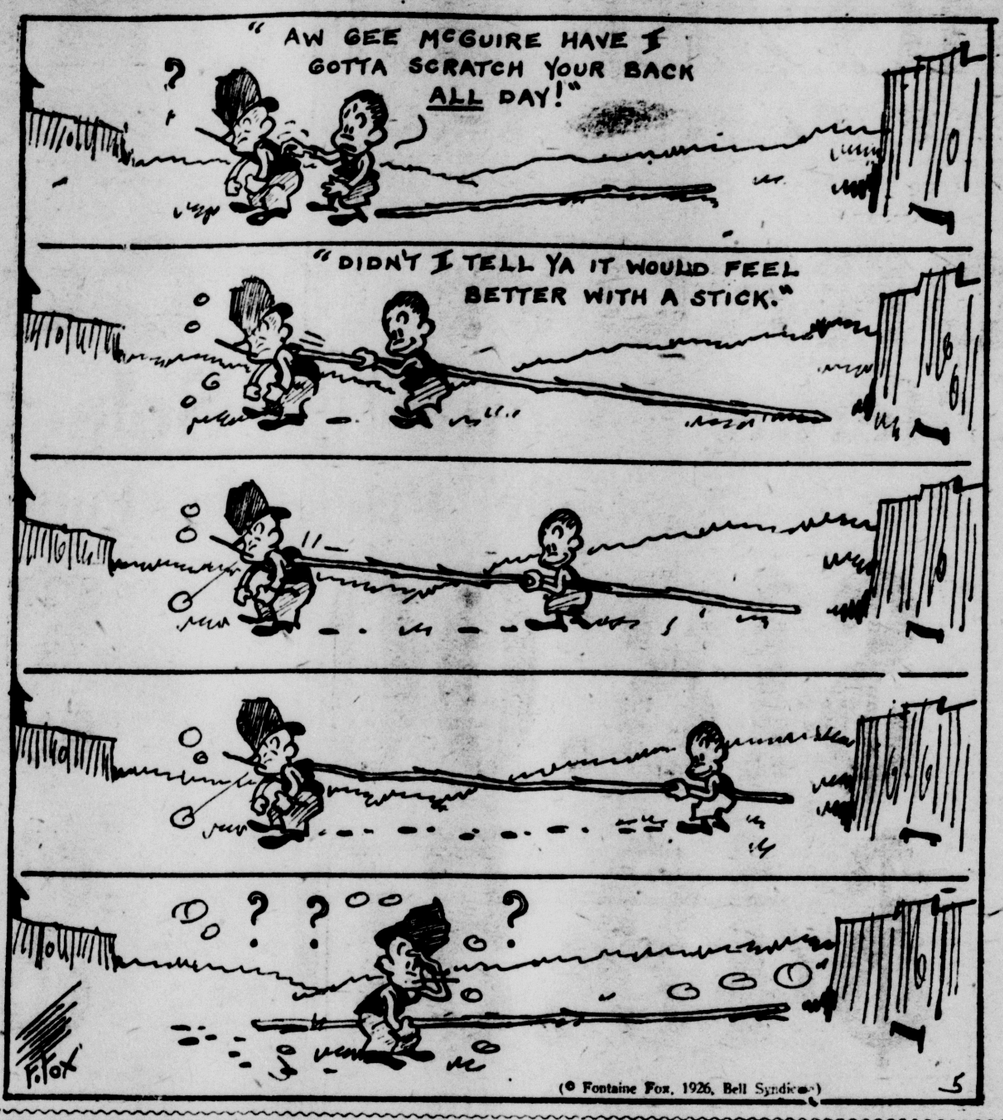
Mickey (Himself) McGuire— By Fontaine Fox



NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Thoughts while strolling: Still a few hatless men. Why do they call a million cool? The pudgy watchmen who sit around building construction. Max Steur, the criminal lawyer. And Foxhall Keene with a French bulldog.

That sullen, leaden gray in Manhattan skies. And the town seems aloof and lonely. Like a stranger dressed up with no place to go. Clubmen gather around the crackle of fire in the hearth. Listless ladies go crawling by in limousines. And a thin fog blows up from the sea.

A picket fence—a half mile from Broadway. Children who drag rag dolls along the sidewalk and stare. The odor of gas tanks. And the chug of boats in the river. Tobacconists who wear skull caps. And people who eat silently at kitchen tables.

Just a few blocks away the district called "The Gold Coast." Where servants are problems. And husbands bores. A humpty-dumpty world. Wonder why cats arch their backs before crossing a street? A milk and liver pony drawing a street carousel.

The incessant hubbub around Grand Central. Commuters who snatch newspapers. Porters who snatch grips. Gatemen who snatch tickets. And passengers who snatch kisses. A group of Arabs. Fat women stepping quickly from penny weighing machines

The gaudy lackeyes at the Biltmore entrances. A beggar who wheels himself lying flat on a stretcher. The most dangerous corner in town for pedestrians—42nd street and Madison avenue. Stores with arcade-like window displays. And there's my hotel.

Few are without a touch of snobbery. I frequently patronize one or the other of a chain of white tiled food emporiums. They are clean, well conducted places serving plain but excellent food. And yet I find myself walking up to them nonchalantly and suddenly darting in the door and pulling my hat over my eyes coming out. There is no possible reason save that a few actors, who eat at the Automat, often refer to these cafes in a jesting manner from the stage.

Then there are those mildewed cellar dives reached through dark hallways with uncovered tables moist and ringed from glasses where pickpockets, gunmen and touts gather. People go there in evening clothes because it is considered "smart."

Speaking of snobbery I am told of a man who came up from the East Side gutters to affluence and wealth. He married into a world he knew only vaguely. He recently notified relatives they were not to visit him without two days notice. In that time he is able to have his wife away. She, it seems, makes fun of them.

The Park Avenue Baptist church has 53 chime bells, the largest of which weighs ten tons. A Belgian was imported to ring the chimes just as he had for years in peaceful Flanders. He kept to his task for several Sundays and then, disturbed by the roar of the city, even on Sunday, decided this town was no place for his talents and went back to Flanders.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Crusading Against Illiteracy.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Americans who are given to boasting that their country is the best, biggest, richest and every other nice superlative in the world will do well to ponder occasionally the fact that there is an appalling amount of ignorance in the United States, and that in the matter of illiteracy this nation ranks tenth among the civilized nations of the world. That is something to be ashamed of rather than to brag about, and a number of public-spirited citizens feel the disgrace so keenly that they have organied a National Illiteracy Crusade.

An illiterate is a person ten years of age or older who can not read or write his own name in any language, and when the last census was taken there were 5,000,000 such in this country, ranging from 3149 in Wyoming to 425,022 in New York. Presumably, with the increase in population, there are more of them at the present time, although the percentage of illiteracy may show a slight decrease.

William Allen White, of Kansas, heads the National Illiteracy Crusade which has started a nation-wide drive with the slogan, "Wipe out illiteracy by 1930." Jane Adams and Glenn Frank are vice-presidents, and the board of directors includes a large number of men and women prominent in politics, public welfare work, literature, and art. Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart, of Kentucky, is the director in charge of the national headquarters, which have been established in the American Red Cross building in Washington.

The movement, which reaches into every state, is being carried forward by volunteer workers, many of whom not only give their time and efforts but pay their own expenses. However, textbooks and other supplies for the schools must be provided and there are other expenses to be met, hence a certain amount of funds must be raised. This is now being undertaken, although no public appeal is being made and the campaign does not resemble the drives that are made periodically to get subscriptions or cash for public welfare purposes.

Started in Monlight Schools.

The war on illiteracy, while it has but recently grown to such proportions as to attract general attention, is by no means a new thing. It really dates back some fifteen years to the beginning of what were known as "moonlight schools" in Kentucky. Teachers in the mountain districts of that state were only too well aware of the lamentable ignorance among the fathers, mothers, grandparents, and older brothers and sisters of their pupils, and they decided that it was up to them to do something about it. Night schools for the adults seemed the only possible solution of the problem.

Fifty of the teachers agreed to give the idea a trial and knowing that in that feud-ridden country it was a difficult matter to get anybody away from home after dark, they decided that the new schools should be held only on mmonlight nights. Then the mountaineers might be persuaded to venture forth.

The opening night came, with all the moonlight that had been promised by the calendar. The teachers had said that despite all the mouth to mouth advertising they had done through their younger pupils and the furore the idea had created throughout the mountains they would be satisfied if their new schols drew on an average three adults each, or 150 in all. Instead of 150, more than 1,200 men and women turned out that first night!

A photograph taken of one of those first moonlight schools is one of the most interesting exhibits in an educational line that has ever been brought to Washington. It shows the interior to Washington. It shows the cabin school house, in which the only furniture is a dozen or more crude benches. On one of the front benches are a husky young mountaineer and his strapping wife with a baby on her lap. They are holding a textbook between them. Back of them is a varied assortment of grown-ups, ranging up the years to patriarchs with long whiskers and one wrinkled and wizened old lady who was starting to school in her 86th year.

It was not long before the moonlight schools had spread all over Kentucky, county by county, and then the legislature created a state illiteracy commission for an organized fight on ignorance. Alabama was the next state to take up the work, and one after another the other states fell in to line, some of them in an official way, and others only through the work of interested citizens. Some of the states have adopted interesting campaign slogans, such as "Let South Carolina Secede From Illiteracy" and "Delaware, First to Sign the Constitution, and First to Wipe Out Illiteracy," and it is said that four states are already very close to the goal of no illiteracy.

How the Work is Carried On.

The methods used in local and state illiteracy campaigns are very much the same throughout the country. A community is canvassed thoroughly, illiterates are searched out and personally invited to the school, volunteer teachers are pledged, and then a strong efforts is made to create a public or community sentiment such that no one will hesitate to come to the school because he thinks an admission of his illiteracy is humiliating or disgraceful. The big idea that every effort is made to put over is that it's no disgrace to be illiterate if you've never had a chance at schooling, but it is a disgrace to continue to be an illiterate when an opportunity has been presented you to overcome that handicap.

Striking success has attended the schools, due to the eagerness and determined purpose of the pupils to make the most of their opportunity and because the teachers can concentrate on instruction, not having to pay any attention to questions of discipline or application. Also the textbooks are of a character to hold the interest of adults—they are not taught to read out of a "I-see-the goat" primer, but in one that tells them something bearing on their daily activities—and to learn to write they are not asked to make freehand spirals for hours at a time and then set to copying a line written in teacher's perfect Spencerian hand. They are furnished a pad, the first pages of which are heavy blotting paper in which the latters of the alphabet have been heavily indebted, and told to trace the letters over and over until they are familiar with them. By this system many men and women have learned to write their names in the course of half an hour, thus ending for all time the humiliation of having to make their marks when signing any kind of document. They learn to read and write in six weeks.

The national campaign against illiteracy is divided into three divisions. One confined to the instruction of rural illiterates, another to Indians, and the third to prison inmates.

That illiteracy in the United States can be absolutely wiped out by 1930 is admitted to be doubtful, but the leaders in the movement say it is not impossible of accomplishment, and that at any rate sufficient progress can be made to insure that the next Federal census will tell a far different story.

The Russian government has recently bought 8800,000 worth of cotton goods and jute bags at Lotz, Poland.

Kaiser Benito

Addressing his Fascisti at Bologna on the anniversary of the "march on Rome" by which he seized the government four years ago, Mussolini said:

"Every time I see the armed forces of the country in battle formation, in perfect union, in a fraternity of spirit, in common ideal, my first thought turns toward our king, Supreme Commander of all the forces on land, sea and in the air, and of the men in the militia.

"The people and army have given their full and enthusiastic support to the Fascist government. That means, all of the people are prepared to follow me everywhere.

"Black shirts! Put on your stirrups, raise high your rifles, so that the entire world can see that forest of bayonets and feel the pulsations of your determined and invincible hearts."

Hasn't that a familiar ring? Where have we heard such language before?

More "T. B." Among Girls

The New York Tuberculosis and Health association finds that, while tuberculosis is steadily declining among people generally, it is increasing alarmingly among girls.

The situation is good while the girls are under parental control. From the age of 10 to 15, only 67 per year die out of 100,000. Then in the "flapper age," from 15 to 20, they begin to get out of hand, and 237 of them die per 100,000. From 20 to 25 it is still worse, the rate mounting to 370.

Possibly some girls of the independent age period, reading these figures, may begin to suspect that their parents know more than the latter have been given credit for.

An officer of the association explains that the ravages of tuberculosis among grown girls is due to their quest of a "good time, pretty clothes and a slender figure," for the sake of which they sacrifice food and sleep.

Light Speeds Up

We're all been wrong, it seems, about the speed of light. All the books say that it travels 186,000 miles a second. But Prof. Albert A. Michelson, physicist of the University of Chicago, who with Prof. Morley many years ago performed the experiments on which Dr. Einstein based his theories, has been at it again with this result:

Light, he finds, as a matter of fact travels 188,300 miles a second.

"The public in time will benefit by this discovery," says another scientist. "It affects fundamentals of life."

Maybe so. All truth is probably worth while in same way or other. But as far as most of us are immediately concerned, we could have got along just as happily, if not more so, without that extra 2,300 miles in the speed of light. Things were moving pretty fast for us already.

This evidently means, among other things, that a "light year" is bigger than anyone has supposed because light travels farther in a year. So the stars whose distance is measured in such units are still further removed from us in illimitable space, and the universe is still bigger than any of the astronomers have represented it.

Now let them give us something slow and understandable to think about for a while.

Revival In Debating

Football is threatened with a rival. An American university reports that there were more men on its debating squad last year than on its football squad. And the debaters really seemed to arouse nearly as much interest as the athletes.

In addition to the intercollegiate debates in which the university team engaged, the squad divided up into several teams which debated among themselves before local audiences. Many thousand persons heard them discuss various questions at clubs, high schools and other places. Now the work is being pushed further.

This may not be an unmixed blessing. In some ways debating is certainly not preferable to football. It means argument, and there is too much argument in the country already. Nevertheless, students cannot very well engage in public debates without doing more or less reading and studying, which is a good thing in itself and something that college students should be encouraged in.

It is worth while, also, to acquire skill in presenting a subject clearly and thinking on one's feet, against a time when the speakers may really have something original that is worth saying.

The worst thing about cosmetics is that they're mostly used by girls who don't need 'em.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Thoughts while strolling: Still a few hatless men. Why do they call a million cool? The pudgy watchmen who sit around building construction. Max Steur, the criminal lawyer. And Foxhall Keene with a French bulldog.

That sullen, leaden gray in Manhattan skies. And the town seems aloof and lonely. Like a stranger dressed up with no place to go. Clubmen gather around the crackle of fire in the hearth. Listless ladies go crawling by in limousines. And a thin fog blows up from the sea.

A picket fence—a half mile from Broadway. Children who drag rag dolls along the sidewalk and stare. The odor of gas tanks. And the chug of boats in the river. Tobacconists who wear skull caps. And people who eat silently at kitchen tables.

Just a few blocks away the district called "The Gold Coast." Where servants are problems. And husbands bores. A humpty-dumpty world. Wonder why cats arch their backs before crossing a street? A milk and liver pony drawing a street carousel.

The incessant hubbub around Grand Central. Commuters who snatch newspapers. Porters who snatch grips. Gatemen who snatch tickets. And passengers who snatch kisses. A group of Arabs. Fat women stepping quickly from penny weighing machines

The gaudy lackeyes at the Biltmore entrances. A beggar who wheels himself lying flat on a stretcher. The most dangerous corner in town for pedestrians—42nd street and Madison avenue. Stores with arcade-like window displays. And there's my hotel.

Few are without a touch of snobbery. I frequently patronize one or the other of a chain of white tiled food emporiums. They are clean, well conducted places serving plain but excellent food. And yet I find myself walking up to them nonchalantly and suddenly darting in the door and pulling my hat over my eyes coming out. There is no possible reason save that a few actors, who eat at the Automat, often refer to these cafes in a jesting manner from the stage.

Then there are those mildewed cellar dives reached through dark hallways with uncovered tables moist and ringed from glasses where pickpockets, gunmen and touts gather. People go there in evening clothes because it is considered "smart."

Speaking of snobbery I am told of a man who came up from the East Side gutters to affluence and wealth. He married into a world he knew only vaguely. He recently notified relatives they were not to visit him without two days notice. In that time he is able to have his wife away. She, it seems, makes fun of them.

The Park Avenue Baptist church has 53 chime bells, the largest of which weighs ten tons. A Belgian was imported to ring the chimes just as he had for years in peaceful Flanders. He kept to his task for several Sundays and then, disturbed by the roar of the city, even on Sunday, decided this town was no place for his talents and went back to Flanders.

ZECH REGIME S TOTTERING; ENES TARGET

iscontent Grows, Masaryk's Re-election is Likely.

NO FASCIST FEAR

Movement for Dictator is Not Considered Strong.

WASHINGTON. — Growing discon-ent in Czechoslovakia with the Masaryk-Bene regime is assuming pro-portions of a powerful movement gainst the present government, Dr. 'erdinand Pelikan, editor of the Re-iew Ruch Filosoficky, of Prague, de-lared here today.

Pelikan is expected to return to Eu-ope soon with the word that thousands f Czechs in United States are largely n accord with the new turn of af-airs.

While President Masaryk's re-elec-ion next year is anticipated American Czechs insist that Edward Benes, the oreign minister must go.

"That the present regime is totter-ng to its fall is obvious to all observ-ers," Pelikan declared. "But it is equally obvious that a change will be brought about by democratic meth-ods."

Pelikan denied that there is any probability of a fascist coup d'etat and likewise he cast into the discard any idea that Czechoslovakia will come un-der the hand of a dictator.

"I can assert unqualifiedly that in the Italian sense of the term there is no fascism in Czechoslovakia," Peli-kan said.

Profound Discontent.

"What does exist is a profound dis-content with the present regime on the part of the masses who bore the struggle for independence and who re-sent the attempts of the present hold-ers of power to bring the Germans into the government, without real German reconciliation with the repub lic."

The German minority in Czecho slovakia was said to be imbued with the idea that the national state is being pushed into the background.

Pelikan also referred to opposition on the part of the masses to inter-national capital, termed very power-ful in the republic. This element was said not to have been "weaned away from its German.

"Much of the opposition to the pres-ent regime is out to the personal un-popularity of Dr. Benes, who actuated by presidential aspirations, has antag-onized most of his war time friends and is at logger heads with almost all the influential politicians of the coun-try," Pelikan declared.

Benes is maintained in office only through the influence of President Masaryk, according to Pelikan.

No Dictatorship.

"No one seriously advocates a dic tatorship," Pelikan continued. "No in-dividual is even distantly in sight, who could play the role successfully."

"General Gajda, whose name figured in dispatches from abroad recently, is not cast for the part, largely owing to his political inexperience. His sud-den and rather transient popularity was due to the fact that certain ele-ments had sought to falsely charge him with espionage on behalf of the Soviets, absurb enough when it is realized that Gajda led the Czech troops against the Bolsheviks in Si-beria in 1918 and 1919."

Apparently there are a series of movements in Czechoslovakia against the Benes regime, none of which as yet have produced a real leader. An effort is being made, it was learned, to crystalize these effforts under a single outstanding man, who would bring them to a successful conclusion.

ZECH REGIME S TOTTERING; ENES TARGET

iscontent Grows, Masaryk's Re-election is Likely.

NO FASCIST FEAR

Movement for Dictator is Not Considered Strong.

WASHINGTON. — Growing discon-ent in Czechoslovakia with the Masaryk-Bene regime is assuming pro-ortions of a powerful movement gainst the present government, Dr. 'erdinand Pelikan, editor of the Re-iew Ruch Filosoficky, of Prague, de-lared here today.

Pelikan is expected to return to Eu-ope soon with the word that thousands f Czechs in United States are largely n accord with the new turn of af-airs.

While President Masaryk's re-elec-ion next year is anticipated American zechs insist that Edward Benes, the oreign minister must go.

"That the present regime is totter-ng to its fall is obvious to all observ-ers," Pelikan declared. "But it is equally obvious that a change will be brought about by democratic meth-ods."

Pelikan denied that there is any probability of a fascist coup d'etat and likewise he cast into the discard any idea that Czechoslovakia will come un-der the hand of a dictator.

"I can assert unqualifiedly that in he Italian sense of the term there is no fascism in Czechoslovakia," Peli-kan said.

Profound Discontent.

"What does exist is a profound dis-content with the present regime on the part of the masses who bore the struggle for independence and who re-sent the attempts of the present hold-ers of power to bring the Germans into the government, without real German reconciliation with the repub lic."

The German minority in Czecho slovakia was said to be imbued with the idea that the national state is being pushed into the background.

Pelikan also referred to opposition on the part of the masses to inter-national capital, termed very power-ful in the republic. This element was said not to have been "weaned away from its German.

"Much of the opposition to the pres-ent regime is out to the personal un-popularity of Dr. Benes, who actuated by presidential aspirations, has antag-onized most of his war time friends and is at logger heads with almost all the influential politicians of the coun-try," Pelikan declared.

Benes is maintained in office only through the influence of President Masaryk, according to Pelikan.

No Dictatorship.

"No one seriously advocates a dic tatorship," Pelikan continued. "No in-dividual is even distantly in sight, who could play the role successfully."

"General Gajda, whose name figured in dispatches from abroad recently, is not cast for the part, largely owing to his political inexperience. His sud-den and rather transient popularity was due to the fact that certain ele-ments had sought to falsely charge him with espionage on behalf of the Soviets, absurb enough when it is realized that Gajda led the Czech troops against the Bolsheviks in Si-beria in 1918 and 1919."

Apparently there are a series of movements in Czechoslovakia against the Benes regime, none of which as yet have produced a real leader. An effort is being made, it was learned, to crystalize these effforts under a single outstanding man, who would bring them to a successful conclusion.

Birthday Anniversary Observed.

Honoring the seventeenth birthday anniversary of her son, Paul, and the fourteenth birthday anniversary of her daughter, Margaret, Mrs. Charles Rinestein entertained a group of friends at her home in Drury lane last evening. The home was decorated with pink and white chrysanthemums.

Games, music and dancing were the diversions. The Charleston was demonstrated by James Wilson.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Rinestein, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Clyde Smith. Covers were arranged for 35 guests.

Boy Scouts Meet

Boy Scouts of Troop No. 6, met last evening at 7:30 o'clock in the social room of the First Methodist Episcopal church. Arrangements were made for football games. Daniel H. Rupp, scoutmaster, presided.

Moose Dancing Party.

An informal dancing party will be held in the Loyal Order of Moose temple, East Fourth and Washington streets, at 8:30 o'clock tonight. Haney's Harmony Players will render the music.

AIR FREEDOM IS PROBLEM IN NEAR FUTURE

Radio Conference Will Draft World Regulations.

SPRING SESSION

Will Assign Wave Lengths to Various Nations.

WASHINGTON.—Future freedom of the air has taken its place as an important international problem.

American delegates to the world radio conference to be held in Washington next spring have drafted a complete set of regulations designed to meet the many complex questions growing out of increasing use of the radio.

Crowding the air, control of interference and assigning of wave lengths to be used both for radio-telegraph and for voice broadcasting are included in the program to be laid down.

The American representatives will propose that each nation assign wave lengths for voice broadcasting, issue licenses for international radio stations and thus prevent the chaos which has often threatened radio broadasting in the United States.

To Meet in May.

The radio conference to be held here is regarded as of especial importance, since it is the first to consider radio telegraph conditions since the London conference of 1912. It is called under a resolution of congress and probably will convene in Washington about May 1.

To prepare an American program for consideration an inter-departmental committee was created composed of seven representatives of the state, war, navy, commerce, postoffice and agricultural departments, and the U. S. Coast Guard and the U. S. Shipping Board, with Leland Harrison, assistant secretary of state as chairman.

After months of work the committee has drafted its recommendations, which will go to the International Radio Union at Berne, Switzerland, for distribution to the 42 nations to be represented at the parley here.

The American committee will propose that the old agreement which limited ships to wave lengths of 300, 450 and 600 meters be abolished and instead certain fixed wave lengths assigned for special services such as radio compass work. For general radio service the American policy will be that there should be a complete freedom of the air so long as the general radio service is not impeded.

Limiting Broadcasters.

Broadcasting stations would be allowed to take any wave lengths not prohibited by their own government regulations but should interference result the matter would become subject for international discussion.

The possibility of future limitation of voice broadcasting stations in international communication will be considered. United States experts contend that the radio-telephone "uses" several times the amount of ether required for the radiotelegraph. The latter, they hold, must be the chief means of international radio if there is vast development predicted by scientists.

How to provide secrecy for messages also will be taken up at the conference. Revision of the international code of signals will be considered upon the report of delegates from Great Britain, who were assigned the task of reviewing the International Signal Book.

Constipation is the bane of health. Over forty diseases may be traced to it. It fills the system with vile poisons and saps strength. You can't afford to ignore its warning signals. Dizziness, bad breath, spots before the eyes, are just a few of the symptoms.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve constipation or your grocer will refund the money. A delicious cereal, ready to serve. Fine with milk or fruit. Use in cooking too.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is made by Kellogg in Battle Creek, Michigan, and sold by grocers everywhere. Served at leading hotels and restaurants.

LOS ANGELES WOMAN PASTOR TO FACE JURY

McPherson Trial Will be Delayed Until January.

JUDGE GUARDED

Threatening Telephone Calls Follow Court Ruling.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 5.—Although the defense in the Aimee McPherson case admitted its desire for a speedy trial, District Attorney Keyes declared today the noted evangelist probably would not be brought to court again before the first of January.

W. I. Gilbert, chief defense counsel, denied reports that a request for a change of venue to an outside county seat was being considered.

Armed guards patrolled today the vicinity of the home of Municipal Judge Samuel Blake, before whom the preliminary hearing was held, after the jurist reported to police that several threatening telephone calls had been received after Judge Blake ordered Mrs. McPherson held for trial.

If the evangelist is tried in Los Angeles, there are only three judges before whom she might appear, as two—Judges Carlos S. Hardy and Arthur Keetch, have disqualified themselves. Judge Hardy is an intimate friend of the Angelus temple pastor and was a witness at her preliminary hearing. Judge Keetch was in charge of the grand jury which heard her tale of a Mexican kidnaping.

Amended Complaint.

The district attorney's office today drew up an amended complaint against the pastor and her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy. Three counts, it was said will be specified:

1.—Conspiracy to suborn perjury.

2.—Conspiracy to manufacture false evidence.

3.—Conspiracy to pervert and to obstruct justice.

The proprietor of a cleaning shop at Carmel—by-the-sea was called to Los Angeles by District Attorney Keyes in an effort to identify the customer whose laundry symbols were found on towels and clothing in the trunk. According to the prosecution, Mrs. McPherson spent ten days in a lonely cottage at Carmel with Ormiston while thousands of her followers mourned her death by drowning.

ERNST GAINS ON BARKLEY

Republican Senator Claims Victory in Kentucky.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 5.—Senator Ernst, Republican, was rapidly cutting down the lead piled up by Alvin W. Barkley, Democrat, in the senatorial race as incomplete returns from 109 out of 120 counties were tabulated today.

Barkley led by 1,200 votes but Ernst's managers, refusing to concede the election, claimed when all returns were in Ernst would have a majority of from 2,500 to 3,000. Mountain counties yet unheard from are regarded as heavily Republican.

Incomplete returns indicated the election of Mrs. John W. Langley over her Republican opponent, Doug Hays, by approximately 4,500. Her victory is regarded as a vindication of her husband, John W. Langley, now serving a two-year sentence at Atlanta penitentiary for conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws.

WE noble white westerners are different from the Japanese. For instance, the event that excites us is a great prize fight. The Japanese get excited about their marvelous chrysanthemum show.

Japanese sympathize with their empress just now, because her husband's illness keeps her from the show. We, generally speaking, think ourselves more civilized than Japan. The Japanese reject that theory.

A THIRD chamber of King Tut's tomb (everybody calls him Tut now), just opened, reveals 15 boats of the sort designed to carry the pharoah's soul from earth to heaven.

It would be hard to set sail from our earth dock now. We know that it is round, pointing in all directions, and it's hard to steer from a whirling dock. Besides, perfectly respectable men, even clergymen, now doubt that the soul is a reality. It must have been a comfort to believe, as ancient rulers did, that God was their cousin, and expecting them to come and spend an eternity.

London Youth Admits He Killed His Grandmother, 75.

LONDON, O., Nov. 5.—Paul Weese, 21, confessed slayer of his grandmother, Mrs. Flora Rickard, 75, today stood declared insane and was awaiting transfer from the county jail here to the Lima state hospital for the criminal insane.

Weese admitted the murder, declaring "everyone told me to do it."

He had been raised from infancy by his grandmother, his mother having died 20 years ago.

Mrs. Rickard was stabbed 30 times with a kitchen knife.

County Chairman's Statement.

County Auditor Elmer E. Walker, chairman of the county Republican executive committee, today issued the following statement:

"In reviewing the work of the campaign just closed, I feel that as chairman of the county Republican central committee, I have no cause for regret. I feel that my own part of the work was small, but I certainly had the loyal support of the 105 men and 105 women that composed the committees.

"Through their combined efforts, we were able to increase the majority given the head of the Republican ticket in 1924 by more than 3,000 votes.

"Republican candidates on the district, county and judicial tickets were elected to office. We grant that the candidates themselves were largely responsible for the result, but the untiring work of the members of the committee aided very materially in getting out the vote and increasing the majorities.

"I want to thank the men and women that compose the committee, and I wish to especially emphasize the work of the Republican women. Without their aid the same results would not have been obtained.

"Each Republican candidate has expressed a desire to join me in an expression of thankfulness to all voters who supported them in the contest just closed."

Widower Testifies

He testified he went to the church on the morning of Sept. 15, 1922 the morning after his wife and Dr. Hall were slain in De Russey's lane. He said, under questioning, that he saw a newspaper clipping on the pastor's desk. He identified a photographic copy of the clipping. One of the clippings carried this headline:

"Attack Is Begun Against Episcopal Canon Divorce."

Tells of Night of Murder.

Simpson asked Mills if he saw his wife on the night of the murder.

"Yes," said Mills, "when I got home from work—about 6:15."

"What time did your wife leave?"

"Seven thirty."

"Was that the last time you saw her?"

In a low voice that penetrated all parts of the impressively silent court room, Mills answered:

"Yes, it was the last time."

After his wife left, Mills said, he worked around the house, staying up until 11 o'clock waiting for her to come home. He said he looked for her in the church at 11:05 o'clock.

(It has been variously estimated that the murder of Dr. Hall and Mrs. Mills took place between 9:10 that night and 11 o'clock.)

Then, Mills testified, he went home and went to sleep. At 2:30 a. m. he awoke, he said, and asked his daughter, Charlotte, if his wife had come home.

"I got up and went to the church and lighted it. I looked in all the pews to see if my wife was there. I thought she might have fainted, she had had fainting spells. Then I went home."

Dramatic Point of Trial.

Mill's appearance on the stand was the most dramatic point of the trial so far. There wasn't a sound in the court room as the nervous little ex-janitor of Rev. Hall's church told of the events that took place the fatal night.

Mrs. Hall's pale face remained expressionless as the witness told of meeting her the next day. He saw her on the morning of September 15 at between 8:30 and 9:00 in the study of her husband's church, of St. John, the Evangelist, at New Brunswick.

"What did she say?" Prosecutor Simpson asked in his sharp voice.

"She said: "Did you have any sickness? Mr. Hall did not come home all night.' I said neither did my wife. Then it popped into my mind and I suddenly said:

" 'Maybe they've eloped.' ".

"Mrs. Hall said: 'I know they're dead or they would come home' ".

Mrs. Hall, sitting very still, looked at the witness without changing the expression of her face the slightest, although she was very pale.

May Adjourn Case.

With the important matter of obtaining the testimony of Mrs. Jane Gibson, the state's star witness who is seriously ill in Somerset county, held in abeyance awaiting developments in her condition, the prosecution went ahead with its case.

It was learned on high authority that the court will not go to the hospital for the "pig woman's" testimony.

If, however, Prosecutor Simpson requests it, court may adjourn for a few days to await her recovery, since her testimony is considered more important than that of other witnesses.

Photographer on Stand.

As soon as court was re-convened Isaac Vanderveer, a photographer, who made pictures of the murder scene, was called to the stand. He is a tall, slightly bald man who talks in a quiet, subdued manner. He identified pictures of the scene that he had taken.

Defense Counsel Clarence E. Case protested against the admission of one photograph, because, he said, the picture which was taken this year, did not show the view that would have been obtained had it been taken four years ago.

The crabapple tree, for instance, wasn't there.

The spot where the tree stood was marked by an arrow. Sightseers long since had torn down the tree beneath which Dr. Hall and Mrs. Mills were found shot to death on the night of Sept. 14, 1922.

"The whole face of things has changed there in four years," Case said.

The picture was finally admitted into evidence.

Mrs. Hall seemed listless and tired Willie, however, was animation personified. He craned his neck time and again to get a good look at the enlarged photographs.

Jail Warden Testifies.

James Major, warden of the Somerset county jail at the time the crime was committed, was the next witness.

Major identified exhibits taken from the bodies of the slain couple. He said that he turned over the articles to Francis R. Bergen, the prosecuting attorney. In reading a list of articles he turned over to Bergen, he mentioned a "handkerchief taken from Mrs. Hall" as being among them.

Then Capt. John J. Lamb, of the New Jersey state police was called.

"Did you ever turn over to Inspector John Underwood a handkerchief taken from the pocket of Mrs. Hall?" Simpson asked.

Attorney Case was on his feet.

"I will change it then," said Simpson.

"Did you ever turn over a handkerchief said to have been taken from the pocket of Mrs. Hall?"

State Trooper Awaits Call.

When Lamb was excused from the stand, Senator Simpson looked around for a witness he wanted, failed to find him and abruptly walked out of the court to find him. The judge announced a recess.

Henry L. Dickman, former state trooper, who is reported to have said he was bribed to leave New Jersey after he made an exhaustive investigation of the crime four years ago, was brought to the court house this morning.

Merchants Mail Letters Here For Armistice Silence

The Retail Merchants' division of the Chamber of Commerce has sent out letters to all members outlining arrangements for the period of silence which will be observed in all the stores on Armistice Day, in honor of the soldier dead.

Business will be suspended for a two-minute period at 11 o'clock, while clerks stand at attention. Factory whistles will be blown and church bells rung during the five-minute period preceeding the Armistice hour.

Merchants have been asked to display the American flag in the sidewalk sockets and decorate their stores in the national colors for the day.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Speculative interest returned to the railroad stocks in the early trading on the stock exchange today. Fractional opening gains were extended to two points or more in a few of the outstanding stocks in this group, while more than the usual activity was noted in the so-called speculative rails like New Haven, Missouri Pacific, Chicago and East Illinois and the Erie.

Two Persons Hurt When Three Autos Figure in Crash

Two persons were slightly injured and another escaped unhurt in a collision in which three automobiles figured on Pennsylvania avenue near the clay bank at 6 o'clock last evening. Two of the cars were badly damaged.

The accident occurred when "Whitey" Allen, of Wellsville, driving a sedan, going west, and Edward Arnold, of this city, driving a touring car, traveling west, sideswiped. Alfred Gleockner, Blakely street, driving a coupe, crashed into the rear end of the Arnold automobile.

Allen and Gleockner were cut and scratched by broken glass but Arnold was unhurt. The Allen and Gleockner machines were removed by the McElravy wrecker. Arnold's car was driven away under its own power.

Captain Mason Conley investigated the accident.

zer. The special venire has been drawn and we believe that Mazer who has been in jail, more than two months, should be granted an opportunity to face a jury as soon as possible," Mills said.

The prosecutor in open court has said that he had a much stronger case against McDermott than the others of the three indicted and that he desired to have McDermott's case tried first.

If the judge sustains McClintock's request for trial transfer, the sheriff will be instructed today to draw a special venire of 75 prospective jurors, as the prosecutor stated he hoped to go on trial on McDermott within two weeks.

'REGENERATION' DISCUSSED BY DR. MEL MORRIS

Points Out Spiritual Birthmarks of New Born.

SPECIAL MUSIC

Evangelist Speaks to Large Crowd at Baptist Church.

With compelling logic and consummate skill that carried conviction throughout his concourse of hearers, Rev. Mel Morris, magnetic Maryland evangelist, speaking on "Regeneration" at the First Baptist church revival last evening unqualifiedly pointed out the scriptural birthmarks that characterized the new born soul into the kingdom of God.

"If you believe that Jesus Christ was and is the Son of God; if you love, genuinely, your brethren; if you know you are saved; if you want and do the things of the Almighty; if you can overcome worldliness and if you do not deliberately sin, then you can be assured that you have entered the real of spiritual attainment that guarantees salvation," the evangelist explained. "If you are without this zone then yours is a lost soul."

Folowing a lively musical service which was featured by a duet, "Nearer, Still Nearer," by Marion Ball, musical director, and Miss Ruby Aley, revival accompanist, and the invocation by Rev. A. H. O'Brien, pastor of the church, Rev. Mr. Morris averred that short sermons were not in his repertoire. "You will have to go elsewhere for sermonettes," he said. "When I am hungry, I want a full meal. Likewise I wish to put all I can into the spiritual menu so that the sinner may have all possible done for him." He announced that his subject for Friday evening would be: "The Second Coming of Christ,' with emphasis being stressed on the world's last prayer meeting.

School Deficit

standing on December 31, 1925. This measure does not apply to the deficit this year.

The 2.3 mill levy approved by the voters last Tuesday will solve the financial dilemma after January 1, board members say. The levy is intended to meet interest charges and bond payments, leaving other revenue for operating expenses.

The board approved the recommendations of Superintendent C. S. McVay that Miss Hazel Minnix, teacher in the elementary schools, be engaged as coach of the high school girls' basketball team. She will also have charge of grade school girls who will practice in the high school gymnasium on Saturday. William Cox, director of physical education, will supervise the training of elementary boys in the high school.

Armistice Day Plans.

Charles Logan, commander of Private Eddy post, No. 66, Veterans of Foreign Wars, asked the co-operation of the schools in the community Armistice Day celebration here next Thursday. The board endorsed Logan's plan.

The high school, Central, Sixth street and Third street students will be dismissed at 10:30 a. m. on Armistice Day in order to take part in the parade, which will disband in front of the Carnegie Library where the exercises will be conducted. Superintendent McVay was instructed to negotiate with Ralph Johnson, leader of the high school band, with a view of having the band lead the parade. Should adverse weather conditions prevail, school children will not be dismissed for the parade or exercises.

Mrs. George O. Thurn Closes Free Cooking School Here

Another Large Crowd Packs Eagles' Temple to Hear Review-Tribune Lecturer.

The final day of the Review-Tribune cooking school teemed with interest. Crowds packed the Eagles' temple this afternoon and the last talk of Mrs. George Thurn on the high art of modern home keeping and the bidding farewell to the women of East Liverpool was a scene of enthusiasm and satisfaction never before witnessed here.

There were many gifts of value presented to the fortunate ones. The delicious food prepared by Mrs. Thurn was given away while different merchants distributed their products. No one went home empty handed, even the less fortunate carried excellent printed recipes of the dishes they had seen cooked. They also carried with them a knowledge of methods and news ways of running the house and the kitchen.

At the close of the session, the lecturer was besieged with women anxious to learn when she would return. They also piled her with final questions and wrote the answers on pads.

Mrs. Thurn voiced her thorough appreciation of the cooperation shown by everyone in East Liverpool in making the cooking school the successful event that it has been.

The following were awarded market bags yesterday:

Mesdames Charles Applegate, Orchard Grove avenue; J. C. Hamilton, New Cumberland, R. F. D. No. 4; D. Higgins, Klondyke; Albert Evans, 1044 St. Clair avenue, and E. C. Leeson, 312 East Third street, and Miss Hazlett, 118 W. Sixth street. A bouquet of flowers was presented to Mrs. C. S. McVay, 311 Thompson avenue.

LOS ANGELES WOMAN PASTOR TO FACE JURY

McPherson Trial Will be Delayed Until January.

JUDGE GUARDED

Threatening Telephone Calls Follow Court Ruling.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 5.—Although the defense in the Aimee McPherson case admitted its desire for a speedy trial, District Attorney Keyes declared today the noted evangelist probably would not be brought to court again before the first of January.

W. I. Gilbert, chief defense counsel, denied reports that a request for a change of venue to an outside county seat was being considered.

Armed guards patrolled today the vicinity of the home of Municipal Judge Samuel Blake, before whom the preliminary hearing was held, after the jurist reported to police that several threatening telephone calls had been received after Judge Blake ordered Mrs. McPherson held for trial.

If the evangelist is tried in Los Angeles, there are only three judges before whom she might appear, as two—Judges Carlos S. Hardy and Arthur Keetch, have disqualified themselves. Judge Hardy is an intimate friend of the Angelus temple pastor and was a witness at her preliminary hearing. Judge Keetch was in charge of the grand jury which heard her tale of a Mexican kidnaping.

Amended Complaint.

The district attorney's office today drew up an amended complaint against the pastor and her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy. Three counts, it was said will be specified:

1.—Conspiracy to suborn perjury.

2.—Conspiracy to manufacture false evidence.

3.—Conspiracy to pervert and to obstruct justice.

The proprietor of a cleaning shop at Carmel—by-the-sea was called to Los Angeles by District Attorney Keyes in an effort to identify the customer whose laundry symbols were found on towels and clothing in the trunk. According to the prosecution, Mrs. McPherson spent ten days in a lonely cottage at Carmel with Ormiston while thousands of her followers mourned her death by drowning.

ERNST GAINS ON BARKLEY

Republican Senator Claims Victory in Kentucky.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 5.—Senator Ernst, Republican, was rapidly cutting down the lead piled up by Alvin W. Barkley, Democrat, in the senatorial race as incomplete returns from 109 out of 120 counties were tabulated today.

Barkley led by 1,200 votes but Ernst's managers, refusing to concede the election, claimed when all returns were in Ernst would have a majority of from 2,500 to 3,000. Mountain counties yet unheard from are regarded as heavily Republican.

Incomplete returns indicated the election of Mrs. John W. Langley over her Republican opponent, Doug Hays, by approximately 4,500. Her victory is regarded as a vindication of her husband, John W. Langley, now serving a two-year sentence at Atlanta penitentiary for conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws.

Besides, perfectly respectable men, even clergymen, now doubt that the soul is a reality. It must have been a comfort to believe, as ancient rulers did, that God was their cousin, and expecting them to come and spend an eternity.

London Youth Admits He Killed His Grandmother, 75.

LONDON, O., Nov. 5.—Paul Weese, 21, confessed slayer of his grandmother, Mrs. Flora Rickard, 75, today stood declared insane and was awaiting transfer from the county jail here to the Lima state hospital for the criminal insane.

Weese admitted the murder, declaring "everyone told me to do it."

He had been raised from infancy by his grandmother, his mother having died 20 years ago.

Mrs. Rickard was stabbed 30 times with a kitchen knife.

County Chairman's Statement.

County Auditor Elmer E. Walker, chairman of the county Republican executive committee, today issued the following statement:

"In reviewing the work of the campaign just closed, I feel that as chairman of the county Republican central committee, I have no cause for regret. I feel that my own part of the work was small, but I certainly had the loyal support of the 105 men and 105 women that composed the committees.

"Through their combined efforts, we were able to increase the majority given the head of the Republican ticket in 1924 by more than 3,000 votes.

"Republican candidates on the district, county and judicial tickets were elected to office. We grant that the candidates themselves were largely responsible for the result, but the untiring work of the members of the committee aided very materially in getting out the vote and increasing the majorities.

"I want to thank the men and women that compose the committee, and I wish to especially emphasize the work of the Republican women. Without their aid the same results would not have been obtained.

"Each Republican candidate has expressed a desire to join me in an expression of thankfulness to all voters who supported them in the contest just closed."

He testified he went to the church on the morning of Sept. 15, 1922 the morning after his wife and Dr. Hall were slain in De Russey's lane. He said, under questioning, that he saw a newspaper clipping on the pastor's desk. He identified a photographic copy of the clipping. One of the clippings carried this headline:

"Attack Is Begun Against Episcopal Canon Divorce."

Tells of Night of Murder.

Simpson asked Mills if he saw his wife on the night of the murder.

"Yes," said Mills, "when I got home from work—about 6:15."

"What time did your wife leave?"

"Seven thirty."

"Was that the last time you saw her?"

In a low voice that penetrated all parts of the impressively silent court room, Mills answered:

"Yes, it was the last time."

After his wife left, Mills said, he worked around the house, staying up until 11 o'clock waiting for her to come home. He said he looked for her in the church at 11:05 o'clock.

(It has been variously estimated that the murder of Dr. Hall and Mrs. Mills took place between 9:10 that night and 11 o'clock.)

Then, Mills testified, he went home and went to sleep. At 2:30 a. m. he awoke, he said, and asked his daughter, Charlotte, if his wife had come home.

"I got up and went to the church and lighted it. I looked in all the pews to see if my wife was there. I thought she might have fainted, she had had fainting spells. Then I went home."

Dramatic Point of Trial.

Mill's appearance on the stand was the most dramatic point of the trial so far. There wasn't a sound in the court room as the nervous little ex-janitor of Rev. Hall's church told of the events that took place the fatal night.

Mrs. Hall's pale face remained expressionless as the witness told of meeting her the next day. He saw her on the morning of September 15 at between 8:30 and 9:00 in the study of her husband's church, of St. John, the Evangelist, at New Brunswick.

"What did she say?" Prosecutor Simpson asked in his sharp voice.

"She said: "Did you have any sickness? Mr. Hall did not come home all night.' I said neither did my wife. Then it popped into my mind and I suddenly said:

" 'Maybe they've eloped.' ".

"Mrs. Hall said: 'I know they're dead or they would come home' ".

Mrs. Hall, sitting very still, looked at the witness without changing the expression of her face the slightest, although she was very pale.

May Adjourn Case.

With the important matter of obtaining the testimony of Mrs. Jane Gibson, the state's star witness who is seriously ill in Somerset county, held in abeyance awaiting developments in her condition, the prosecution went ahead with its case.

It was learned on high authority that the court will not go to the hospital for the "pig woman's" testimony.

If, however, Prosecutor Simpson requests it, court may adjourn for a few days to await her recovery, since her testimony is considered more important than that of other witnesses.

Photographer on Stand.

As soon as court was re-convened Isaac Vanderveer, a photographer, who made pictures of the murder scene, was called to the stand. He is a tall, slightly bald man who talks in a quiet, subdued manner. He identified pictures of the scene that he had taken.

Defense Counsel Clarence E. Case protested against the admission of one photograph, because, he said, the picture which was taken this year, did not show the view that would have been obtained had it been taken four years ago.

The crabapple tree, for instance, wasn't there.

The spot where the tree stood was marked by an arrow. Sightseers long since had torn down the tree beneath which Dr. Hall and Mrs. Mills were found shot to death on the night of Sept. 14, 1922.

"The whole face of things has changed there in four years," Case said.

The picture was finally admitted into evidence.

Mrs. Hall seemed listless and tired Willie, however, was animation personified. He craned his neck time and again to get a good look at the enlarged photographs.

Henry Stevens looked on grimly.

Jail Warden Testifies.

James Major, warden of the Somerset county jail at the time the crime was committed, was the next witness.

Major identified exhibits taken from the bodies of the slain couple. He said that he turned over the articles to Francis R. Bergen, the prosecuting attorney. In reading a list of articles he turned over to Bergen, he mentioned a "handkerchief taken from Mrs. Hall" as being among them.

Then Capt. John J. Lamb, of the New Jersey state police was called.

"Did you ever turn over to Inspector John Underwood a handkerchief taken from the pocket of Mrs. Hall?" Simpson asked.

Attorney Case was on his feet.

"I will change it then," said Simpson.

"Did you ever turn over a handkerchief said to have been taken from the pocket of Mrs. Hall?"

State Trooper Awaits Call.

When Lamb was excused from the stand, Senator Simpson looked around for a witness he wanted, failed to find him and abruptly walked out of the court to find him. The judge announced a recess.

Henry L. Dickman, former state trooper, who is reported to have said he was bribed to leave New Jersey after he made an exhaustive investigation of the crime four years ago, was brought to the court house this morning.

Truck Kills Child.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 5.—Funeral arrangements for Robert Crellin, 8, who was crushed to death under the wheels of a heavy truck here late yesterday, were being made today.

Merchants Mail Letters Here For Armistice Silence

The Retail Merchants' division of the Chamber of Commerce has sent out letters to all members outlining arrangements for the period of silence which will be observed in all the stores on Armistice Day, in honor of the soldier dead.

Business will be suspended for a two-minute period at 11 o'clock, while clerks stand at attention. Factory whistles will be blown and church bells rung during the five-minute period preceeding the Armistice hour.

Merchants have been asked to display the American flag in the sidewalk sockets and decorate their stores in the national colors for the day.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Speculative interest returned to the railroad stocks in the early trading on the stock exchange today. Fractional opening gains were extended to two points or more in a few of the outstanding stocks in this group, while more than the usual activity was noted in the so-called speculative rails like New Haven, Missouri Pacific, Chicago and East Illinois and the Erie.s.

Two Persons Hurt When Three Autos Figure in Crash

Two persons were slightly injured and another escaped unhurt in a collision in which three automobiles figured on Pennsylvania avenue near the clay bank at 6 o'clock last evening. Two of the cars were badly damaged.

The accident occurred when "Whitey" Allen, of Wellsville, driving a sedan, going west, and Edward Arnold, of this city, driving a touring car, traveling west, sideswiped. Alfred Gleockner, Blakely street, driving a coupe, crashed into the rear end of the Arnold automobile.

Allen and Gleockner were cut and scratched by broken glass but Arnold was unhurt. The Allen and Gleockner machines were removed by the McElravy wrecker. Arnold's car was driven away under its own power.

Captain Mason Conley investigated the accident.

Slater Resumes Quiz

zer. The special venire has been drawn and we believe that Mazer who has been in jail, more than two months, should be granted an opportunity to face a jury as soon as possible," Mills said.

The prosecutor in open court has said that he had a much stronger case against McDermott than the others of the three indicted and that he desired to have McDermott's case tried first.

If the judge sustains McClintock's request for trial transfer, the sheriff will be instructed today to draw a special venire of 75 prospective jurors, as the prosecutor stated he honed to go on trial on McDermott within two weeks.

'REGENERATION' DISCUSSED BY DR. MEL MORRIS

Points Out Spiritual Birthmarks of New Born.

SPECIAL MUSIC

Evangelist Speaks to Large Crowd at Baptist Church.

With compelling logic and consummate skill that carried conviction throughout his concourse of hearers, Rev. Mel Morris, magnetic Maryland evangelist, speaking on "Regeneration" at the First Baptist church revival last evening unqualifiedly pointed out the scriptural birthmarks that characterized the new born soul into the kingdom of God.

"If you believe that Jesus Christ was and is the Son of God; if you love, genuinely, your brethren; if you know you are saved; if you want and do the things of the Almighty; if you can overcome worldliness and if you do not deliberately sin, then you can be assured that you have entered the real of spiritual attainment that guarantees salvation," the evangelist explained. "If you are without this zone then yours is a lost soul."

Folowing a lively musical service which was featured by a duet, "Nearer, Still Nearer," by Marion Ball, musical director, and Miss Ruby Aley, revival accompanist, and the invocation by Rev. A. H. O'Brien, pastor of the church, Rev. Mr. Morris averred that short sermons were not in his repertoire. "You will have to go elsewhere for sermonettes," he said. "When I am hungry, I want a full meal. Likewise I wish to put all I can into the spiritual menu so that the sinner may have all possible done for him." He announced that his subject for Friday evening would be: "The Second Coming of Christ,' with emphasis being stressed on the world's last prayer meeting.

standing on December 31, 1925. This measure does not apply to the deficit this year.

The 2.3 mill levy approved by the voters last Tuesday will solve the financial dilemma after January 1, board members say. The levy is intended to meet interest charges and bond payments, leaving other revenue for operating expenses.

The board approved the recommendations of Superintendent C. S. McVay that Miss Hazel Minnix, teacher in the elementary schools, be engaged as coach of the high school girls' basketball team. She will also have charge of grade school girls who will practice in the high school gymnasium on Saturday. William Cox, director of physical education, will supervise the training of elementary boys in the high school.

Armistice Day Plans.

Charles Logan, commander of Private Eddy post, No. 66, Veterans of Foreign Wars, asked the co-operation of the schools in the community Armistice Day celebration here next Thursday. The board endorsed Logan's plan.

The high school, Central, Sixth street and Third street students will be dismissed at 10:30 a. m. on Armistice Day in order to take part in the parade, which will disband in front of the Carnegie Library where the exercises will be conducted. Superintendent McVay was instructed to negotiate with Ralph Johnson, leader of the high school band, with a view of having the band lead the parade. Should adverse weather conditions prevail, school children will not be dismissed for the parade or exercises.

Mrs. George O. Thurn Closes Free Cooking School Here

The final day of the Review-Tribune cooking school teemed with interest. Crowds packed the Eagles' temple this afternoon and the last talk of Mrs. George Thurn on the high art of modern home keeping and the bidding farewell to the women of East Liverpool was a scene of enthusiasm and satisfaction never before witnessed here.

There were many gifts of value presented to the fortunate ones. The delicious food prepared by Mrs. Thurn was given away while different merchants distributed their products. No one went home empty handed, even the less fortunate carried excellent printed recipes of the dishes they had seen cooked. They also carried with them a knowledge of methods and news ways of running the house and the kitchen.

At the close of the session, the lecturer was besieged with women anxious to learn when she would return. They also piled her with final questions and wrote the answers on pads.

Mrs. Thurn voiced her thorough appreciation of the cooperation shown by everyone in East Liverpool in making the cooking school the successful event that it has been.

The following were awarded market bags yesterday:

Mesdames Charles Applegate, Orchard Grove avenue; J. C. Hamilton, New Cumberland, R. F. D. No. 4; D. Higgins, Klondyke; Albert Evans, 1044 St. Clair avenue, and E. C. Leeson, 312 East Third street, and Miss Hazlett, 118 W. Sixth street. A bouquet of flowers was presented to Mrs. C. S. McVay, 311 Thompson avenue.

MARINE CORPS CAPTAIN OUSTED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Captain P. T. Cripts, stationed at San Diego, today was dismissed from the marine corps. He must serve a ten-year sentence following a recent court martial conviction.

The performance of Balkite "B" has yet to be equalled

The first Balkite "B" purchased by a radio set owner nearly four years ago, is still rendering satisfactory service. It will continue to do so for years to come, for it has no tubes nor anything to replace. Since that time over 75,000 Balkite "B"s all based on the same principle as the first, have been purchased. Of these, to our knowledge, not one has ever worn out. This record has yet to be equalled by any other "B" device. To be as good as Balkite "B," a "B" power device cannot be an experiment. It must have stood the test of time.

Balkite "B" is offered in three models to serve any set: Balkite "B"-W for sets of 5 tubes or less requiring 67 to 90 volts—$27.50. Balkite "B"-X for sets of 8 tubes or less including power tubes, capacity 30 milliamperes at 135 volts—$42. Balkite "B"-Y for any standard set, capacity 40 milliamperes at 150 volts—$69. WORLD'S NEXT GREAT GENIUS IN MUSIC WILL BE AN AMERICAN, SAYS SOKOLOFF

CLEVELAND.—The world's next great music genius, one who will stand on a par with Wagner, Beethoven and Handel, whose music will sum up the entire progress of the world's civilization, will come from America.

"America is ripe for the production of a genius, who will amaze the civilized world with the power and glowing tones of his composition," the conductor said.

"Through the nation-wide interest in music, the fine orchestras that are being brought into existence and the very bringing of music into every home via phonograph and victrola, the stage has been set for the advent of a composer, who will mean as much to this generation as Wagner meant to his.

"I believe that no where in the world is as much attention given to the cultivation of the musical art as in America," declared Sokoloff. Wherever you go in this nation you hear music, whether it be jazz or opera on the lips of all; and this provides the necessary environment in which a budding genius may develop his talent and grow in mental musical stature."

"The people of America today, are much more musical than that of any other country at any other time. We hear a great deal of German bands and the German love of music, but at no time in the musical history of that nation was there evident the popular love of music as in this country today.

Both the school and home will be instrumental in bringing forth the American successor to the great geniuses, who have heretofore come from Europe, Sokoloff added:

"The schools are doing yeoman service in developing appreciation of the finer things in harmony and is in a major part due to their good work that music in this country has advanced to its present plane."

Lutherans Planning Great Migration for Tilt With Wesleyan

SPRINGFIELD, O., Nov. 5.—A football migration, the largest in all time to leave Springfield, is expected to get under way early Saturday morning for the Wesleyan-Wittenberg football game at Delaware.

The popular "Fighting Lutherans" will attract to the Methodist homecoming their own supporters from all parts of the state, according to alumni letters. These same supporters drawn from varied vocations of the Commonwealth have long participated in fox-drives against Wesleyan, and if there's to be a killing this year, they want to ride close to the hounds.

YALE STUDENT COUNCIL BANS PARTIES ON NIGHT OF ANCIENT JUNIOR PROM

NEW HAVEN, Conn.—Yale's student council has rushed to the rescue of the Junior Prom., and ancient institution that lately has been tottering. Because in recent years students have preferred house parties given by the fraternities to the more formal Junior Prom the student council this fall has voted that all parties on Prom night be abolished. The vote is considered a final effort to retain the Prom as a traditional Yale institution.

"There has been a steady encroachment on the importance of the Prom over a long period of years. Parties on Monday night served to keep many away while breafast dances were rather in the nature of an anti-climax." So the student council declared. Then it said:

"Sheff Houses have been the worst offenders in the past but with the college fraternities adopting an open-house system in their new buildings there was the danger that they might also plan parties which would further divert the attention of the university from the Prom itself.

"As a result of the small attendance consequent upon these conflicting parties there has been a serious financial deficit each year until affairs reached such a point last year that there was a possibility that the Universities authorities might take cognizance of the dwindling interest and abolish Prom Week completely."

Yale without its Prom would be unthinkable, according to old-timers who point out the Prom has gained more attention in American literature than even the famous old Tap Day.

SUSPECT IN WELLSVILLE MURDER PROBE GETS BOND

MIKE ZIONNO OF CLEVELAND POSTS $5,000

Friends Also Seek Release of Mike Scoia.

PROPERTY BAIL

Accused in Death of Patrolman James Kenney.

Mike Zionno, of Cleveland, a suspect in the slaying of Patrolman James Kenney May 17, last night was released from the county jail at Lisbon on bond of $5,000, while Mike Scoia, also of Cleveland, who was arrested by Chief of Police Fultz and Sheriff George Wright along with Zionna, is still behind the bars as friends endeavor to raise the bond for his freedom.

Counsel for the two men yesterday went before Judge W. H. Spence and asked that their clients be released, but the court refused to act until the consent of Prosecuting Attorney R. M. Brookes had been obtained.

Friends of Scoia left for Cleveland last night where they expected to raise $5,000 cash. In the event they are successful this sum will be deposited in a Lisbon bank before Scoia is freed.

Charges against these men will not be investigated until the next session of the grand jury.

When Sheriff Wright and Chief of Police Fultz of Wellsville returned from Cleveland with Zionno and Scoia a week ago last Saturday morning, the suspects were taken before Justice M. K. Zimerman at Lisbon and an affidavit charging each with murder was filed. The men were bound over to the grand jury upon their pleas of not guilty without bond.

M. E. Women's Service Guild Holds Meeting In Church Parlors

Members of the Women's Service Guild of the First Methodist Episcopal church held their regular meeting yesterday in the church parlors.

Sewing occupied the attention of the Guild members from 10 until 12. A coverdish luncheon was served at noon. Following a session of sewing, from 1 until 2:30, the customary business meet was held, in charge of Mrs. H. T. Weaver, president, who also was in charge of devotionals.

Mrs. Eva Brigel delivered a paper on W. C. T. U. work.

Plans were completed for a bazaar to be held by the Guild in the church gymnasium on December 17 and 18. Supper will be served on the second day of the bazaar.

"Home Missionary Day" will be observed by the Guild at a meeting next Thursday at the church.

Production Will be Given on Two Nights, Nov. 11 and 12, With Special Matinee for Children; 150 Pupils in Cast.

Under the direction of Miss Ruth Maxon, of the John B. Rogers Producing company, rehearsals for the high school's musical comedy, "Kathleen," which will be presented on two nights, November 11 and 12, in the school auditorium, are well under way.

The rehearsals were launched this week and will continue daily until the eleventh.

A cast of approximately 150 students will take part in the production, proceeds from which will be turned into the school library fund.

Special matinee for children will be held on Friday.

Mrs. Mary Carnahan Funeral Services Held in Toronto

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Carnahan, 59 years old, who died Tuesday at her home in Toronto, were held yesterday afternoon at the Toronto Methodist Episcopal church in charge of Rev. H. F. Patterson. Burial was made in Toronto Union cemetery.

Mrs. Carnahan had been in the hotel and restaurant business in Toronto for 25 years. She was born in Smiths Ferry, Pa.

She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Edward Gibbons, a daughter, Mrs. Brady Bailey, and two sisters, Mrs. David Rogers and Mrs. John Goodwin, of Wellsville.

Mrs. James Harrison Hostess to O. N. O. Club at Maple Villa

Mrs. James Harrison was hostess to members of the O. N. O. club Wednesday evening at Maple Villa tea room, in Aten and Maple avenues.

Music and five hundred were the chief diversions following the business session.

A two-course luncheon was served, covers being laid for 14 club members.

The next meeting will be held in two weeks at the home of Mrs. Charles Ferguson in Newell.

YELLOW CREEK CHURCH PROGRAM

Usual services will be held Sunday in the Yellow Creek Presbyterian church, with preaching at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m.

Baptismal services will be held in the morning. In the evening Rev. K. J. Stewart, pastor, will deliver an illustrated lecture, "The Menace of Mohammedanism." An offering will be taken for the Light Bearers' Mission band.

Young people will meet at 7 o'clock, Mrs. H. J. Hagey and Mrs. D. A. Smith will be the leaders.

The offering at the morning services will be devoted to the church improvement fund.

Rev. Stewart will preach in the Long's Run church Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Sunday school will meet at 1:30.

First Presbyterian Sunday School Class At Purinton Home

Mrs. Bernard Purinton was hostess to members of Sunday school class No. 16 of the First Presbyterian church last evening at her home in Riverside avenue.

The customary business session was followed by a social hour during which games and contests were diversions.

Mrs. Frank Hamilton and Mrs. Frank Grafton were co-hostesses with Mrs. Purinton.

Plans were started for a Christmas party to be held in the church, the event taking the place of the usual meeting. No date has been set for the affair.

YOUNG WOMEN FORM GUILD

M. E. Organization Names Officers at First Meet.

The Young Women's Service Guild of the First Methodist Episcopal church met and organized yesterday afternoon in the parsonage in Eighth and Main street.

Following a talk by Mrs. W. S. Rowe, wife of Rev. Rowe, pastor, on the duties of the Guild, the organization elected the following officers:

President, Gertrude Irons; vice president, Mabel Hickman; recording secretary, Margaret Heakin; corresponding secretary, Clara Norris; treasurer, Byrd Wilcoxen; finance, Isabel Anderson; program, Gale Kessell, Genevieve Wolfe and Grace Miller; hostess committee, Margaret Anderson; press, Mrs. Leah Taggart.

Rev. Rowe also addressed the Guild, referring briefly to their duties and future activities.

The Guild is the evening division of the Women's Union and is designed to promote the work of missions, both at home and abroad.

WILL TRY TO PATCH UP BREAK

Special Council Committee to Hold Session Tonight.

Special meeting of a council committee with Auditor Fred Eckfeld, Solicitor S. C. Luccock and the other officials is scheduled to be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the auditor's office for the purpose of endeavoring to establish tranquility in municipal circles, insofar as the post of service-safety director is concerned.

Invitations to attend the meeting doubtlessly will be extended to Mayor W. L. Fogo and former Director George P. Ashley, solons said today.

Local Minister And Wife to Attend Church Conference

Rev. and Mrs. L. E. Lee, of the First Christian church, will leave Sunday night for Memphis, Tenn., where they will attend two religious conferences during the ensuing two weeks.

They will make the trip chiefly for the purpose of attending the international convention of the Disciples of Christ which will be in session from Nov. 11 to November 17, but expect also to be present at sessions of the National Evangelistic association which convenes prior to the Disciples' meeting.

From 10,000 to 15,000 are expected at the Disciples meeting, including delegates from all parts of the world.

DISTRICT MEET OF M. P. CHURCH IS HELD HERE

Three Services Scheduled for Annual Conference.

PRESIDENT TALKS

Musical Program Will be Evening Feature.

With clergy and lay delegates present from approximately 20 churches of the district, the convention of the Steubenville district of the Ohio Annual Conference, Methodist Protestant church, got under way this morning in the First M. P. church here.

A musical program and an address by Rev. F. L. Brown, D. D., conference president, on the evening program, and talks by other district representatives were the feature events of the day's program.

Devotions this morning were in charge of Rev. W. H. Streitenberger. Rev. L. C. Momberg delivered an address on, "What Reason Has the Metnodist Protestant Church for Existence?"

Rev. D. L. Custis, district chairman, addressed the conference on "What Authority Is There In Annual Conference Legislation?"

An Adrian college representative was scheduled to speak shortly before noon.

Rev. W. J. McGarrity discussed means of using rural church property to make it pay larger dividends.

"Conference and Local Team Work JIts Necessity, Its Lack," was the topic of an address by Rev. C. E. Bulen.

The afternoon session was to open with an address by Rev. Z. H. Streitenberger on "What Can We Do With Our Disinterested Church Members?"

"The Development of the Minister as an Executive" will be the subject of a talk by Rev. Russell Linton.

Rev. C. E. Jeffers will discuss means of stimulating the interest of laymen in the whole program of the church, local and general.

Rev. F. L. Brown will deliver the district message at 3 o'clock.

The business session will be held from 4 o'clock until 4:30.

A song service has been arranged for the evening service, directed by Rev. L. C. Momberg.

This will be in addition to the address by Rev. Brown, conference president.

Address—Rev. F. L. Brown D. D.

L. T. L. MEMBERS GIVE PROGRAM

Music, songs, readings and a pageant by the officers featured the program given by members of the Loyal Temperance Legion last evening in the First Methodist Episcopal church.

A number of organ selections were given by Mrs. J. F. Calhoun following the L. T. L. flag salute and assembly singing.

Miss Blanche Rice pleased with a solo, "Morning." Miss Doris Maxine Miller gave a reading. A humorous sketch, "Fifteen Minutes in School," was rendered by the organization.

A duet, by Ruby McClure and Gwynne Gorrell, was one of the musical features. They were accompanied by Esther Swift.

Rev. B. R. Johnston Gives Address At Fathers' and Sons' Banquet

With approximately 85 in attendance, the annual Fathers' and Sons' banquet held last night at the First Christian church scored a decided success. The event was held under the direction of the pastor, Rev. L. E. Lee.

Rev. B. R. Johnston, pastor of the First Church of Christ, of East Liverpool, was the chief speaker.

Rev. Johnston's subject was, "When Dads Become Boys Again." He stressed in his talk, the extreme importance of a close relationship between father and son, that the father be a chum to his son, and a true confidant. All this, he said, will enable the father to lead and direct the boy down the proper path through life.

George Mendel read an Edgar Guest poem, "It Takes a Heap of Living to Make a House a Home."

The oldest father present, J. A. Armstrong, 84 years old, gave a short talk and the youngest father, Lester Donnelly, responded also.

Group sinking was led by F. C. McClelland.

Spring's nine piece orchestra gave a number of selections.

SUSPECT IN WELLSVILLE MURDER PROBE GETS BOND

MIKE ZIONNO OF CLEVELAND POSTS $5,000

Friends Also Seek Release of Mike Scoia.

PROPERTY BAIL

Accused in Death of Patrolman James Kenney.

Mike Zionno, of Cleveland, a suspect in the slaying of Patrolman James Kenney May 17, last night was released from the county jail at Lisbon on bond of $5,000, while Mike Scoia, also of Cleveland, who was arrested by Chief of Police Fultz and Sheriff George Wright along with Zionna, is still behind the bars as friends endeavor to raise the bond for his freedom.

Counsel for the two men yesterday went before Judge W. H. Spence and asked that their clients be released, but the court refused to act until the consent of Prosecuting Attorney R. M. Brookes had been obtained.

Friends of Scoia left for Cleveland last night where they expected to raise $5,000 cash. In the event they are successful this sum will be deposited in a Lisbon bank before Scoia is freed.

Charges against these men will not be investigated until the next session of the grand jury.

When Sheriff Wright and Chief of Police Fultz of Wellsville returned from Cleveland with Zionno and Scoia a week ago last Saturday morning, the suspects were taken before Justice M. K. Zimerman at Lisbon and an affidavit charging each with murder was filed. The men were bound over to the grand jury upon their pleas of not guilty without bond.

M. E. Women's Service Guild Holds Meeting In Church Parlors

Members of the Women's Service Guild of the First Methodist Episcopal church held their regular meeting yesterday in the church parlors.

Sewing occupied the attention of the Guild members from 10 until 12. A coverdish luncheon was served at noon. Following a session of sewing, from 1 until 2:30, the customary business meet was held, in charge of Mrs. H. T. Weaver, president, who also was in charge of devotionals.

Mrs. Eva Brigel delivered a paper on W. C. T. U. work.

Plans were completed for a bazaar to be held by the Guild in the church gymnasium on December 17 and 18. Supper will be served on the second day of the bazaar.

"Home Missionary Day" will be observed by the Guild at a meeting next Thursday at the church.

Production Will be Given on Two Nights, Nov. 11 and 12, With Special Matinee for Children; 150 Pupils in Cast.

Under the direction of Miss Ruth Maxon, of the John B. Rogers Producing company, rehearsals for the high school's musical comedy, "Kathleen," which will be presented on two nights, November 11 and 12, in the school auditorium, are well under way.

The rehearsals were launched this week and will continue daily until the eleventh.

A cast of approximately 150 students will take part in the production, proceeds from which will be turned into the school library fund.

Special matinee for children will be held on Friday.

DISTRICT MEET OF M. P. CHURCH IS HELD HERE

Three Services Scheduled for Annual Conference.

PRESIDENT TALKS

Musical Program Will be Evening Feature.

With clergy and lay delegates present from approximately 20 churches of the district, the convention of the Steubenville district of the Ohio Annual Conference, Methodist Protestant church, got under way this morning in the First M. P. church here.

A musical program and an address by Rev. F. L. Brown, D. D., conference president, on the evening program, and talks by other district representatives were the feature events of the day's program.

Devotions this morning were in charge of Rev. W. H. Streitenberger. Rev. L. C. Momberg delivered an address on, "What Reason Has the Methodist Protestant Church for Existence?"

Rev. D. L. Custis, district chairman, addressed the conference on "What Authority Is There In Annual Conference Legislation?"

An Adrian college representative was scheduled to speak shortly before noon.

Rev. W. J. McGarrity discussed means of using rural church property to make it pay larger dividends.

"Conference and Local Team Work JIts Necessity, Its Lack," was the topic of an address by Rev. C. E. Bulen.

The afternoon session was to open with an address by Rev. Z. H. Streitenberger on "What Can We Do With Our Disinterested Church Members?"

"The Development of the Minister as an Executive" will be the subject of a talk by Rev. Russell Linton.

Rev. C. E. Jeffers will discuss means of stimulating the interest of laymen in the whole program of the church, local and general.

Rev. F. L. Brown will deliver the district message at 3 o'clock.

The business session will be held from 4 o'clock until 4:30.

A song service has been arranged for the evening service, directed by Rev. L. C. Momberg.

This will be in addition to the address by Rev. Brown, conference president.

The song service program follows: Organ, piano and violin, "Largo" (Handel)—Roy Jones, Rev. L. C. Momberg and Mrs. O. R. Cummings.

Address—Rev. F. L. Brown D. D.

L. T. L. MEMBERS GIVE PROGRAM

Music, songs, readings and a pageant by the officers featured the program given by members of the Loyal Temperance Legion last evening in the First Methodist Episcopal church.

Miss Blanche Rice pleased with a solo, "Morning." Miss Doris Maxine Miller gave a reading. A humorous sketch, "Fifteen Minutes in School," was rendered by the organization.

A duet, by Ruby McClure and Gwynne Gorrell, was one of the musical features. They were accompanied by Esther Swift.

Rev. B. R. Johnston Gives Address At Fathers' and Sons' Banquet

With approximately 85 in attendance, the annual Fathers' and Sons' banquet held last night at the First Christian church scored a decided success. The event was held under the direction of the pastor, Rev. L. E. Lee.

Rev. B. R. Johnston, pastor of the First Church of Christ, of East Liverpool, was the chief speaker.

Rev. Johnston's subject was, "When Dads Become Boys Again." He stressed in his talk, the extreme importance of a close relationship between father and son, that the father be a chum to his son, and a true confidant. All this, he said, will enable the father to lead and direct the boy down the proper path through life.

George Mendel read an Edgar Guest poem, "It Takes a Heap of Living to Make a House a Home."

The oldest father present, J. A. Armstrong, 84 years old, gave a short talk and the youngest father, Lester Donnelly, responded also.

Group sinking was led by F. C. McClelland.

Spring's nine piece orchestra gave a number of selections.

No Title Significance In Saturday's Collegiate Clashes

Illinois Expected To Defeat Chicago; Carnegie Favorite

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Traditional, rather than competitive significance will be served tomorrow in the meeting of gridiron arch-rivals who once were great. Princeton and Harvard, California and Washington, Chicago and Illinois, Georgia Tech and Vanderbilt, Pitt and West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Penn State—these were games that filled the eye and gladdened the heart when viewed from the kindly distance of September.

But November, austere as a second lieutenant, is the month when illusion dies. There will be no championship decided in the "naturals" of the morrow, though the turnstiles will know it not. These will click as readily as in other and better days. For arch-rivals die hard even when they die together.

Illinois Favorite.

The demise of some of those mentioned is strictly unofficial, at that. Illinois, beaten by Michigan, came back against Pennsylvania, proponent of the hidden ball but using only the hidden touchdown for the day in question. Illinois apparently is an adequate representative team and should win from Chicago with plenty to spare, the Maroon being sub-normal.

However, it is a strange Illinois-Chicago game when it has no bearing on the Big Ten championship. I might say the same for the California-Washington affair in relation to the Coast title. Neither has a chance for that honor; California, in fact, only has a chance for its life and it may lose that tomorrow. Barring its defeat in the Washington State game, Washington has looked the part of the superior team. This patient probably will live.

The parallel of depreciating values can be applied also to the Vanderbilt-Georgia Tech game. Neither team is a prospective champion of the south though both have played sound football since losing to Alabama, which has only Tennessee to reckon with at this late date. Still, Vandy and Tech are more or less among the living.

Penn Seeks Solace.

Having suffered its maiden defeat, Pennsylvania should gain solace from Penn State, which seems to be right obliging in this respect. Though the Pennsylvania patient still breathes, I can't become perturbed over the outcome. Pitt and West Virginia is another game that leaves me cold; neither team means much now, except to itself. I wouldn't be surprised if Pitt pulled one out of the hat and won the ball game.

Neither Harvard nor Princeton can affect the eastern championship, though the former has come back following early season defeats. Princeton will have its stars intact for the first time in a month and it would surprise a lot of people, but not me, by winning. A tie game is a good guess in this one.

Pick Tech to Win.

The New York university-Carnegie Tech affair is another hard one to figure out, somehow, I can't down the hunch that Tech is due. For one thing, I feel that N. Y. U. is overdue—for defeat.

Eleven other unbeaten entries—Stanford, Tennessee, Alabama, Missouri, Kansas Aggies, Notre Dame, West Point, Lafayette, the Navy, Holy Cross and Boston College—will fare into action but only two of them seem in actual danger. Kansas Aggies may have to show top form to beat Marquette, which is not what it was, and Tennessee would do well to look for an upset with Sewanee. However, the latter lost to Auburn, which lost to Louisiana State,, which lost to Tennessee. So there one is.

Missouri's game with Oklohoma may be a hard one but the valley champions should survive. However, I can't see Indiana beating Notre Dame nor Alabama losing to Kentucky nor Stanford being defeated by Santa Clara nor Boston College sloughing one off to Villa Nova nor any other foolish promise of kindred nature. Holy Cross can look for squalls against Fordham and the Navy might keep its weather eye on West Virginia Wesleyan but Lafayette should have a "breather" against Rutgers.

Michigan "Come-back."

I also like Minnesota over Ilwa, Northwestern against Purdue and Michigan for a return to form against Wisconsin, though these games are far from "breathers" in any sense. Neither is the valley meeting between Kansas and Grinnell nor are those southern games involving Baylor and Texas, Tulane and Mississippi Aggies and Georgia and Alabama Poly. Georgia, on its form of the Florida game, should win.

There is nothing soft, either, for Syracuse in the Georgetown game and Idaho, having fooled Oregon Aggies, may live to fool Washington State. But that isn't likely.

SMITH WINNER IN CUE MATCH

Herbert and Trout will play next Tuesday when tourney play is resumed.

	Won	Lost	Pct.
W. Shaffer	2	0	1.000
L. Herbert	2	0	1.000
P. Johannes	2	0	1.000
E. Smith	2	1	.667
B. Shevers	1	1	.500
G. Eisman	0	2	.000
P. Rodebaugh	0	2	.000
C. Trout	0	3	.000

LET'S GO!

A little encouragement from the sidelines in this important battle will mean a whole lot to the fellows out there on the field and, consequently every student that can make the trip to Salem, as well as those who are not students, should make a mighty big effort to get out along the sidelines at Salem.

LARKINS BACK ON HIGH SQUAD

CHANGES in the East Liverpool high school lineup which are expected to put the team in the peak of condition for the all-important clash tomorrow with Salem were announced today by Coach George Kidder.

Misfortune hit the Blue and White squad day before yesterday when Carney, lineman, received a broken nose in scrimmage practice and, as a result, will be out of action for tomorrow, and maybe, several weeks.

But the great stock of reserve material on hand will permit Coaches Kidder and Cox to fill up the hole sufficiently well to stem the tide of Red and Black jerseys.

Larkins Back.

The team both loses and gains this week. As Carney goes out, Captain Dick Larkins gets back into action at center and any worry that the Blue and White coaches may have held concerning the performance of the forward line is gone now with Dick's return. Without exception Larkins is the best lineman in the county and it is entirely possible that the territory can be extended farther than that.

Todd and Irwin will be located at the guards and Clark and Smith at the tackles. This makes a mighty strong quartet. On the flanks will be Tom Pusey and English, two rare performers when they are hitting their stride. This seems to be the case now. It would be difficult to replace English at end the way he had been playing the last two games and Pusey's all around value was certainly demonstrated in the Lisbon game.

Pusey on End.

Tomorrow Pusey will play an offensive end and, on defense, will enact the role of safety man. He is fast and an adept at bringing back punts.

Quarterback Dick McKee will be shifted to Pusey's end when the Blue and White is on the defensive and his arm will be utilized in heaving passes, which he does with telling effect, when the locals are carrying the ball.

Van Dyne and Deidrick will start at the halves. The former played a great game against Lisbon. Deidrick is credited with having gained more ground, per game, than any other backfield performer. He wheeled off a daring 22-yard run against Lisbon in the last few minutes of the final period that put the locals in position to score. Both men are fast and will stack up with anything the north countians can muster.

Jack Bromby, at fullback, completes the ball toting quartet. Jack is the line plunger of the outfit, but he can heave passes and run the ends if necessary. He'll be backing up the line on the defense.

According to present indications the Blue and White should have plenty of support. A large number of fans will take in the contest.

Fight Results

ABOUT the greatest MONG the greatest tragedies in baseball, not of the past season but of the life of the game, is the career of George Sisler, until a few days ago manager of the St. Louis Browns.

Being bounced as pilot of the much-managed St. Louis team does not bring the tragedy into his life. That move probably brings him the same feeling of contentment—on reflection—enjoyed by a man released from jail.

The tragedy lies in the nipping almost in the bud of what promised to be one of the greatest careers anticipated for or by any players who ever donned a baseball suit.

Sisler draws the stigma of having failed at a baseball task when he should be rolling happily but earnestly on to a brilliant record in the game.

Sinus trouble, in the winter of 1922-23, checked that career and shortened his days in the game.

From the time he began to star as an all-around player for the University of Michigan nine until the troubles with his eyes, Sisler seemed destined to write a chapter in baseball that would almost parallel that of Cobb.

While still lacking professional training and the help of the game's great teachers, Sisler astounded the baseball world with his batting and daring base running for the Wolverine nine. "Sisler Steals Home to Win Game" was a common caption. Long before he was graduated big league teams sought to sign him. His entrance into the major leagues was marked by a bitter battle between the Pittsburgh Pirates and St. Louis Browns to prove their respective claims to his services. The Browns won.

Was Versatile Star.

Sisler proved immediately that he was a natural ball player. From out the ranks of the "Second Ty Cobbs" Sisler loomed as the only man who seemed fitter, physically and mentally to rival the great Georgian. Sisler surpassed Cobb in one way—his versatility. He pitched, played first and the outfield brilliantly. Cobb has always confined his activities to the outfield.

George had the batting ability of Cobb, it seemed. He started out to equal the life-time record of Tyrus. He was a daring man on the bases, lacking only, perhaps, a bit of the dash of Cobb. And he proveed as quick a thinker as the Tiger star and manager.

Through the season of 1922 Sisler led the American league—Cobb included—in batting. He finished the year with a mark of .422 and seemed destined to shoot at that mark for many years. Then came the trouble with his eyes.

The campaign of 1923 found him not playing baseball but struggling almost hopelessly to recover the use of his eyes. The trouble had affected his vision. He found it hard to focus his eyes simultaneously. But for the patient help of Jimmy Austin that summer and the following winter out on the Pacific coast Sisler might never have played ball again. He did, however, return. He not only took his place at first but hit well and attempted to carry on the management of the team.

Batting Falls Off.

By 1925 he had raised his batting average again to .354. However, the strain of playing and the mental strain of managing what seemed to be a demoralized outfit proved too much. Last season his batting dropped below the .330 mark. He found himself hopelessly at sea trying to bring order out of chaos on the ball field. And this is something that the public in general does not know. Since the day he has returned to the game he has played with faulty vision—a defect that forced him on occasions to field or hit a ball when he could not judge the nearness of the ball, the speed at which it was traveling or even see the ball clearly.

Those close to Sisler know that at times he had to "throw" his eyes into focus before he could attempt to catch a ball or hit it.

Now he finds himself forced to look for a baseball job—this when he stands at the age of Rogers Hornsby, with the future of the great Cardinal hitter before him but beyond his grasp.

This when he should be plunging on toward a record that would permit his friends to question the right of Cobb to the title of "Baseball's only superman."

If there be not tragedy in that I know of nothing in the game that deserves the title.

East End Eleven To Play Beaver Falls Team Here

The East End Blues will play the fast Beaver Falls Elks tomorrow afternoon at Columbian park. The game will start at 3:30.

The Blues are getting a late start but expect to be in good trim for the tilt with the Pennsylvanians. After holding the Sebring Independents to an even score they are confident they can make a good showing against the Elks.

The Blues will be reinforced by four former members of the Wellsville shop team and the return of Mundy to end.

SCRIBE TO WED AQUATIC STAR

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—Miss Sybil Bauer, famous aquatic star and holder of 33 world's swimming records, today confirmed reports that she is to marry Edward Sullivan, sports editor of the New York Evening Graphic. The marriage will be early in June.

"We met in Florida in February, 1925," said Miss Bauer. "It was love at first sight. When Mr. Sullivan returned to New York he continued his courtship by air mail."

BANTAM TO ASK REINSTATEMENT

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Charley (Phil) Rosenberg, recognized here as the world's bantamweight champion but discountenanced in many states, was to apply for reinstatement before the New York state athletic commission today in order to be eligible to meet Bushy Graham, of Utica, for the title on January 7. Graham and Rosenberg already have signed for the match and this fact may delay reinstatement since James A. Farley, commission chairman, is said to have been nettled that Madison Square Garden officials would sign an ineligible boxer. Rosenberg was barred here for failure to accept Graham's challenge, the suspension becoming effective in states that cooperate with the local board.

May Match Flyweights.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Jess McMahon, matchmaker for Tex Rickard, was trying to close a match today between Fidel La Barba, of Los Angeles, and Elky Clark, of England, with the world's flyweight title at stake. La Barba generally is recognized as world's champion at the weight but Clark, champion of Europe, also claims the world's title.

Autograph Football Used.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5—A football bearing the autograph of President Calvin Colidge today is enroute to California to be used in the Army-Navy game on Armistice day to be played in Berkeley between teams of the Ninth corps area and the Pacific fleet. It is estimated that 70,000 football fans will witness the boting of the president's name over the gridiron.

No Title Significance In Saturday's Collegiate Clashes

Illinois Expected To Defeat Chicago; Carnegie Favorite

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Traditional, rather than competitive significance will be served tomorrow in the meeting of gridiron arch-rivals who once were great. Princeton and Harvard, California and Washington, Chicago and Illinois, Georgia Tech and Vanderbilt, Pitt and West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Penn State—these were games that filled the eye and gladdened the heart when viewed from the kindly distance of September.

But November, austere as a second lieutenant, is the month when illusion dies. There will be no championship decided in the "naturals" of the morrow, though the turnstiles will know it not. These will click as readily as in other and better days. For arch-rivals die hard even when they die together.

Illinois Favorite.

The demise of some of those mentioned is strictly unofficial, at that. Illinois, beaten by Michigan, came back against Pennsylvania, proponent of the hidden ball but using only the hidden touchdown for the day in question. Illinois apparently is an adequate representative team and should win from Chicago with plenty to spare, the Maroon being sub-normal.

However, it is a strange Illinois-Chicago game when it has no bearing on the Big Ten championship. I might say the same for the California-Washington affair in relation to the Coast title. Neither has a chance for that honor; California, in fact, only has a chance for its life and it may lose that tomorrow. Barring its defeat in the Washington State game, Washington has looked the part of the superior team. This patient probably will live.

The parallel of depreciating values can be applied also to the Vanderbilt-Georgia Tech game. Neither team is a prospective champion of the south though both have played sound football since losing to Alabama, which has only Tennessee to reckon with at this late date. Still, Vandy and Tech are more or less among the living.

Penn Seeks Solace.

Having suffered its maiden defeat, Pennsylvania should gain solace from Penn State, which seems to be right obliging in this respect. Though the Pennsylvania patient still breathes, I can't become perturbed over the outcome. Pitt and West Virginia is another game that leaves me cold; neither team means much now, except to itself. I wouldn't be surprised if Pitt pulled one out of the hat and won the ball game.

Neither Harvard nor Princeton can affect the eastern championship, though the former has come back following early season defeats. Princeton will have its stars intact for the first time in a month and it would surprise a lot of people, but not me, by winning. A tie game is a good guess in this one.

Pick Tech to Win.

The New York university-Carnegie Tech affair is another hard one to figure out, somehow, I can't down the hunch that Tech is due. For one thing, I feel that N. Y. U. is overdue for defeat.

Eleven other unbeaten entries—Stanford, Tennessee, Alabama, Missouri, Kansas Aggies, Notre Dame, West Point, Lafayette, the Navy, Holy Cross and Boston College—will fare into action but only two of them seem in actual danger. Kansas Aggies may have to show top form to beat Marquette, which is not what it was, and Tennessee would do well to look for an upset with Sewanee. However, the latter lost to Auburn, which lost to Louisiana State,, which lost to Tennessee. So there one is.

Missouri's game with Oklohoma may be a hard one but the valley champions should survive. However, I can't see Indiana beating Notre Dame nor Alabama losing to Kentucky nor Stanford being defeated by Santa Clara nor Boston College sloughing one off to Villa Nova nor any other foolish promise of kindred nature. Holy Cross can look for squalls against Fordham and the Navy might keep its weather eye on West Virginia Wesleyan but Lafayette should have a "breather" against Rutgers.

Michigan "Come-back."

I also like Minnesota over Iiwa, Northwestern against Purdue and Michigan for a return to form against Wisconsin, though these games are far from "breathers" in any sense. Neither is the valley meeting between Kansas and Grinnell nor are those southern games involving Baylor and Texas, Tulane and Mississippi Aggies and Georgia and Alabama Poly. Georgia, on its form of the Florida game, should win.

There is nothing soft, either, for Syracuse in the Georgetown game and Idaho, having fooled Oregon Aggies, may live to fool Washington State. But that isn't likely.

SMITH WINNER IN CUE MATCH

LET'S GO!

A little encouragement from the sidelines in this important battle will mean a whole lot to the fellows out there on the field and, consequently every student that can make the trip to Salem, as well as those who are not students, should make a mighty big effort to get out along the sidelines at Salem.

LARKINS BACK ON HIGH SQUAD

CHANGES in the East Liverpool high school lineup which are expected to put the team in the peak of condition for the all-important clash tomorrow with Salem were announced today by Coach George Kidder.

Misfortune hit the Blue and White squad day before yesterday when Carney, lineman, received a broken nose in scrimmage practice and, as a result, will be out of action for tomorrow, and maybe, several weeks.

But the great stock of reserve material on hand will permit Coaches Kidder and Cox to fill up the hole sufficiently well to stem the tide of Red and Black jerseys.

Larkins Back.

The team both loses and gains this week. As Carney goes out, Captain Dick Larkins gets back into action at center and any worry that the Blue and White coaches may have held concerning the performance of the forward line is gone now with Dick's return. Without exception Larkins is the best lineman in the county and it is entirely possible that the territory can be extended farther than that.

Todd and Irwin will be located at the guards and Clark and Smith at the tackles. This makes a mighty strong quartet. On the flanks will be Tom Pusey and English, two rare performers when they are hitting their stride. This seems to be the case now. It would be difficult to replace English at end the way he had been playing the last two games and Pusey's all around value was certainly demonstrated in the Lisbon game.

Pusey on End.

Tomorrow Pusey will play an offensive end and, on defense, will enact the role of safety man. He is fast and an adept at bringing back punts.

Quarterback Dick McKee will be shifted to Pusey's end when the Blue and White is on the defensive and his arm will be utilized in heaving passes, which he does with telling effect, when the locals are carrying the ball.

Van Dyne and Deidrick will start at the halves. The former played a great game against Lisbon. Deidrick is credited with having gained more ground, per game, than any other backfield performer. He wheeled off a daring 22-yard run against Lisbon in the last few minutes of the final period that put the locals in position to score. Both men are fast and will stack up with anything the north countians can muster.

Jack Bromby, at fullback, completes the ball toting quartet. Jack is the line plunger of the outfit, but he can heave passes and run the ends if necessary. He'll be backing up the line on the defense.

According to present indications the Blue and White should have plenty of support. A large number of fans will take in the contest.

ABOUT the greatest MONG the greatest tragedies in baseball, not of the past season but of the life of the game, is the career of George Sisler, until a few days ago manager of the St. Louis Browns.

Being bounced as pilot of the much-managed St. Louis team does not bring the tragedy into his life. That move probably brings him the same feeling of contentment—on reflection—enjoyed by a man released from jail.

The tragedy lies in the nipping almost in the bud of what promised to be one of the greatest careers anticipated for or by any players who ever donned a baseball suit.

Sisler draws the stigma of having failed at a baseball task when he should be rolling happily but earnestly on to a brilliant record in the game.

Sinus trouble, in the winter of 1922-23, checked that career and shortened his days in the game.

From the time he began to star as an all-around player for the University of Michigan nine until the troubles with his eyes, Sisler seemed destined to write a chapter in baseball that would almost parallel that of Cobb.

While still lacking professional training and the help of the game's great teachers, Sisler astounded the baseball world with his batting and daring base running for the Wolverine nine. "Sisler Steals Home to Win Game" was a common caption. Long before he was graduated big league teams sought to sign him. His entrance into the major leagues was marked by a bitter battle between the Pittsburgh Pirates and St. Louis Browns to prove their respective claims to his services. The Browns won.

This when he should be plunging on toward a record that would permit his friends to question the right of Cobb to the title of "Baseball's only superman."

If there be not tragedy in that I know of nothing in the game that deserves the title.

ALL-AMERICAN GRID CANDIDATES

By Norman E. Brown.

The fact that Columbia recently defeated Cornell for th first time in 26 years doesn't entitle Bill Madden, Columbia captain and halfback, to consideration as an All-American possibility. But that victory gave him another chance to show his greatness and to become the leading point scorer in the east. He is a brilliant passer, runner and booter. In addition to this his generalship, especially on the defense, is superb.

MADDEN

Mayes McLain, fullback of the picturesque Haskell Indian team, is one of the greatest scoring stars the game has produced, judging by his record to date. His seventeen points scored against Bucknell University in a recent game raised his total to 208 points. He scored 111 points in his first three games this season, seventeen touchdowns and nine goals after touchdowns. In addition to carrying the ball McLain is a great forward passer, splendid interference man, a good defensive player and line plunger.

MAYES McLAIN

Mountaineers Given Edge Over Panthers

Overwhelmed Alleghen y While Pitt Was Barely Able to Win; Compa rative Scores, However, Mean Little When T wo Rivals Clash.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 5.—Mountaineer and Panther clash once more tomorrow afternoon. Once more a train load of rooters led by the famous West Virginia Cadet band will descend on Pittsburgh to cheer their favorite football team on to greater deeds on the barred field. To a great number of the younger generation of Mountaineer football followers, this is "the day." A victory over Pitt would be relished by them far more than any other single win this season.

On the face of the records to date, West Virginia would seem to have a slight edge over Pitt. West Virginia overwhelmed Allegheny college while Pitt was barely able to nose out a victory over the husky Meadville Methodists. West Virginia defeated Georgetown at Washington, D. C., while the best that the Panthers could do against Georgetown was to fight an uphill battle to emerge with a tie score at the Pitt stadium. Again, West Virginia has won five games this season and lost but one while Pitt has won three victories, suffered two defeats and one tie. However, it must be admitted that Pitt has been playing tougher opponents, on the whole, than have the Mountaineers. Comparative scores which favor West Virginia, mean absolutely nothing when bitter rivals meet on the gridiron. Pitt has played splendid football in spots, as for example, in the Colgate game when the Panthers completely outplayed the strong New York eleven which was unable to do anything with the Sutherlanders until the final quarter when Pitt subsitutes were on the field. The overwhelming victory over Westminster last week is an indication of the Panther's growing power. The Mountaineers played wonderful football until late October when the green machine slipped a cog or two. If West Virginia can regain her early October stride, Coach Rodgers and his crew should take home a victory, but if the temporary slump is not shaken off, Pitt will doubtless cop the honors in the twenty-second setto of Panther and Mountaineer. If both elevens are "off color" the devil will get the hindmost, and take your choice.

Captain Ross McHenry and Julian Murrin, veteran Mountaineer linemen will oppose two former high school teammates in Gibby Welch, Pitt backfield ace and Roberts, right guard on the Panther eleven. All four of these stars, and brilliant players they are, were members of Parkersburg High school elevens several years ago. Roberts at right guard will be playing directly opposite the Mountaineer leader. If West Virginia can stop Welch, a native West Verginian, their chances a native West Virginian, their chances The battle looms up as a bitter one with little to choose between the two old rivals.

Revise Game Laws To Conform With Bird Treaty Act

The department of agriculture at Columbus has announced several changes in the Ohio game laws to conform with the federal amendments to the Migratory Bird Treaty Act of March 8th, last. These changes are:

Wood ducks, swans, eider ducks, bitterns, cranes, grebes, gulls, terns, herons, jaegers, loons and all shore birds, except Wilson's snipe, Woodcock and Yellowlegs, are protected and cannot be legally taken.

Coot and gallinule: 25 in the aggregate but not more than 15 shall be gallinules.

Sora, and other rail birds, except cootes and gallinules, may be taken only from Nov. 1st to Nov. 30th, inclusive. A person may take in any one day during the open season, except Sunday, not to exceed 25 rail birds in the aggregate of all kinds except sora, of which 25 may be taken, but not more than 15 of any other species.

All deputy game wardens in Ohio have been instructed that these changes should be rigidly enforced.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON,

KLINCK ELEVEN AT PALESTINE

Remainder of Wellsville Contests on Road.

With the curtain rung down on football activities, so far as home attractions are concerned, Coach Earl Klinck's Wellsville eleven is set for a tussle tomorrow afternoon at East Palestine.

The clash with Salem two weeks ago concluded the home schedule for the Orange and Black. A game with Mingo was scheduled last Saturday, but the Jefferson countians, unable to muster up sufficient strength, called it off.

On Nov. 13, Wellsville will take issue with Lisbon at the county seat and their next and final battle of the campaign will see them in action here against East Liverpool in the resumption of Thanksgiving grid relations.

The squad, as a whole, is in excellent condition as a result of a two weeks' period of straight practice sessions with no game intervening.

The contest with East Palestine sizes up as a real battle but the Orange and Black, if playing in form, should win, or at least come out with a tie, barring bad breaks.

Faculty Manager Trumbull will send the squad over to East Palestine in a bus, leaving Wellsville at 11 o'clock.

BRITISH STRIKE IS NEAR END

LONDON, Nov. 5.—The British coal strike is apparently moving rapidly to an end.

The Trades Union Congress delegation, headed by J. H. Thomas, has opened conferences with Premier Baldwin, and there is a report in Whitehall that there is a strong possibility of the Miners' federation ordering all strikers back to work within 48 hours.

More American automobiles will be sold in foreign countries this year than in any previous twelve-months, say experienced estimators.

By Norman E. Brown.

The fact that Columbia recently defeated Cornell for th first time in 26 years doesn't entitle Bill Madden, Columbia captain and halfback, to consideration as an All-American possibility. But that victory gave him another chance to show his greatness and to become the leading point scorer in the east. He is a brilliant passer, runner and booter. In addition to this his generalship, especially on the defense, is superb.

MADDEN

Mayes McLain, fullback of the picturesque Haskell Indian team, is one of the greatest scoring stars the game has produced, judging by his record to date. His seventeen points scored against Bucknell University in a recent game raised his total to 208 points. He scored 111 points in his first three games this season, seventeen touchdowns and nine goals after touchdowns. In addition to carrying the ball McLain is a great forward passer, splendid interference man, a good defensive player and line plunger.

MAYES McLAIN

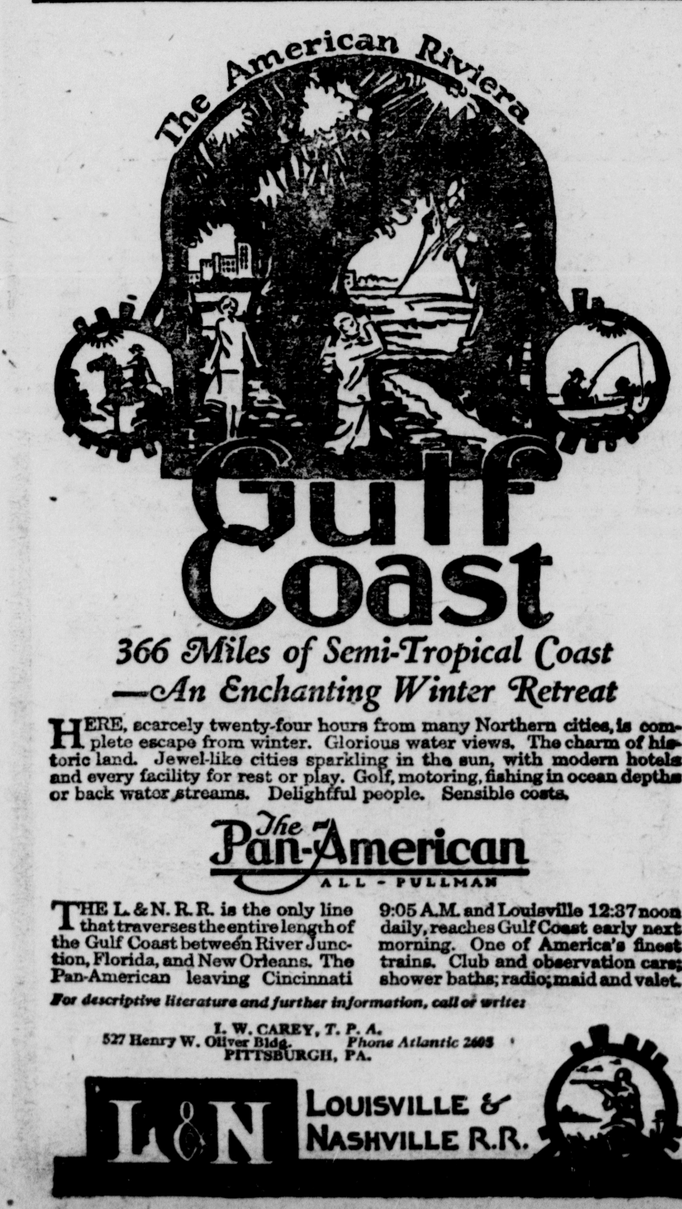
Mountaineers Given Edge Over Panthers

Overwhelmed Alleghen y While Pitt Was Barely Able to Win; Compa rative Scores, However, Mean Little When T wo Rivals Clash.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 5.—Mountaineer and Panther clash once more tomorrow afternoon. Once more a train ldad of rooters led by the famous West Virginia Cadet band will descend on Pittsburgh to cheer their favorite football team on to greater deeds on the barred field. To a great number of the younger generation of Mountaineer football followers, this is "the day." A victory over Pitt would be relished by them far more than any other single win this season.

On the face of the records to date, West Virginia would seem to have a slight edge over Pitt. West Virginia overwhelmed Allegheny college while Pitt was barely able to nose out a victory over the husky Meadville Methodists. West Virginia defeated Georgetown at Washington, D. C., while the best that the Panthers could do against Georgetown was to fight an uphill battle to emerge with a tie score at the Pitt stadium. Again, West Virginia has won five games this season and lost but one while Pitt has won three victories, suffered two defeats and one tie. However, it must be admitted that Pitt has been playing tougher opponents, on the whole, than have the Mountaineers. Comparative scores which favor West Virginia, mean absolutely nothing when bitter rivals meet on the gridiron. Pitt has played splendid football in spots, as for example, in the Colgate game when the Panthers completely outplayed the strong New York eleven which was unable to do anything with the Sutherlanders until the final quarter when Pitt subsitutes were on the field. The overwhelming victory over Westminster last week is an indication of the Panther's growing power. The Mountaineers played wonderful football until late October when the green machine slipped a cog or two. If West Virginia can regain her early October stride, Coach Rodgers and his crew should take home a victory, but if the temporary slump is not shaken off, Pitt will doubtless cop the honors in the twenty-second setto of Panther and Mountaineer. If both elevens are "off color" the devil will get the hindmost, and take your choice.

Captain Ross McHenry and Julian Murrin, veteran Mountaineer linemen will oppose two former high school teammates in Gibby Welch, Pitt backfield ace and Roberts, right guard on the Panther eleven. All four of these stars, and brilliant players they are, were members of Parkersburg High school elevens several years ago. Roberts at right guard will be playing directly opposite the Mountaineer leader. If West Virginia can stop Welch, a native West Verginian, their chances a native West Virginian, their chances The battle looms up as a bitter one with little to choose between the two old rivals.



He's Filling Nevers' Shoes

Revise Game Laws To Conform With Bird Treaty Act

The department of agriculture at Columbus has announced several changes in the Ohio game laws to conform with the federal amendments to the Migratory Bird Treaty Act of March 8th, last. These changes are:

Wood ducks, swans, eider ducks, bitterns, cranes, grebes, gulls, terns, herons, jaegers, loons and all shore birds, except Wilson's snipe, Woodcock and Yellowlegs, are protected and cannot be legally taken.

Coot and gallinule: 25 in the aggregate but not more than 15 shall be gallinules.

Sora, and other rail birds, except cootes and gallinules, may be taken only from Nov. 1st to Nov. 30th, inclusive. A person may take in any one day during the open season, except Sunday, not to exceed 25 rail birds in the aggregate of all kinds except sora, of which 25 may be taken, but not more than 15 of any other species.

All deputy game wardens in Ohio have been instructed that these changes should be rigidly enforced.

KLINCK ELEVEN AT PALESTINE

Remainder of Wellsville Contests on Road.

With the curtain rung down on football activities, so far as home attractions are concerned, Coach Earl Klinck's Wellsville eleven is set for a tussle tomorrow afternoon at East Palestine.

The clash with Salem two weeks ago concluded the home schedule for the Orange and Black. A game with Mingo was scheduled last Saturday, but the Jefferson countians, unable to muster up sufficient strength, called it off.

On Nov. 13, Wellsville will take issue with Lisbon at the county seat and their next and final battle of the campaign will see them in action here against East Liverpool in the resumption of Thanksgiving grid relations.

The squad, as a whole, is in excellent condition as a result of a two weeks' period of straight practice sessions with no game intervening.

The contest with East Palestine sizes up as a real battle but the Orange and Black, if playing in form, should win, or at least come out with a tie, barring bad breaks.

Faculty Manager Trumbull will send the squad over to East Palestine in a bus, leaving Wellsville at 11 o'clock.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON,
Maker of 51 Golf Champions.
"Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

BRITISH STRIKE IS NEAR END

LONDON, Nov. 5.—The British coal strike is apparently moving rapidly to an end.

The Trades Union Congress delegation, headed by J. H. Thomas, has opened conferences with Premier Baldwin, and there is a report in Whitehall that there is a strong possibility of the Miners' federation ordering all strikers back to work within 48 hours.

More American automobiles will be sold in foreign countries this year than in any previous twelve-months, say experienced estimators.

TALKING UNDER WATER IS NEXT SCIENCE FEAT

Navy Experts Predict Sea Bottom Voices Will be Heard.

"SUPERSONICS"

Efforts Will be Redoubled to Make Communications Easy.

WASHINGTON.—Having made the atmosphere an almost perfect medium for transmitting the human voice, scientists now are redoubling their efforts to make it simple to talk under water.

Navy experts predict that in the future it will be almost as simple to communicate in the depth of the ocean as above it.

Terming the new science, "supersonics," the Navy's experts are bending their energies in particular toward improvement of communication between submarines.

Since the World war great advance has been made in the art of underwater communication and depth sounding, says an announcement by the Navy department. Up until 1918 the chief mediums were audible sound receivers and transmitters.

Discoveries in the application of the Piezo-electric effect to underwater sound transmission and reception however, have opened up a new field.

Use of Short Waves.

"The term 'supersonics' refers to frequencies above the limits of audibility of the human ear," says the Navy announcement. 'For instance, the human ear may be considered a sound receiver tuned to receive sounds lying between frequencies of 30 to 20,000 cycles per second. Sounds lying above this spectrum are inaudible and the reception of these sounds is accomplished by the use of the heterodyne principle.

"By use of these short waves, it has been possible to telephone under water and to telegraph at speeds of 20 to 30 words per minute. This is considered by scientists as quite an advance over the older methods of audible transmission and reception under water."

So important does the Navy regard the possibilities of underwater communication that the Naval D. C., has established a sound division with Dr. Harvey C. Hayes acting as superintendent. Two barges have been fitted up to be used in the sound experiments.

The research has been spurred, not only here but abroad, as a result of the submarine menace during the World war. At the beginning of the war, the Navy's devices for detecting the presence of submarines through sound receivers were unsatisfactory. Toward the end of the war great improvement was made. Now a sonic depth finder has been developed which it is declared will accurately place a submarine in depths of 40 to 4,000 fathoms and in a radius of forty miles.

New Depth Finder.

A new peace-time use has been discovered for the sonic depth finder. When the Navy department was called upon to survey the route of the War department's submarine telegraph cable which serves Alaska, the problem on a rough ocean bed, made up partly of submerged mountains faced it.

By the use of the sonic depth finder —measuring the depth of the water by the angle of reception of the vessel's own propeller sounds which were reflected—the Navy experts were able to make a map of the bed of the ocean without seeing it.

Another use for this war-born device is in protecting Atlantic ship lanes against huge ice-bergs. The distance and bearing of the bergs is obtained by means of echoes given off by the submerged faces of the bergs. While the range is still somewhat limited, scientists hope to perfect the sounder to a degree where it will be comparatively easy to spot icebergs and plot their course.

FAMOUS LAWYER TO AID IN CASE OF DR. NORRIS

"Wild Bill" McLean Hired by D. E. Chipps' Widow.

READS BIBLE

Noted Criminal Attorney Prepares to Prosecute Texas Pastor.

FORT WORTH, Texas.—"Wild Bill" McLean will meet Dr. J. Frank Norris, famous fundamentalist pastor, accused of murder in the slaying of D. E. Chipps, lumberman, on his own grounds when Norris faces a jury.

"Wild Bill," or Judge W. P. McLean, one of the most noted criminal attorneys in the southwest, has been hired by Mrs. Chipps, wife of the man shot to death in the office of the First Baptist church, of which Norris is pastor, as a special prosecutor.

"Wild Bill" is reading the Bible, in the belief that Dr. Norris will cite it in support of his announced plea of self defense. Dr. Norris already has preached several sermons dealing directly and indirectly with the events that occurred when Chipps came to his office to protest against statements the pastor had made against Mayor H. C. Meacham and others of the lumberman's friends.

The Bible Figures.

Fundamentalism is the creed which has made Dr. Norris known throughout the country, and which brought him note through the Searchlight, publication of his church. Since fundamentalism bases its creed on verbatim and literal interpretation of the Bible, McLean is preparing to quote as much of the Bible, and, if possible, more apropos portions than Dr. Norris.

"Of course," he told an interviewer, "I will help try this case very much as I have tried other cases, except that I will be prosecuting where I usually defend. But if Dr. Norris brings religion into his trial I will be prepared for it. I studied theology and the Bible in college, in a Baptist college too, and I have been familiar with it since, because I think every attorney should be. So I will be able to meet the defense on its own grounds."

McLean stated that the case would be tried strictly on the basis of the information given the first investigating grand jury of Tarrant county, which indicated Dr. Norris for murder.

Feared Threats.

Dr. Norris' statement was that Chipps, whom he had not known previously to the day of the killing, had called him on the phone that day, and had told him that he was "coming over to settle with you for the things you said about my friends, Meacham and others." Norris had made various utterances from the pulpit regarding the alleged discharge of members of his church from Meacham's department store, because they refused to quit the church.

Chipps, Dr. Norris said, came to the church study, and after threatening several times to kill the pastor, reached for his hip and Norris shot him.

"I believed my life in danger, so what else could I do?" Norris asked.

Various other witnesses testified to portions of Norris' story at the grand jury proceedings. The testimony of Carl Glaze, 14, who was in the office of Norris on an errand, has not been made public, but the prosecution claims that the indictment was made without the help of that statement.

Chipps Unarmed.

"We will try it as a murder case. From the standpoint of the evidence, Chipps was unarmed, and shot down by the pastor. That is our case and nothing more. We will not, if possible, deal with other matters," said McLean.

"There is a good chance, however, that the religious fight will enter, and I am prepared to combat that defense when and if it is presented.

"Wild Bill" is the attorney who defended Clara Smith when she was accused of the murder of Jake Hammond, Republican leader and oil man of Oklahoma, one of the most picteresque court battles of the southwest."

POLICE OFFICER WINS OUT IN A HARD FOUGHT BATTLE

With the Aid of Tepee Herb Tonic Stomach and Kidney Troubles Are Conquered

To look at Officer F. Brickline of the Elyria, Ohio, police force, one would scarcely imagine that he ever suffered with physical ailments. Dressed up in his uniform he presented the very picture of health and yet there were times when it required his greatest efforts to keep going.

A person of less fortitude would surely have given up but not so with Officer Brickline. He is a man who is made of grit. He never complained as he steadily patrolled his beat and few knew that he ever had a pang of pain. But now, since he is a perfectly well man he does not mind telling his experience with Tepee Herb Tonic—the only medicine that ever relieved him.

Officer Brickline lives at 800 East avenue. He says: "For several years I was troubled with stomach and kidney ailments. I had severe backaches but I paid little attention to them. This summer my ailments were worse than usual. My back ached continually for days at a time.

"My arms and legs also ached and I couldn't sleep soundly at night. My digestion was poor. My food soured and I could taste it for hours. I was constipated and my bowels very, very irregular. Finally I took Redwood's Tepee Tonic and that went right to the spot. It relieved my stomach and kidney troubles almost at once.

OFFICER BRICKLINE.

"It did me more good in a short time than any medicine I have ever taken. My kidneys are now in a normal condition. I sleep soundly and eat what I want. There is no comeback—no indigestion. I don't have any more pains in my back or legs. My work is now a pleasure since Tepee Herb Tonic relieved my ailments.

Tepee Herb Tonic may be had in East Liverpool at Caranhan's Drug Stores.

URGES CHANGE IN TIME FOR STATE PRIMARY

Defense League Head Suggests Remedial Legislation.

ISSUE DEFEATED

Modification Committee Says it is Just First Battle.

ELYRIA, O., Nov. 5.—The tremendous vote cast to retain Ohio's primary law was a clear cut indication that the citizens did not wish to correct certain defects in the legislation by repudiation of the statute, according to J. F. Burke, president of the Defense league, here today.

But in order that these features of the law be eliminated a meeting of the league will be called at once to discuss remedial legislation, Burke announced.

"We will hold a meeting of executives of the league within a few days," the publisher declared, "and agree upon legislation which will be introduced and urged for passage in order that the primary law may function to the highest degree."

Among the changes which the league will seek to remedy is the time for holding primaries.

Committee Not Disappointed.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 5.—"While the result of Tuesday's election with regard to the proposed constitutional amendment has not been finally determined, still it is quite certain that the proposal has been defeated," said Nathan E. Cook, executive secretary of the Ohio Primary Modification committee, this afternoon.

"The committee, consisting of the five public spirited citizens who at a great personal sacrifice gave to the electors of Ohio an opportunity to express their opinion upon this all-important political question," said Mr. Cook, "are not at all disappointed with the result, in fact, it is what they had anticipated. Realizing from the beginning that it would be defeated, they still carried on.

"This is just the first battle in the war," Cook added, "and is only a temporary setback in the great movement to purge the constitution of Ohio of the chief reason for the waning interest in political affairs.

"The time will come and not in the far distant future when after a campaign of education the voters of Ohio will vote 'up' the proposal which they voted 'down' on Tuesday."

INSIST UPON KEMP'S BALSAM for that COUGH!

Woman Thinks She Can't Talk Enough

"I had gall stones for 14 years and suffered severely from gas, colic and indigestion. Doctors wanted me to go to the hospital, but I took MAYR'S instead, and am now feeling fine and better than I ever did. I can't talk enough about this remedy." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.

Wavy—Curly Glossy Hair

By Edna Wallace Hopper

The thousands who see me daily on the stage know how my hair waves and glows. It seems doubly abundant because of the curl. Nearly every girl and woman who sees it would like to have hair like mine.

But I never go to a hairdresser. I have never had a Marcel wave. I simply apply a hair dress which experts made for me. Neither you nor I will probably ever see anything else to compare. It keeps the hair in curl, keeps it in place and gives it a lovely sheen.

This hair dress is known as Edna Wallace Hopper's Wave and Sheen. All toilet counters supply it at 75c per bottle. It will bring you added loveliness more quickly than anything else I know. My guarantee is enclosed with every bottle, so it costs you nothing if it doesn't please. Try it at my expense.

ELYRIA, O., Nov. 5.—The tremendous vote cast to retain Ohio's primary law was a clear cut indication that the citizens did not wish to correct certain defects in the legislation by repudiation of the statute, according to J. F. Burke, president of the Defense league, here today.

But in order that these features of the law be eliminated a meeting of the league will be called at once to discuss remedial legislation, Burke announced.

"We will hold a meeting of executives of the league within a few days," the publisher declared, "and agree upon legislation which will be introduced and urged for passage in order that the primary law may function to the highest degree."

Among the changes which the league will seek to remedy is the time for holding primaries.

Committee Not Disappointed.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 5.—"While the result of Tuesday's election with regard to the proposed constitutional amendment has not been finally determined, still it is quite certain that the proposal has been defeated," said Nathan E. Cook, executive secretary of the Ohio Primary Modification committee, this afternoon.

"The committee, consisting of the five public spirited citizens who at a great personal sacrifice gave to the electors of Ohio an opportunity to express their opinion upon this all-important political question," said Mr. Cook, "are not at all disappointed with the result, in fact, it is what they had anticipated. Realizing from the beginning that it would be defeated, they still carried on.

"This is just the first battle in the war," Cook added, "and is only a temporary setback in the great movement to purge the constitution of Ohio of the chief reason for the waning interest in political affairs.

"The time will come and not in the far distant future when after a campaign of education the voters of Ohio will vote 'up' the proposal which they voted 'down' on Tuesday."

INSIST UPON KEMP'S BALSAM for that COUGH!

Woman Thinks She Can't Talk Enough

"I had gall stones for 14 years and suffered severely from gas, colic and indigestion. Doctors wanted me to go to the hospital, but I took MAYR'S instead, and am now feeling fine and better than I ever did. I can't talk enough about this remedy." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One does will convince or money refunded.

Wavy—Curly Glossy Hair

By Edna Wallace Hopper

The thousands who see me daily on the stage know how my hair waves and glows. It seems doubly abundant because of the curl. Nearly every girl and woman who sees it would like to have hair like mine.

But I never go to a hairdresser. I have never had a Marcel wave. I simply apply a hair dress which experts made for me. Neither you nor I will probably ever see anything else to compare. It keeps the hair in curl, keeps it in place and gives it a lovely sheen.

This hair dress is known as Edna Wallace Hopper's Wave and Sheen. All toilet counters supply it at 75c per bottle. It will bring you added loveliness more quickly than anything else I know. My guarantee is enclosed with every bottle, so it costs you nothing if it doesn't please. Try it at my expense.

Coming Home For Tuxedo

No need for a "bell cow" to guide you to your herd at feeding time. Just give them plenty of Tuxedo Dairy and you'll always find them milling around the gate at sundown waiting for more Tuxedo.

Tuxedo Dairy not only makes every cow produce milk to the limit of her capacity; but it satisfies her taste and keeps her healthy and contented.

See us about our four weeks' trial offer. We sell and recommend the full line of Tuxedo Feeds.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST BAKING POWDER

If you were one of the few who did not attend this cooking school, it is not too late to learn how Calumet simplifies baking and improves foods. Try it. You will find that it wasn't the skill of the expert demonstrator that produced such wonderful results, it was Calumet quality—Calumet's infallible action. You will find too that you can produce bakings every bit as good—every time you use Calumet.

The Double Action of Calumet provides proper leavening force and gives you dependable baking protection.

DOUBLE ACTING means a baking powder with two leavening units. One begins to work when the dough is mixed, the other waits for the heat of the oven, then both units work together. Order a can today. Use the baking powder that is employed by the best cooks in America—CALUMET.

DON LANNING, HOME BOY, NOW SHOW PRODUCER

HERE NEXT WEEK

Touring Company Will Appear at Ceramic Theatre.

Don Lanning, the one time mould runner and batter-out in the potteries of East Liverpool, like all others, had his childish dreams of becoming the owner, director and star of a big touring musical comedy. But in Don's life, much unlike the Alger tales of how boys became millionaires over night, he worked his way from the bottom up. Next week he comes back to his home town with his ambition realized.

A local quartet sprang up in East Liverpool and was composed of Bill Woods, Buck Stevenson, Jack Whitlow and Don, singing tenor. They filled engagements in nearby towns for almost a year, with greatly improving harmony as the time passed by. Later Don went to Akron.

After a few months in the Rubber City, the opportunity presented itself to join a quartet entour. Don took the job and played through the mid-western state until the act broke up in Chicago, and our young hero, rather than hoof it back to East Liverpool, accepted a position as singer in one of Chicago's cabarets where he remained for two years. Then he went in vaudeville for a tour of the mid-western states. He was drafted in Arkansas and went overseas as army entertainer with a troupe of ten, known as the Jambone company of the 332nd infantry. He was discharged in 1918 following the Armistice, and returned here to work for several months in the Knowles, Taylor & Knowles plant.

He later joined the now famous Frank Tinney in an army play in which Don had one of the leads and the entire troupe was composed of ex-soldiers. This company toured the larger cities of the United States and Canada. A year later the show closed and Don returned to the home town, only to join the then popular Jimmie Hodges who was playing at the Ceramic. He was sent to the second company in Detroit. He was placed in charge of the entire company and production as comedian in 1920 after only six months in this kind of work. He stayed with Hodges for three years and then returned to vaudeville for a year. Then he signed another contract with Hodges and became comedian of the Pretty Baby company, playing in a cabaret at Hileah, about five miles from Miami, Fla.

He made a hit with the southern tourists. The following summer he took another of Hodges shows north to Norfolk and Richmond. The following year he returned to Miami. The following summer he organized a musical comedy company, known as the Lanning, Poulliott, Farrell company, with Hodges as manager and J. E. Eviston as business manager and treasurer. This company played to large houses and took Asheville by storm, and through investments in Florida real estate, Don increased his profits to the extent that he financed his own show this year and opened this spring in Atlanta where he did turnaway business for six months.

With him he has such musical comedy notables as Emily Ross, Edna Jacques, Nell Walker, Mildred Robison, Paisey Cullen, Rafe Poulliott, Lew Hampson, Milton Reick, Jack Barbee, Emnett Merill, Bartley Cahill, Fred Brigman and 35 others, including chorus girls whose homes are all south of the Mason-Dixon line.

It is Lanning's plan while here to give three shows, opening with "Very Good Eddie" on Monday and Tuesday, in which he will play the role of Eddie Kettle. Wednesday and Thursday he will offer "Top Holpe," in which he plays the dual role as the wayward son, Bob Corchran, and that of Patrick O'Rourke, a golf instructor from Belfast, Ireland.

There will be two shows each evening, the first starting at 7 and the second at 9 o'clock. There will be three matinees presented—Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

SURE WAY TO STOP NIGHT COUGHING

Relief in 15 Minutes—or No Cost

Persistent night coughing is usually due to causes which ordinary cough mixtures do not touch. A remarkable new prescription known as Thoxine, working on an entirely different principle, goes direct to the cause, stops the stubbornest cough within 15 minutes. One swallow is all that's needed. If it fails, get your money back. Equally good for sore throat for which purpose it is far superior to gargles. No chloroform or other harmful drugs. Excellent for children's sore throat and coughs. 35c., 60c, and $1.00 At all good druggists.

Paris Police Take Preventive Measures To Protect Jewelry

PARIS.—With the famous rose diamond, the Grand Conde, in the hands of clever thieves, steps to increase the safeguarding of other valuable state jewels are now being taken in Paris.

The principal one of these is the "Regent" diamond, now in the Louvre and worth considerably more than the one stolen from the Chantilly museum. It has been stolen once and carried away twice by fugitive rulers, pawned twice to get supplies for the armies of Napoleon who redeemed it in 1802 and wore it in the pommel of his sword when he was crowned Emperor.

It would probably be a very difficult task to make away with it now that it is so safely guarded in the Galerie d'Apollon. It is surrounded by an iron balustrade and the glass protecting it is so thick that a shot from a gun could not even break it. Aside from the special guardians who watch over it, hourly rounds are made by others and at night the table on which the precious gem reposes is lowered into the floor and disappears as if by magic to a spot where few thieves could find it.

Just Delighted With Plant Juice Medicine

Glad to Tell Everybody How Splendid It Has Been For Her, Declares This Columbus Woman.

"My experience with Plant Juice has been so delightful that I am glad to recommend this medicine to others," declares Miss Margaret Kaylor, who is employed at the Ohio school for the blind, in Columbus.

"My case was a most peculiar one—a distressing asthma that had me feeling perfectly miserable. I couldn't lie down and expect to sleep in comfort it troubled me so.

"Well, I have been truly surprised at the wonderful way in which Plant Juice has helped this condition. Rheumatism, which caused me trouble in my knees, is rapidly disappearing, too, and Plant Juice has acted as a general tonic for my entire system. I am going to continue to use Plant Juice and will always keep a bottle on hand."

Miss Margaret Kaylor

Paris Police Take Preventive Measures To Protect Jewelry

PARIS.—With the famous rose diamond, the Grand Conde, in the hands of clever thieves, steps to increase the safeguarding of other valuable state jewels are now being taken in Paris.

The principal one of these is the "Regent" diamond, now in the Louvre and worth considerably more than the one stolen from the Chantilly museum. It has been stolen once and carried away twice by fugitive rulers, pawned twice to get supplies for the armies of Napoleon who redeemed it in 1802 and wore it in the pommel of his sword when he was crowned Emperor.

It would probably be a very difficult task to make away with it now that it is so safely guarded in the Galerie d'Apollon. It is surrounded by an iron balustrade and the glass protecting it is so thick that a shot from a gun could not even break it. Aside from the special guardians who watch over it, hourly rounds are made by others and at night the table on which the precious gem reposes is lowered into the floor and disappears as if by magic to a spot where few thieves could find it.

TO REGULATE THE BOWELS

Nothing Better Than Old Reliable "VINCO" To Put Bowels To Work.

The best evidence of the merit of "VINCO" Herb Tablets is the fact that millions of boxes have been sold although it is now being advertised for the first time.

Good health, good looks and good feeling go together. No man or woman can enjoy life with a sour, sick, bloated stomach, a torpid liver or constipation of the bowels. "VINCO" may prove to be just what you need to put your stomach, liver and bowels to work and make you well again.

Lay aside nasty salts, dangerous calomel or harsh physics. Get a 25c box of harmless, sensible "CINCO." Take a tablet tonight! Feel fine tomorrow! Do a double day's work! Keep looking and feeling young! Do a kindness by telling others about "VINCO!"

Not a drop of dope or harmful drugs in "VINCO." Made of herbs, roots and barks. Does not gripe or sicken. Guaranteed to bring relief. Especially recommended for elderly folks or in chronic obstinate constipation where ordinary laxatives fail

Just Delighted With Plant Juice Medicine

Glad to Tell Everybody How Splendid It Has Been For Her, Declares This Columbus Woman.

"My experience with Plant Juice has been so delightful that I am glad to recommend this medicine to others," declares Miss Margaret Kaylor, who is employed at the Ohio school for the blind, in Columbus.

"My case was a most peculiar one—a distressing asthma that had me feeling perfectly miserable. I couldn't lie down and expect to sleep in comfort it troubled me so.

"Well, I have been truly surprised at the wonderful way in which Plant Juice has helped this condition. Rheumatism, which caused me trouble in my knees, is rapidly disappearing, too, and Plant Juice has acted as a general tonic for my entire system. I am going to continue to use Plant Juice and will always keep a bottle on hand."

Miss Margaret Kaylor

GAME WARDENS GET INTO ACTION

With the opening of the hunting season many deputy game wardens are now operating in various parts of the state. Instructions have been issued from the state bureau to see that the laws are strictly enforced during the season.

Prior to the official opening of the season for squirrels numerous arrests were made by persons who took to the woods in advance of the date set by law. Portion of the fines reverts back to the state fish and game division.

$2,448 MARK IN REVENUE IS HIT BY COURT

October Collections Break Monthly Records.

$65 FOR COUNTY

Collections in municipal court during October reached a new high record of $2,448.14, Miss Lulu Bennett, acting clerk, announced today. The largest month heretofore was May, when $2,358.55 was reported.

Of the October revenue, $2,383.04 went to the city and $65.10 to the county. From fines collected for violation of city ordinances $1,869.58 was collected, while the costs on these actions added $386.50. Costs in civil suits netted $126.96.

The county's revenue included $50 in fines and $15.10 in costs on actions.

Net earnings of the court for the city, after deducting the municipality's share of theoperating expenses, were $1,819.04. This will pay the salaries of about 13 members of the police and fire departments.

Since established on January 1, the court has collected $17,200.48 for the city and a little more than $500 for the county.

The clerk's monthly report shows that 68 civil cases were filed and 114 disposed of. Criminal actions numbered 178, of which 145 were for violation of state laws, while 33 were for infractions of city ordinances.

Twelve state cases are pending while four were dismissed. Seven prisoners were committed to the county jail upon the court's orders.

EAST END

STATE OFFICERS TO ATTEND MEET

State officers of Pennsylvania council will be present at the open meeting of William A. Pike Council No. 2, Order of Independent Americans, to be held next Wednesday night in the Odd Fellows hall, Mulberry street.

Purpose of the visit is to acquaint the people of East Liverpol with the objects of principles of the organization.

This organization in Pennsylvania made possible the reading of the Bible in the public schools and also sponsored the Flag Display bill, and opposes unrestricted immigration.

At the last session of the state council, the Ladies Auxiliary was recognized.

REV. C. A. PIERCE TO FILL PULPIT

Rev. Charles A. Pierce, of Hiram, will speak this evening in the Pennsylvania Avenue Church of Christ. He will also occupy the pulpit at both services Sunday.

Large crowd attended the reception for new members in the church last night. Diversified program was given after which refreshments were served.

Bridge Work Progressing.

Work is progressing on the new bridge spanning the Ohio river at Ambridge, Pa. Concreting has been completed and it is expected the structure will be finished early next spring.

Evangelistic Services.

Lodge Meeting Tonight.

Ohio City Rebekah lodge No. 782, will meet tonight in the Hill building, Mulberry street. Number of matters will be considered at this session.

Notice.

I wish to notify Cassius Squires that I do not wish my name used in connection with the prosecution of the boys of Calcutta on any charge.

Don't Let a Cough or Cold 'Go Down'

If you let a cough get down into your bronchial tubes or lungs, it stops being merely a nuisance and becomes a real danger.

A "head cold" is only a bother while it stays in your head. But once it gets down into the danger zone, serious trouble threatens.

Act promptly to check the cough; to keep the head cold from "going down." Sure and lasting relief is as near as the nearest drug store.

Quickly and unfailingly Ayer's Cherry Pectoral goes straight to the seat of danger. Real medicine, reaching deep with its soothing, healing power, penetrating through and through the irritated membranes of your throat and bronchial tubes.

If you are catching cold; if you have a "head cold"; if your chest is tight; if you have a cough—even if bronchitis has developed—Ayer's Cherry Pectoral at once! Keep your cold from going down into the danger zone.

Cherry Pectoral is pleasant, safe and dependable—for children and grown people. At all druggists—60c; twice as much, $1.00. 1b24c

GLITTER

By Katharine Brush

BOOK FIVE—V.

There was assembled in the Washington Square apartment on the following afternoon a representative group of kindred spirits, to the number of twelve. Of these twelve, six were shooting dice in a circle on the floor. Two — a girl with straight blonde bobbed hair, like yellow paint, and a boy in a West Point uniform—were seated close together on a divan, wearing that desperately solemn expression of countenance young people wear only when they are discussing one another's probable faithlessness. Two more occupied the piano bench and played intermittent ragtime, the girl with both hands, the boy with a somewhat erratic forefinger on the upper end of the keyboard. The host, Johnny, was performing calisthenics with a cocktail shaker. And Mrs. Johnny, in a voluminous blue-checked apron and with a smudge on the tip of her extraordinary nose, was flying back and forth between kitchen and living room demanding, whether or not anybody wanted her to make coffee—"If anybody says yes I'll crown them—"

On one of these trips she paused by her husband's side to say, "What's happened to Jock and Yvonne, do you 'spose?"

"He's not bringing Yvonne," Johnny answered, opening a fresh bottle of gin and sniffing into it with the usual post-Volstead distrust. "He's bringing some other girl. Told me so yesterday. Forgot to tell you about it."

"He is?"

"He is."

"Why, what's that mean?" Peg marveled.

"I don't know," said Johnny, "but I know what I hope."

"Me, too. I don't like her either."

Outside in the street was heard an automobile horn braying a little refrain. "Honk — honky-honk-honk—honk honnnk!"

Peg and Johnny with one accord went to a window and threw it open, drenching their protesting guests with zero air. They hung out. Four stories below they could see Jock's roadster, and Jock assisting to alight from it a diminutive person in a fur coat and a dot of green hat.

"Ship ahoy!" boomed Johnny.

"Wait'll you see what I've brought!" Jock shouted from the sidewalk, and the pair vanished into the doorway below.

Their arrival at the apartment was attended by an untoward mishap. Amy Hazelton, the girl at the piano, understanding that Jock had Yvonne with him and desiring to be apropos, struck crashing chords . . . Jock and Cecily entered to the Bridal March from Lohengrin.

"Why, how nice!" said Cecily, quite unabashed. "Now if somebody'll lend me a lace curtain—"

Amy gasped and jerked her fingers from the keys. "Oh, I'm so sorry—why, I thought of course it would be Yvonne!" she explained brightly.

Peg rushed to the rescue, and without waiting to be introduced to Cecily introduced her to the room at large. "Say hello to these tramps, my dear," she directed, hooking her arm into Cecily's. "The one now lumbering toward us is my warden, Johnny Havens. And this is Elsie Henry, and that's Dinny Purviance—" She recited names rapidly, and Cecily smiled and twinkled; which was really all the current Cecily had to do to conquer.

"Jock seems to be trying to keep it a secret," she said at the end with just the proper touch of diffidence, "but my name's Cecily—"

And inside of a minute they were calling her Cecily, with unanimous cordiality. They were making quite a little stir about her. Dinny dragged her coat from her shoulders, and Johnny handed her a drink, and some one else proffered cigarettes, and the crap shooters shifted to make room for her. And in a few minutes more she was down among them on the floor, leaning on one palm, shaking the dice in the other, her wavy brown hair half hiding her cheeks as she bent to see whether or not she got that "Ada from Decatur" she had cried for.

Through all this Jock stood quietly watching; and his were sensations like unto those of a parent whose offspring performs creditably, even brilliantly, at a public entertainment. "I knew it!" he crowed in secret. "Takes to 'em like a duck to water—and they to her!" He continued to watch her, entirely unconscious of himself. She lost the dice and sat up straight, a slim, supple figure in modish green, with a noteworthy ankle and calf showing beyond the hem of the green skirt. Larry Vane, who sat next her, said something to her in an aside and she laughed, throwing her head back. That line of her throat . . . entrancing . . . Larry looked as if he thought so too. . . .

"Jock," said Peg's voice plaintively, "are you going to stand around till doomsday in that overcoat?" And, as he slid out of the coat with guilty haste, there were cruckles and pointed remarks. He saw that his engrossed attention to Cecily had been misinterpreted, and he was confused and angry. "They ought to know better than that!" he told himself peevishly. "They all know about Yvonne. Do they think I'm one of the two-time boys, for heaven's sake?"

After that he took pains not to gaze too often or too long in her direction; but he contrived to miss nothing.

The crap game gave way in time to informal dancing. Rugs were rolled up, chairs sent spinning into corners, Amy Hazelton instructed to play "That thing that goes 'ta'ta-tum-te-ta,' you know, and not too fast!" Cecily, flushed and merry, her hands full of crumpled one-dollar bills, was pulled to her feet by Larry and another youth and literally fought over. Finally Dinny Purviance settled the question by carrying her off himself.

Jock danced with Peg. She had pulled her apron around so that it hung from her shoulders down her back like a court train; now she threw it over both their heads. There was an outbreak of comment: "Holy smoke, will you pipe that?" . . . "What is it?" . . . "It's the covered wagon!" . . . "It's a laundry bag with legs!" . . . "Hey, Johnny, better look into this!"

Peg, paying no attention, said in Jock's ear under the sheltering gingham, "She's a knockout! Who is she?"

"Since when?"

"Oh, I've known her a long time. Met her over a year ago, and discovered her again New Year's Eve."

"I should think you'd feel as though you'd discovered America," Peg declared briskly. "I'm sold on her. So's Johnny. So's everybody. Be sure to bring her again."

"I will," Jock promised. Even as he promised, he thought, "But I can't, very many times. I'll be married in a month, and they don't want Yvonne."

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestents are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

Engaged to Duke

Miss Audrey Emery (above), daughter of Mrs. Alfred Anson of New York City, is to wed Grand Duke Dmitri of Russia, according to word received in New York. Dmitri has been acting as personal representative of Grand Duke Cyril, who proclaimed himself, in Paris, as Cyril I, Emperor of Russia.

$1,000,000 for this way to end Colds

One of the world's largest laboratories perfected a way to end colds. It combined a number of modern discoveries. That way proved itself so efficient, so quick, so complete that we paid $1,000,000 for it.

That way is called HILL'S. It checks a cold in 24 hours. It ends the fever, stops the headache. It opens the bowels, tones the entire system. And without any ill effects. As a result, one usually feels better than before the cold began.

Millions now employ it. When they learn its results they keep it ever on hand. Then a cold rarely gets started.

Here is all-in-all for colds—the best modern science knows. Things will change tomorrow if you take it now. Go start it without delay.

Chicken Croquettes

A Tested Recipe by Winifred S. Carter

2 cups chopped cold chicken
2 tablespoons finely chopped celery
Few grains nutmeg
¾ cup fine bread crumbs
2 tablespoons water
1 egg
1 cup very thick white sauce

Put chicken through meat grinder. Add celery, nutmeg and hot White Sauce, and mix well. Season more if necessary. Chill. Form into croquettes or cutlets. Roll in crumbs, dip in slightly beaten egg diluted with water, and roll again in crumbs. Fry in deep hot Crisco (375 to 400 degrees F.) about 5 minutes. Drain on unglazed paper. (½ cup chopped cooked mushrooms may be added to this recipe if desired.)

WHITE SAUCE

2 tablespoons Crisco
4 tablespoons flour
¾ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 cup milk

Melt Crisco, add flour, salt and pepper and mix well. Add milk slowly and bring to the boiling point, stirring constantly to avoid lumping. Place over hot water until ready to use.

(All measurements level)

In frying with Crisco, notice that Crisco never smokes or makes an unpleasant odor at proper frying temperature. And remember that Crisco alone meets your every need of a shortening and cooking fat. It is just the thing for light, tender cakes, fluffy biscuits, flaky pie crust and dainty desserts.

GLITTER

By Katharine Brush

BOOK FIVE—V.

There was assembled in the Washington Square apartment on the following afternoon a representative group of kindred spirits, to the number of twelve. Of these twelve, six were shooting dice in a circle on the floor. Two — a girl with straight blonde bobbed hair, like yellow paint, and a boy in a West Point uniform—were seated close together on a divan, wearing that desperately solemn expression of countenance young people wear only when they are discussing one another's probable faithlessness. Two more occupied the piano bench and played intermittent ragtime, the girl with both hands, the boy with a somewhat erratic forefinger on the upper end of the keyboard. The host, Johnny, was performing calisthenics with a cocktail shaker. And Mrs. Johnny, in a voluminous blue-checked apron and with a smudge on the tip of her extraordinary nose, was flying back and forth between kitchen and living room demanding, whether or not anybody wanted her to make coffee—"If anybody says yes I'll crown them—"

On one of these trips she paused by her husband's side to say, "What's happened to Jock and Yvonne, do you 'spose?"

"He's not bringing Yvonne," Johnny answered, opening a fresh bottle of gin and sniffing into it with the usual post-Volstead distrust. "He's bringing some other girl. Told me so yesterday. Forgot to tell you about it."

"He is?"

"He is."

"Why, what's that mean?" Peg marveled.

"I don't know," said Johnny, "but I know what I hope."

"Me, too. I don't like her either."

Outside in the street was heard an automobile horn braying a little refrain. "Honk — honky-honk-honk—honk honnnk!"

Peg and Johnny with one accord went to a window and threw it open, drenching their protesting guests with zero air. They hung out. Four stories below they could see Jock's roadster, and Jock assisting to alight from it a diminutive person in a fur coat and a dot of green hat.

"Ship ahoy!" boomed Johnny.

"Wait'll you see what I've brought!" Jock shouted from the sidewalk, and the pair vanished into the doorway below.

Their arrival at the apartment was attended by an untoward mishap. Amy Hazelton, the girl at the piano, understanding that Jock had Yvonne with him and desiring to be apropos, struck crashing chords . . . Jock and Cecily entered to the Bridal March from Lohengrin.

"Why, how nice!" said Cecily, quite unabashed. "Now if somebody'll lend me a lace curtain—"

Amy gasped and jerked her fingers from the keys. "Oh, I'm so sorry—why, I thought of course it would be Yvonne!" she explained brightly.

Peg rushed to the rescue, and without waiting to be introduced to Cecily introduced her to the room at large. "Say hello to these tramps, my dear," she directed, hooking her arm into Cecily's. "The one now lumbering toward us is my warden, Johnny Havens. And this is Elsie Henry, and that's Dinny Purviance—" She recited names rapidly, and Cecily smiled and twinkled: which was really all the current Cecily had to do to conquer.

"Jock seems to be trying to keep it a secret," she said at the end with just the proper touch of diffidence, "but my name's Cecily—"

And inside of a minute they were calling her Cecily, with unanimous cordiality. They were making quite a little stir about her. Dinny dragged her coat from her shoulders, and Johnny handed her a drink, and some one else proffered cigarettes, and the crap shooters shifted to make room for her. And in a few minutes more she was down among them on the floor, leaning on one palm, shaking the dice in the other, her wavy brown hair half hiding her cheeks as she bent to see whether or not she got that "Ada from Decatur" she had cried for.

Through all this Jock stood quietly watching; and his were sensations like unto those of a parent whose offspring performs creditably, even brilliantly, at a public entertainment. "I knew it!" he crowed in secret. "Takes to 'em like a duck to water—and they to her!" He continued to watch her, entirely unconscious of himself. She lost the dice and sat up straight, a slim, supple figure in modish green, with a noteworthy ankle and calf showing beyond the hem of the green skirt. Larry Vane, who sat next her, said something to her in an aside and she laughed, throwing her head back. That line of her throat . . . entrancing . . . Larry looked as if he thought so too. . . .

"Jock," said Peg's voice plaintively, "are you going to stand around till doomsday in that overcoat?" And, as he slid out of the coat with guilty haste, there were cruckles and pointed remarks. He saw that his engrossed attention to Cecily had been misinterpreted, and he was confused and angry. "They ought to know better than that!" he told himself peevishly. "They all know about Yvonne. Do they think I'm one of the two-time boys, for heaven's sake?"

After that he took pains not to gaze too often or too long in her direction; but he contrived to miss nothing.

The crap game gave way in time to informal dancing. Rugs were rolled up, chairs sent spinning into corners. Amy Hazelton instructed to play "That thing that goes 'ta'ta-tum-te-ta,' you know, and not too fast!" Cecily, flushed and merry, her hands full of crumpled one-dollar bills, was pulled to her feet by Larry and another youth and literally fought over. Finally Dinny Purviance settled the question by carrying her off himself.

Jock danced with Peg. She had pulled her apron around so that it hung from her shoulders down her back like a court train; now she threw it over both their heads. There was an outbreak of comment: "Holy smoke, will you pipe that?" . . . "What is it?" . . . "It's the covered wagon!" . . . "It's a laundry bag with legs!" . . . "Hey, Johnny, better look into this!"

Peg, paying no attention, said in Jock's ear under the sheltering gingham, "She's a knockout! Who is she?"

"Since when?"

"I should think you'd feel as though you'd discovered America," Peg declared briskly. "I'm sold on her. So's Johnny. So's everybody. Be sure to bring her again."

"I will," Jock promised. Even as he promised, he thought, "But I can't, very many times. I'll be married in a month, and they don't want Yvonne."

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestents are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

Engaged to Duke

$1,000,000 for this way to end Colds

One of the world's largest laboratories perfected a way to end colds. It combined a number of modern discoveries. That way proved itself so efficient, so quick, so complete that we paid $1,000,000 for it.

That way is called HILL'S. It checks a cold in 24 hours. It ends the fever, stops the headache. It opens the bowels, tones the entire system. And without any ill effects. As a result, one usually feels better than before the cold began.

Millions now employ it. When they learn its results they keep it ever on hand. Then a cold rarely gets started.

Here is all-in-all for colds—the best modern science knows. Things will change tomorrow if you take it now. Go start it without delay.

Chicken Croquettes

A Tested Recipe by Winifred S. Carter

2 cups chopped cold chicken
2 tablespoons finely chopped celery
Few grains nutmeg
¾ cup fine bread crumbs
2 tablespoons water
1 egg
1 cup very thick white sauce

Put chicken through meat grinder. Add celery, nutmeg and hot White Sauce, and mix well. Season more if necessary. Chill. Form into croquettes or cutlets. Roll in crumbs, dip in slightly beaten egg diluted with water, and roll again in crumbs. Fry in deep hot Crisco (375 to 400 degrees F.) about 5 minutes. Drain on unglazed paper. (½ cup chopped cooked mushrooms may be added to this recipe if desired.)

WHITE SAUCE

2 tablespoons Crisco
4 tablespoons flour
¾ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 cup milk

Melt Crisco, add flour, salt and pepper and mix well. Add milk slowly and bring to the boiling point, stirring constantly to avoid lumping. Place over hot water until ready to use.

MICHELHAM ART SALE SET FOR NOVEMBER 23

Treasure Will go on Auction Block in London.

200 PICTURES

LONDON.—The coming sale of the art treasures of the late Lord Michelham is expected to be the most sensational event of its kind in the history of the auction-room.

Hamptons, the internationally known English auctioneers, will begin the disposal of this great collection of pictures, art, furniture, porcelain, tapestries etcetera, which took Lord Michelham many years to gather together, on November 23.

Already they have been inundated with inquiries from dealers and connoisseurs the world over for particulars of the sale, and a record attendance is anticipated.

Nearly two hundred pictures of class are to be sold, and of fifteen of them it may safely be said that any one would invest a sale with first-class importance.

At a modest estimate these fifteen, which have vastly increased in value since their purchase by Lord Michelham, are expected by experts to realize between a million dollars.

Famous Pictures.

The fifteen include four fine Romneys, two of them rivalling in interest the famous portait of Mrs. Davenport, by the same master, which brought the record price of approximately $300,000 when sold by Sir William Bromley-Davenport last July.

Gem of the Michelham Romneys is the portrait of Anne Lady De La Pole—a beautiful work which lay hidden away for more than a century in a Devonshire country house before its value and importance were realized. Twenty-three years ago Sir Joseph Duveen, the famous London art dealer, paid $70,000 odd for it.

The other great Romneys in the collection are portraits of Lady Elizabeth Forbes, the "Three Children of Captain Little," and one of the celebrated Lady Hamilton as the "Ambassadress." "Emma" Hamilton was a favorite sitter of Romneys, and some of his finest work is seen in his portraits of her.

Two works by Sir Thomas Lawrence, an early president of the Royal Academy, three Hoppners, including a portrait of Lady Louise Manners, for which Charles Wertheimer paid $210,000 twenty-five years ago the then highest price ever paid in an auction room for a single picture.

Expect U. S. Bidders.

The collection also includes two of the better examples of Raeburn's work, a portrait of Mrs. Robertson Williamson, for which Sir Joseph Duveen paid $75,000 in 1911, and a portrait of Lord Dundas.

There are also two examples of the work of Gainsborough—Master Heathcote and Miss Tatton. Big prices are expected to be realized for these two works, especially if there is any strenuous competition from American buyers.

It is admitted that the financial success of the sale will depend on the interest exhibited by American dealers and buyers. Indications point to Americans being strongly represented, and the pick of the collection is expected to find a resting-place in the homes of American millionaires.

Electrification of Austrian railways is proceeding so rapidly that the lines to the Swiss frontier will probably be operated by current next year.

Thirteen church bell ringers of towns in Surrey, England, recently visited 13 other towns and rang a peal in each.

After serving for thirty-eight years, George Risley, recently resigned as leader of the choral society of Bristol, England.

Christmas presents in Germany will be fewer this year, according to merchants who are preparing for the holiday trade.

Where Hills Eat Oil!
Sterling is more economical and Safer

The Thousand Mile Oil.

When you are driving in a country where the land is all "on edge", it's not always safe to trust your engine to a short-mileage oil.

Short-mileage oil means short wear oil. And if there is any place on earth where it is necessary to have oil that will stand the "gaff", it's the miles-in-low, you use in the hill country.

Sterling is the long distance oil—1000 miles in safety without change.

Long-mileage oil means long wear oil.

Sterling is safer on the hills and on the long run and doesn't cost a penny more.

Get the Sterling habit and put back into your pocket half the money you usually spend for oil.

Where Hills Eat Oil!

Sterling is more economical and Safer

The Thousand Mile Oil.

When you are driving in a country where the land is all "on edge", it's not always safe to trust your engine to a short-mileage oil.

Short-mileage oil means short wear oil. And if there is any place on earth where it is necessary to have oil that will stand the "gaff", it's the miles-in-low, you use in the hill country.

Sterling is the long distance oil—1000 miles in safety without change.

Long-mileage oil means long wear oil.

Sterling is safer on the hills and on the long run and doesn't cost a penny more.

Get the Sterling habit and put back into your pocket half the money you usually spend for oil.

PAIN, NEURITIS, ACHING JOINTS

"Heet" Relieves Instantly

With applicator attached to cork, just brush "Heet" over the pain area, whether in hands, elbows, shoulders, feet, knees, legs, back, neck or body. Instantly, you feel this harmless, glorious, penetrating heat draw the pain, soreness and stiffness right out of the aching or swollen joint, muscle or nerve. Besides, "Heet" scatters the congestion and establishes a cure.

"Heet" contains two soothing, penetrating ingredients, too expensive to use in ordinary liniments or analgesics. "Heet" is a clean, pleasant liquid; doesn't stain, blister or irritate the skin and costs only 60 cents at any drug store.

"GIRL FRIEND" HERE NOV. 16

Lew Fields' Stage Success Coming to Ceramic.

Lew Fields' "The Girl Friend," to which on its premiere in New York City last season the audience is said to have opened its arms and its heart and received its with a spontaneous burst of uproarious welcome, and which played to large audiences through the summer and is still drawing throngs to the Vanderbilt theatre in the metropolis, will be the offering at the Ceramic theatre Tuesday evening, Nov. 16.

The book of "The Girl Friend" is by Herbert Fields, the lyrics by Lorenz Hart and the music by Richard Rogers, the trio responsible for "Dearest Enemy" and "Garrick Gaieties." It is said to tower head and shoulders above most of the musical comedies which have come to this city. There is enough material in it for two of the ordinary pieces of its kind, which are usually built around one of two tuneful songs and generously padded. Every song in "The Girl Friend" is said to be meritorious and, of course, all music lovers are familiar with the hits of the production, "The Girl Friend" and "The Blue Room," through having heard them over the radio. And so far as fun is concerned the show is cerdited with being a gale of laughter from start to finish. There is nothing serious about the play from first to last, nothing in fact but tuneful music, lot of fun and froth and beautiful girls.

The story concerns a young Long Island dairyman who has ambition to become a professional bicycle rider. The boy is a simple country lad, who has effected a successful combination of business and pleasure by lending his wheel to the service of the churning machine. He is taken up by a manager of sports, and although dastarly schemes are afoot to thwart him, eventually he wins the bicycle race and his rustic girl friend in the bargain.

Lew Fields of the famous team of comedians, Weber and Fields who were the rage of America in the days of Weber and Fields' Music Hall in New York, and producer of "The Girl Friend," supervised the entire production. And it is said the players enter into the run of the piece with a spirit that never flags, and the chorus is well-trained, graceful and vivacious and can sing and dance.

Among the principal players are Allan Gold, Frances Dewey, George B. Phelps, Gladys James, George Bogues, Anita Wright, Teddy Deurr, Frances King, Elizabeth Raymond, John McNamara, Helen Reilly, Charles Cooley, Jimmy Cort and Barry Bernard.

Prince of Wales to Gain From Opening Of Cornwall Mines

LONDON.—The Prince of Wales is likely to be one of the fortunate beneficiaries from the great tin gamble. Some of the mines on his estates in Cornwall are likely to be re-opened in consequence of the world's demand for tin at any price.

In fact, so tempting are the rewards, that adventurers in Cornwall, with tin at over $1,500 per ton, are prospecting for likely spots to "tin-streaming."

At one spot, known as Portheras Beach, streaks of black tin particles appear in ridges in the sands after each tide. These are to be raked off as the tide recedes, and raised by means of an aerial basket to the workings in the valley above where the tin miners will mill and "buddle" the sands on approved principles and send the product to the smelters.

Although the British Empire, on account of the great mines in the Maley States and other tin-bearing countries controlls nearly 60 per cent of the world's output, and can sell to the United States and the rest of the world at practically any price, the home manufacturer is suffering just as much from the 300 per cent rise in value as the foreign consumer. Hence the attempt to get at any tin left in Britain, even though the working had previously been regarded as unprofitable.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Final Homage Will Be Paid "Fiacre" Next Year in Paris

PARIS—Final homage to the fiacre in Paris will be paid by motorists, cyclists and pedestrians on the first of April next year. The ceremony is being arranged by the sporting newspaper, "L'Auto."

Once practically the sole means of speedy locomotion on Paris streets, there are now only 44 fiacres in operation in the city. "L'Auto" expects that a rigorous winter will cause the disappearance of these last 44.

If it doesn't the ceremony will be delayed.

Copyright, 1926, by the Star Co.

THE election figures come out, all disappointing and all pleasing to someone. They seem unimportant to the people on the Mojave desert, in California, where this is written. The couple digging a well with pick and shovel, now down 140 feet back in the valley, care little about the gibness or littleness of Al Smith's vote in New York, George Brennan's vote in Illinois, or Butler's defeat in Massachusetts.

The husband is down in the well, hammering his way through hardpan, not more than 18 inches gained in a hard day's work His wife, at the top, hauls up the dirt by windlass power.

Not who is elected but how much farther down to water, is their question.

Everything depends on where you are, and what you are doing. Travel three thousand miles out here, where the mail ships fly overhead and the wind roars across the mountains from the Pacific, and you wonder that "who's elected' could ever seem important.

THE evil that men do lives after them, especially when it is foolish talk to their children. Mamolo Zamboni thought he was an anarchist and talked anarchy against all government to his three sons. The war's end made anarchy seem so near that Zamboni lost his taste for it and joined the Fascisti, following Mussolini.

But his 18-year-old son, Anteo, remembered and remained faithful to his father's theorizing. The father, last Sunday night, saw his young son's body in the Bologna police station, stabbed and kicked to death by a mob for attempting the life of Mus-

COURT WILL NOT GO TO HOSPITAL TO HEAR 'PIG WOMAN'S' STORY

DEATH SCENE PHOTOS OFFERED

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN

COURT HOUSE, SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 5.—James Mills, husband of Mrs. Eleanor Mills, who with the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall, was shot to death in a "Lover's Lane" on the night of Sept. 14, 1922, took the stand at 11:45 this morning in the famous Hall-Mills murder trial.

Thin, Pale Faced Man.

Mills is a thin, pale faced man, with a receding chin and a high forehead which slopes back from a head that hasn't much hair on it. He seemed prepared for the occasion. His hair was plastered down neatly as if he had just come from the barber shop.

"Where do you live?" Prosecutor Simpson asked in his incisive voice.

"New Brunswick."

"How long have you lived in New Brunswick?"

"All my life."

He said he was 48 years old.

In answer to a question he said, yes, Mrs. Mills, who was shot to death beneath the crabapple tree, was his wife.

"How old was she when she died?"

"I should say 35."

They were married in 1905, he testified, and had two children, Charlotte and Daniel, who were living with him at the time of the murder.

He said his wife became connected with the Church of St. John the Evangelist before he married her. Mills, who was sexton of the church, said he was paid $35 a week.

"What did Mrs. Minna Clark do besides looking after Sunday school equipment and priestly robes?" Mills was asked.

"Nothing."

"Did you ever see Mrs. Clark rummaging the books in the study?"

"No."

Mrs. Hall Watches Witness.

Mrs. Hall watched Mills with a pale, expressionless face. Willie Stevens bent forward, his bulbous eyes on the witness and his hand cupped to his ear, listening to every word. The other defendant, Henry Stevens, sat rigidly in his chair, his florid face set and inscrutable.

Mills never once looked their way.

Custer Massacre Scout Asks $125 For Horse's Death

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—For one horse shot on the Custer battlefield—$125.

This bill, 50 years old, will be presented to Uncle Sam by William G. Bailey, aged retired scout of Indian wars.

Bailey says he was sent by Major Reno to get medical supplies and rush them to the reported scene of the General Custer massacre in the battle of the Little Big Horn in Montana.

His horse was shot. He, and other scouts, he says, owned their horses. Having just been told he is entitled to reimbursement he has persuaded Senator Lynn J. Frazier, North Dakota, to father a bill in congress to pay him.

GASTON SAYS SCHOOLS FACE $25,000 DEFICIT

Enough Funds to Pay Salaries Until Jan. 1.

$48,765 IN BANK

Bonds and Interest Due December 1 Total $6,700.

A deficit of approximately $25,000 will face the East Liverpool district schools on December 31, board of education members were advised by Emmett J. Gaston, clerk-treasurer, at the semi-monthly meeting in the high school building last evening.

Gaston reported a bank balance of $48,765.77, a little more than the payroll of teachers and janitors for November and December.

Bonds and interest due December 1 total $6,700. Bills for coal, light, insurance, supplies and other current expenses are still outstanding and thousands of dollars more in bills are expected before the end of the year, Gaston said.

Basketball Coach Named.

The schools had a deficit of approximately $35,000 at the end of 1925, but this debt was wiped out after the board took advantage of the Baxter tax relief measure, which permitted issuance of bonds to meet bills out-

School Levy Wins Two to One; Bonds Lose by 105 Votes

Electors of the East Liverpool school district approved the proposed 2.3 mill levy by a ratio of more than two to one at Tuesday's election, according to the official tabulation.

The vote was: "Yes, 2,984; no, 1,427. Every polling place in the district with the exception of Precinct D of the Fourth ward returned majorities in favor of the levy.

The proposed $225,000 city hall bond issue, while it received a majority, failed by a margin of 105 to poll the required 55 per cent vote. The vote was: Yes, 2,032; no, 1,854. To carry the bond issue 2,137 votes were required.

ARMISTICE DAY STREET PARADE IS PLANNED BY WAR VETERANS

Private Eddy Post Will Unfurl City Service Flag.

DINNER AT NOON

Afternoon Football Game and Evening Program.

A street parade, dinner and the unfurling of the city service flag, containing approximately 1,200 stars, will be features of the Community Armistice Day celebration, sponsored by Private Eddy Post No. 66, Veterans of Foreign Wars, which will be held here on Thursday, November 11.

The service flag, which, recently came into possession of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, was found moth-eaten, tattered, torn and dirty. It has been cleaned and re-made by the post.

Mayor Ralph C. Benedum will unfurl the flag. Beside it will hang two smaller flags, each containing 631 stars, which will be unfurled at same time. Two other flags, having 37 flowers, representing the men who made the supreme sacrifice during the World war, will be displayed for the first time in connection with this service, which will take place at the Veterans of Foreign Wars club rooms, Fifth and Market street, at 12 o'clock noon.

Parade at 10:30 A. M.

The observance will begin at 10:30 o'clock with a parade forming at Fifth and Market street. The route follows: Fifth street to Broadway, to Sixth, to Diamond or Jackson street, to Fourth, to Carnegie library. Church bells will ring and factory whistles will be blown for a five-minute period prior to 11 o'clock. A two-minute period of silence will be observed just before the exercises begin.

Allegiance to the flag will be given by the entire assemblage, directed by School Superintendent C. S. McVay, at the exercises in front of the Carnegie library. "America" will be sung under the leadership of Prof. H. F. Laughlin, followed by an address by Common Pleas Judge-elect W. F. Lones. "The Star Spangled Banner" will then be sung by the assemblage after which a salute will be fired and taps sounded. The Eagles' degree team probably will give an exhibition drill on Broadway at the conclusion of the open air exercises.

Exercises in Post Rooms.

The open air meeting will precede unfurling of the service flag in the post rooms. A community dinner will be served in the club rooms at noon at a charge of 75 cents per plate. A short program will follow the dinner. Music will be rendered by a panatrope, furnished by the Smith & Phillips Music company.

The afternoon program will include a football game between the Toronto Tigers and a team containing many former college football stars, which is being organized by George Kidder, high school coach.

The Veterans will give an entertainment open to the public at 7:30 o'clock. Musical numbers will be featured by the Kiwanis Glee club, led by Prof. H. F. Laughlin.

Annexation Plan Hearing at Lisbon Monday Morning

Hearing on the application of the city of East Liverpool for permission to annex certain property bordering on the present corporation limits will be conducted by the county commissioners at Lisbon Monday morning.

Maps of the territory have been filed with County Auditor Elmer E. Walker. The annexation plan is sponsored by the planning commission and has the approval of the mayor and city council.

The city will be represented by Solicitor Frank Hoover.

The commissioners will conduct a hearing with regard to the assessments for the improvement of the Harrisville-Westville road in Butler township also on Monday.

TWO OHIOANS ASPHYXIATED

FOSTORIA, O., Nov. 5.—The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Bennis, deaf mutes, were discovered in their home here today by J. E. Whiteman, a farmer for whom Bennis worked, who broke down the door. They had been asphyxiated.

The couple had not been seen since Tuesday, thus arousing the suspicions of Whiteman, who began a search for them. The nature of the gas which caused their death has not been discovered.

MOVIE STAR SUES TO PROVE HER AGE

Lucy Dorraine.

While admitting that it is no crime to mention a woman's age without her consent, Lucy Dorraine, German movie star, thinks it ought to be made a penal offense to state that a woman is older than she actually is. She has filed suit for $10,000 damages against the publishers of a theatrical took in which her age was given as 32. She says she is twenty-eight and a half and can prove it.

Lindell and Kelly Seek Second Ward Council Place

Solons Accept Resignation of Edgar H. Heddleston, But Defer Action on Successor for Two Weeks.

Council last night accepted the resignation of Edgar H. Heddleston, member from the Second ward, and declared the seat vacant. Election of a successor was deferred for two weeks in order to permit applicants to file applications.

Heddleston, who is employed in a pottery at Niles, has not been in attendance all the sessions for several weeks.

Applications of H. S. Lindell, secretary of Windland Brothers, contractors, and William H. Kelly, grocer, were read and ordered filed. Kelly's application was signed by 20 residents of the ward.

Resolution was passed under suspension of rules authorizing the grading of Spring Grove avenue from the Lincoln highway to Wyoming avenue.

Service-Safety Director J. W. Moore was instructed to have a brick sidewalk laid on Ridgeway avenue which was damaged by the city in making an improvement. He was also directed to investigate several complaints, including damage by blasting to the property of Charles Wilson, Trentvale street.

Clerk Shone was instructed to notify two property owners in First street, East End, to have new sidewalks laid in conformity with an ordinance of council.

Vote of thanks was extended to the Review-Tribune and Potters' Herald for support of the city hall bond proposal which was rejected by the voters.

DETECTIVE ACE SEEKS MURDER COUNT AGAINST MORRIS NADEL

Binds Loose Ends of Don Mellett Assassination.

McDermott May Not be Arraigned in Court Today.

CANTON, O., Nov. 5.—While Prosecutor C. B. McClintock was making arrangements today for the arraignment of Pat McDermott on a first degree murder indictment, in connection with the shooting down of Don R. Mellet, militant Canton publisher, Ora Slater, Cincinnati sleuth, began his investigation of Morris Nadel's connection with the assassination.

Mazer Represents McDermott.

Slater, "home-spun psychologist", who has bound together many of the loose ends of the mystery, returned last night from Cincinnati, where he had been confined to his home with illness and today told International News service that bit by bit he was building a hole-proof case against Nadel and hoped soon to be able to present sufficient evidence to the grand jury which would warrant the handing down a true bill against the suspect.

McClintock's attempt to secure an arraignment of the alleged "key figure" today will be met with opposition from E. L. Mills, Canton attorney for Louis Mazer and Ben Rudner, who was selected late yesterday by Pat as his attorney.

"The statutes provide," Mills said, "that from twenty-four hours to two weeks must be granted a man served with an indictment for conference with his attorney, before he is arraigned.

"Pat was served with the indictment yesterday and has had no opportunity to confer with me, so I will insist that the judge allow several days to pass before arraigning him."

Demand Mazer Trial First.

Storm clouds also hovered over McClintock's demand, to be presented today, that McDermott be tried before Mazer, whose case was to open Monday.

Mills announced that he intended to ask Judge Edwin Diehl to overrule McClintock's request and he will insist that Mazer go to trial on Monday as scheduled.

"We have prepared a case for Ma-

2 DEAD, 4 HURT IN RAIL CRASH

Pennsy Freight Trains Collide at Millersburg, Pa.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Nov. 5.—Two trainmen were killed and four others severely injured early today when two extra freight trains on the Pennsylvania railroad collided at Millersburg, 30 miles from here, according to reports to the Pennsylvania offices here.

The men killed were Paul T. Bailey, Lykens, Pa., an engineer, and Wilbur J. Sees, Sunbury, a brakeman.

According to reports, a local train on the Lykens branch of the Pennsylvania railroad ran onto the main line near Millersburg, and crashed head-on with a main line freight.

Majority of Sheriff George Wright, of Lisbon, Republican, over F. C. Armstrong, Elkton, his Democratic opponent, in Tuesday's balloting was increased to 1,125 votes in the official tabulation, completed by the Columbiana county board of deputy state supervisors of elections at Lisbon, last evening.

Although his name was not printed on the ballot, Attorney Harry Brokaw, of East Liverpool, received 669 ballots for prosecuting attorney, 443 of which were cast under the Democratic column and 226 on the Republican ticket. H. Brookhart, Columbiana, received 26 votes on the Democratic ticket for the same office to which Prosecutor Robert M. Brookes, of East Liverpool, was re-elected with a total vote of 10,328.

Conrad Berg, Democratic incumbent, cut the majority of J. Howard Sinclair, Republican, for county commissioner to 4,470 as compared to 5,184 given Sinclair in the semi-official vote. Changes were also made in the votes given the candidates for county treasurer, recorder, coroner, clerk of courts, state representative and state senator.

Congressman Frank Murphy, Republican, Steubenville, led the ticket in the county, polling 11,956 ballots. Frank Ballantine, Republican, unopposed for clerk of courts, was a close second with 11,902 Fred George, Republican, who was opposed by Dr. Joseph Williamson for county treasurer, polled 11,463 votes.

On the judicial ticket W. F. Lones was given a majority of 1,237 over Judge W. H. Spence, of Lisbon, runner-up in the three-cornered common pleas judgeship fight. Probate Judge Lodge Riddle, also of Lisbon, gained votes in this count but ran 1,473 behind the winner.

The proposed amendment to the primary law was rejected. 9,638 to 4,458.

The total vote in the county was 18,494, which is approximately 60 per cent of the poll in the presidential election two years ago, when the total vote exceeded the 30,000 mark.

Lead of Myers Y. Cooper, Republican nominee for governor, over A. V. Donahey, Democrat, was reduced from 3,223 given him in the semi-official count to 2,589 in the official canvass.

United States Senator Frank B. Willis also increased his lead over Atlee Pomerene, Democratic opponent, from 5,787 in the unofficial to 6,121 in the official count.

There was no change in the vote for the two leading candidates for lieutenant-governor and minor changes

Henry Kadish, Denver Patriarch of Jewry Dies at Age of 108

For many years a familiar figure on the streets of Denver, Kadish enjoyed good health up to within a week of his death, which was hastened by a fall that broke his right leg.

Born in Russia in 1818, the white haired, full bearded old man had experienced a fullsome life of sorrow and sadness, joy and achievement that ended amid comfortable circumstances and found him beloved by thousands of friends and neighbors in this city.

Kadish, in his early life, rose from private in the czar's army to the rank of general, and is believed to have been the only general in the Crimean war of Jewish birth.

A Presidential Nursery

In 1826 John Quincy Adams, President of the United States, started a tree nursery in the White House grounds. Many of the trees he planted including the famous Adam's elm, are still there.

He says in his diary: "I shall plant more for the public than for myself." One hundred years later, the American public enjoy the fruits of his worthy avocation.

All of us can plant, while we live, things that will grow and live after us. Every worthy seedling thought, idea and action has the prospect of immortality.

The store that would succeed in an impressive way must plant for the public as well as for itself. The progress of this store is only limited by its ability to serve the public interest sincerely and intelligently.

ENGLAND WINS CONGRESS RACE

Election of E. T. England, Republican and former attorney general of the state, as representative in the sixth congressional district, and of Walter S. Hallanan, Republican and former state tax commissioner, to the state senate in the eighth district was determined on close margins by tabulations yesterday that included rechecking of votes in the various counties and additions of precincts which had been listed as missing from previous tabulations.

This revision of returns showed England elected over Representative J. Alfred Taylor, Democratic incumbent, by a margin of 74 votes, and Hallanan elected by 47 votes over Clyde Beecher Johnson, Democratic incumbent, on complete returns from that district.

The voters of the state appeared to have decided against the property classification amendment to the state constitution, from indications on tabulation of slightly more than half the precincts, while the budget amendment, though not suffering as heavy an adverse vote, was holding only such a slight lead that it too was in danger of defeat when complete returns were available. In many election precincts officials having satisfied their interest as to the vote for county and other officers appeared to have let the vote on the amendments go untabulated and returns from this were reported slowly, with the probability that in some counties it would be impossible to learn the results before the official canvass next week.

When returns had been received tonight from 1,176 of the 2,264 precincts in the state the vote against the classification showed a 15,000 majority, while with one less precinct reporting on the budget amendment the lead in its favor was only a little over 1,200. The figures on these partial reports were: For the property classification amendment 65,704, against 81,446; for the budget amendment 70,742, against 69,454.

Kaiser Benito

Addressing his Fascisti at Bologna on the anniversary of the "march on Rome" by which he seized the government four years ago, Mussolini said:

"Every time I see the armed forces of the country in battle formation, in perfect union, in a fraternity of spirit, in common ideal, my first thought turns toward our king, Supreme Commander of all the forces on land, sea and in the air, and of the men in the militia.

"The people and army have given their full and enthusiastic support to the Fascist government. That means, all of the people are prepared to follow me everywhere.

"Black shirts! Put on your stirrups, raise high your rifles, so that the entire world can see that forest of bayonets and feel the pulsations of your determined and invincible hearts."

Hasn't that a familiar ring? Where have we heard such language before?

More "T. B." Among Girls

The New York Tuberculosis and Health association finds that, while tuberculosis is steadily declining among people generally, it is increasing alarmingly among girls.

The situation is good while the girls are under parental control. From the age of 10 to 15, only 67 per year die out of 100,000. Then in the "flapper age," from 15 to 20, they begin to get out of hand, and 237 of them die per 100,000. From 20 to 25 it is still worse, the rate mounting to 370.

Possibly some girls of the independent age period, reading these figures, may begin to suspect that their parents know more than the latter have been given credit for.

An officer of the association explains that the ravages of tuberculosis among grown girls is due to their quest of a "good time, pretty clothes and a slender figure," for the sake of which they sacrifice food and sleep.

Light Speeds Up

We're all been wrong, it seems, about the speed of light. All the books say that it travels 186,000 miles a second. But Prof. Albert A. Michelson, physicist of the University of Chicago, who with Prof. Morley many years ago performed the experiments on which Dr. Einstein based his theories, has been at it again with this result:

Light, he finds, as a matter of fact travels 188,300 miles a second.

"The public in time will benefit by this discovery," says another scientist. "It affects fundamentals of life."

Maybe so. All truth is probably worth while in same way or other. But as far as most of us are immediately concerned, we could have got along just as happily, if not more so, without that extra 2,300 miles in the speed of light. Things were moving pretty fast for us already.

This evidently means, among other things, that a "light year" is bigger than anyone has supposed because light travels farther in a year. So the stars whose distance is measured in such units are still further removed from us in illimitable space, and the universe is still bigger than any of the astronomers have represented it.

Now let them give us something slow and understandable to think about for a while.

Revival In Debating

Football is threatened with a rival. An American university reports that there were more men on its debating squad last year than on its football squad. And the debaters really seemed to arouse nearly as much interest as the athletes.

In addition to the intercollegiate debates in which the university team engaged, the squad divided up into several teams which debated among themselves before local audiences. Many thousand persons heard them discuss various questions at clubs, high schools and other places. Now the work is being pushed further.

This may not be an unmixed blessing. In some ways debating is certainly not preferable to football. It means argument, and there is too much argument in the country already. Nevertheless, students cannot very well engage in public debates without doing more or less reading and studying, which is a good thing in itself and something that college students should be encouraged in.

It is worth while, also, to acquire skill in presenting a subject clearly and thinking on one's feet, against a time when the speakers may really have something original that is worth saying.

The worst thing about cosmetics is that they're mostly used by girls who don't need 'em.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Thoughts while strolling: Still a few hatless men. Why do they call a million cool? The pudgy watchmen who sit around building construction. Max Steur, the criminal lawyer. And Foxhall Keene with a French bulldog.

That sullen, leaden gray in Manhattan skies. And the town seems aloof and lonely. Like a stranger dressed up with no place to go. Clubmen gather around the crackle of fire in the hearth. Listless ladies go crawling by in limousines. And a thin fog blows up from the sea.

A picket fence—a half mile from Broadway. Children who drag rag dolls along the sidewalk and stare. The odor of gas tanks. And the chug of boats in the river. Tobacconists who wear skull caps. And people who eat silently at kitchen tables.

Just a few blocks away the district called "The Gold Coast." Where servants are problems. And husbands bores. A humpty-dumpty world. Wonder why cats arch their backs before crossing a street? A milk and liver pony drawing a street carousel.

The incessant hubbub around Grand Central. Commuters who snatch newspapers. Porters who snatch grips. Gatemen who snatch tickets. And passengers who snatch kisses. A group of Arabs. Fat women stepping quickly from penny weighing machines.

The gaudy lackeyes at the Biltmore entrances. A beggar who wheels himself lying flat on a stretcher. The most dangerous corner in town for pedestrians—42nd street and Madison avenue. Stores with arcade-like window displays. And there's my hotel.

Few are without a touch of snobbery. I frequently patronize one or the other of a chain of white tiled food emporiums. They are clean, well conducted places serving plain but excellent food. And yet I find myself walking up to them nonchalantly and suddenly darting in the door and pulling my hat over my eyes coming out. There is no possible reason save that a few actors, who eat at the Automat, often refer to these cafes in a jesting manner from the stage.

Then there are those mildewed cellar dives reached through dark hallways with uncovered tables moist and ringed from glasses where pickpockets, gunmen and touts gather. People go there in evening clothes because it is considered "smart."

Speaking of snobbery I am told of a man who came up from the East Side gutters to affluence and wealth. He married into a world he knew only vaguely. He recently notified relatives they were not to visit him without two days notice. In that time he is able to have his wife away. She, it seems, makes fun of them.

The Park Avenue Baptist church has 53 chime bells, the largest of which weighs ten tons. A Belgian was imported to ring the chimes just as he had for years in peaceful Flanders. He kept to his task for several Sundays and then, disturbed by the roar of the city, even on Sunday, decided this town was no place for his talents and went back to Flanders.

A MONTH OF BAD WEATHER

A gentleman who subsequently became well known as a New Lork producer was, in his younger days, the proprietor and leading man of a repertoire company which played week-stands in the far west. He admits now that there have been better companies than his was.

In proof of the admission he sometimes shows his friends a time-yellowed clipping from a paper formerly published in Carson, Nev. His troupe had just completed an engagement in that town when the paper in question printed the item in question. No direct reference was made to the theatrical attraction; even so that players had no trouble in catching the point at which the editor was driving.

Under the heading "Storms for the Month of September in Nevada" the notice read as follows:

17th: Hail storm in Washoe Valley lasting three and one-half minutes.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Crusading Against Illiteracy.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Americans who are given to boasting that their country is the best, biggest, richest and every other nice superlative in the world will do well to ponder occasionally the fact that there is an appalling amount of ignorance in the United States, and that in the matter of illiteracy this nation ranks tenth among the civilized nations of the world. That is something to be ashamed of rather than to brag about, and a number of public-spirited citizens feel the disgrace so keenly that they have organied a National Illiteracy Crusade.

An illiterate is a person ten years of age or older who can not read or write his own name in any language, and when the last census was taken there were 5,000,000 such in this country, ranging from 3149 in Wyoming to 425,022 in New York. Presumably, with the increase in population, there are more of them at the present time, although the percentage of illiteracy may show a slight decrease.

William Allen White, of Kansas, heads the National Illiteracy Crusade which has started a nation-wide drive with the slogan, "Wipe out illiteracy by 1930." Jane Adams and Glenn Frank are vice-presidents, and the board of directors includes a large number of men and women prominent in politics, public welfare work, literature, and art. Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart, of Kentucky, is the director in charge of the national headquarters, which have been established in the American Red Cross building in Washington.

The movement, which reaches into every state, is being carried forward by volunteer workers, many of whom not only give their time and efforts but pay their own expenses. However, textbooks and other supplies for the schools must be provided and there are other expenses to be met, hence a certain amount of funds must be raised. This is now being undertaken, although no public appeal is being made and the campaign does not resemble the drives that are made periodically to get subscriptions or cash for public welfare purposes.

Started in Monlight Schools.

The war on illiteracy, while it has but recently grown to such proportions as to attract general attention, is by no means a new thing. It really dates back some fifteen years to the beginning of what were known as "moonlight schools" in Kentucky. Teachers in the mountain districts of that state were only too well aware of the lamentable ignorance among the fathers, mothers, grandparents, and older brothers and sisters of their pupils, and they decided that it was up to them to do something about it. Night schools for the adults seemed the only possible solution of the problem.

Fifty of the teachers agreed to give the idea a trial and knowing that in that feud-ridden country it was a difficult matter to get anybody away from home after dark, they decided that the new schools should be held only on mmonlight nights. Then the mountaineers might be persuaded to venture forth.

The opening night came, with all the moonlight that had been promised by the calendar. The teachers had said that despite all the mouth to mouth advertising they had done through their younger pupils and the furore the idea had created throughout the mountains they would be satisfied if their new schols drew on an average three adults each, or 150 in all. Instead of 150, more than 1,200 men and women turned out that first night!

A photograph taken of one of those first moonlight schools is one of the most interesting exhibits in an educational line that has ever been brought to Washington. It shows the interior to Washington. It shows the cabin school house, in which the only furniture is a dozen or more crude benches. On one of the front benches are a husky young mountaineer and his strapping wife with a baby on her lap. They are holding a textbook between them. Back of them is a varied assortment of grown-ups, ranging up the years to patriarchs with long whiskers and one wrinkled and wizened old lady who was starting to school in her 86th year.

It was not long before the moonlight schools had spread all over Kentucky, county by county, and then the legislature created a state illiteracy commission for an organized fight on ignorance. Alabama was the next state to take up the work, and one after another the other states fell in to line, some of them in an official way, and others only through the work of interested citizens. Some of the states have adopted interesting campaign slogans, such as "Let South Carolina Secede From Illiteracy" and "Delaware, First to Sign the Constitution, and First to Wipe Out Illiteracy," and it is said that four states are already very close to the goal of no illiteracy.

How the Work is Carried On.

The methods used in local and state illiteracy campaigns are very much the same throughout the country. A community is canvassed thoroughly, illiterates are searched out and personally invited to the school, volunteer teachers are pledged, and then a strong efforts is made to create a public or community sentiment such that no one will hesitate to come to the school because he thinks an admission of his illiteracy is humiliating or disgraceful. The big idea that every effort is made to put over is that it's no disgrace to be illiterate if you've never had a chance at schooling, but it is a disgrace to continue to be an illiterate when an opportunity has been presented you to overcome that handicap.

Striking success has attended the schools, due to the eagerness and determined purpose of the pupils to make the most of their opportunity and because the teachers can concentrate on instruction, not having to pay any attention to questions of discipline or application. Also the textbooks are of a character to hold the interest of adults—they are not taught to read out of a "I-see-the goat" primer, but in one that tells them something bearing on their daily activities—and to learn to write they are not asked to make freehand spirals for hours at a time and then set to copying a line written in teacher's perfect Spencerian hand. They are furnished a pad, the first pages of which are heavy blotting paper in which the latters of the alphabet have been heavily indebted, and told to trace the letters over and over until they are familiar with them. By this system many men and women have learned to write their names in the course of half an hour, thus ending for all time the humiliation of having to make their marks when signing any kind of document. They learn to read and write in six weeks.

The national campaign against illiteracy is divided into three divisions. One confined to the instruction of rural illiterates, another to Indians, and the third to prison inmates.

That illiteracy in the United States can be absolutely wiped out by 1930 is admitted to be doubtful, but the leaders in the movement say it is not impossible of accomplishment, and that at any rate sufficient progress can be made to insure that the next Federal census will tell a far different story.

The Russian government has recently bought $800,000 worth of cotton goods and jute bags at Lotz, Poland.

ZECH REGIME IS TOTTERING; BENES TARGET

Discontent Grows, Masaryk's Re-election is Likely.

NO FASCIST FEAR

Movement for Dictator is Not Considered Strong.

WASHINGTON. — Growing discontent in Czechoslovakia with the Masaryk-Benc regime is assuming proportions of a powerful movement against the present government, Dr. Ferdinand Pelikan, editor of the Review Ruch Filosoficky, of Prague, declared here today.

Pelikan is expected to return to Europe soon with the word that thousands of Czechs in United States are largely in accord with the new turn of affairs.

While President Masaryk's re-election next year is anticipated American Czechs insist that Edward Benes, the foreign minister must go.

"That the present regime is tottering to its fall is obvious to all observers," Pelikan declared. "But it is equally obvious that a change will be brought about by democratic methods."

Pelikan denied that there is any probability of a fascist coup d'etat and likewise he cast into the discard any idea that Czechoslovakia will come under the hand of a dictator.

"I can assert unqualifiedly that in the Italian sense of the term there is no fascism in Czechoslovakia," Pelikan said.

Profound Discontent.

"What does exist is a profound discontent with the present regime on the part of the masses who bore the struggle for independence and who resent the attempts of the present holders of power to bring the Germans into the government, without real German reconciliation with the republic."

The German minority in Czechoslovakia was said to be imbued with the idea that the national state is being pushed into the background.

Pelikan also referred to opposition on the part of the masses to international capital, termed very powerful in the republic. This element was said not to have been "weaned away from its German.

"Much of the opposition to the present regime is out to the personal unpopularity of Dr. Benes, who actuated by presidential aspirations, has antagonized most of his war time friends and is at logger heads with almost all the influential politicians of the country," Pelikan declared.

Benes is maintained in office only through the influence of President Masaryk, according to Pelikan.

No Dictatorship.

"General Gajda, whose name figured in dispatches from abroad recently, is not cast for the part, largely owing to his political inexperience. His sudden and rather transient popularity was due to the fact that certain elements had sought to falsely charge him with espionage on behalf of the Soviets, absurb enough when it is realized that Gajda led the Czech troops against the Bolsheviks in Siberia in 1918 and 1919."

Apparently there are a series of movements in Czechoslovakia against the Benes regime, none of which as yet have produced a real leader. An effort is being made, it was learned, to crystalize these effforts under a single outstanding man, who would bring them to a successful conclusion.

AIR FREEDOM IS PROBLEM IN NEAR FUTURE

Radio Conference Will Draft World Regulations.

SPRING SESSION

Will Assign Wave Lengths to Various Nations.

WASHINGTON.—Future freedom of the air has taken its place as an important international problem.

American delegates to the world radio conference to be held in Washington next spring have drafted a complete set of regulations designed to meet the many complex questions growing out of increasing use of the radio.

Crowding the air, control of interference and assigning of wave lengths to be used both for radio-telegraph and for voice broadcasting are included in the program to be laid down.

The American representatives will propose that each nation assign wave lengths for voice broadcasting, issue licenses for international radio stations and thus prevent the chaos which has often threatened radio broadasting in the United States.

To Meet in May.

The radio conference to be held here is regarded as of especial importance, since it is the first to consider radio telegraph conditions since the London conference of 1912. It is called under a resolution of congress and probably will convene in Washington about May 1.

To prepare an American program for consideration an inter-departmental committee was created composed of seven representatives of the state, war, navy, commerce, postoffice and agricultural departments, and the U. S. Coast Guard and the U. S. Shipping Board, with Leland Harrison, assistant secretary of state as chairman.

After months of work the committee has drafted its recommendations, which will go to the International Radio Union at Berne, Switzerland, for distribution to the 42 nations to be represented at the parley here.

The American committee will propose that the old agreement which limited ships to wave lengths of 300, 450 and 600 meters be abolished and instead certain fixed wave lengths assigned for special services such as radio compass work. For general radio service the American policy will be that there should be a complete freedom of the air so long as the general radio service is not impeded.

Limiting Broadcasters.

Broadcasting stations would be allowed to take any wave lengths not prohibited by their own government regulations but should interference result the matter would become subject for international discussion.

The possibility of future limitation of voice broadcasting stations in international communication will be considered. United States experts contend that the radio-telephone "uses" several times the amount of ether required for the radiotelegraph. The latter, they hold, must be the chief means of international radio if there is vast development predicted by scientists.

How to provide secrecy for messages also will be taken up at the conference. Revision of the international code of signals will be considered upon the report of delegates from Great Britain, who were assigned the task of reviewing the International Signal Book.

NO MORE CONSTIPATION FOR HIM

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is 100% bran and 100% effective

Mr. Dunbar tried resorts and mineral springs in vain. Only Kellogg's ALL-BRAN relieved him. Read his testimonial:

"I suffered from indigestion and constipation and visited seashore and mineral springs, which only gave temporary relief. None gave permanent relief except Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. I consider your bran one of the greatest inventions of this age."

Yours sincerely,
L. D. DUNBAR, Spartanburg, S. C.

Constipation is the bane of health. Over forty diseases may be traced to it. It fills the system with vile poisons and saps strength. You can't afford to ignore its warning signals. Dizziness, bad breath, spots before the eyes, are just a few of the symptoms.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve constipation or your grocer will refund the money. A delicious cereal, ready to serve. Fine with milk or fruit. Use in cooking too.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is made by Kellogg in Battle Creek, Michigan, and sold by grocers everywhere. Served at leading hotels and restaurants.

LOS ANGELES WOMAN PASTOR TO FACE JURY

McPherson Trial Will be Delayed Until January.

JUDGE GUARDED

Threatening Telephone Calls Follow Court Ruling.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 5.—Although the defense in the Aimee McPherson case admitted its desire for a speedy trial, District Attorney Keyes declared today the noted evangelist probably would not be brought to court again before the first of January.

W. I. Gilbert, chief defense counsel, denied reports that a request for a change of venue to an outside county seat was being considered.

Armed guards patrolled today the vicinity of the home of Municipal Judge Samuel Blake, before whom the preliminary hearing was held, after the jurist reported to police that several threatening telephone calls had been received after Judge Blake ordered Mrs. McPherson held for trial.

If the evangelist is tried in Los Angeles, there are only three judges before whom she might appear, as two—Judges Carlos S. Hardy and Arthur Keetch, have disqualified themselves. Judge Hardy is an intimate friend of the Angelus temple pastor and was a witness at her preliminary hearing. Judge Keetch was in charge of the grand jury which heard her tale of a Mexican kidnaping.

Amended Complaint.

The district attorney's office today drew up an amended complaint against the pastor and her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy. Three counts, it was said will be specified:

1.—Conspiracy to suborn perjury.

2.—Conspiracy to manufacture false evidence.

3.—Conspiracy to pervert and to obstruct justice.

The proprietor of a cleaning shop at Carmel—by-the-sea was called to Los Angeles by District Attorney Keyes in an effort to identify the customer whose laundry symbols were found on towels and clothing in the trunk. According to the prosecution, Mrs. McPherson spent ten days in a lonely cottage at Carmel with Ormiston while thousands of her followers mourned her death by drowning.

ERNST GAINS ON BARKLEY

Republican Senator Claims Victory in Kentucky.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 5.—Senator Ernst, Republican, was rapidly cutting down the lead piled up by Alvin W. Barkley, Democrat, in the senatorial race as incomplete returns from 109 out of 120 counties were tabulated today.

Barkley led by 1,200 votes but Ernst's managers, refusing to concede the election, claimed when all returns were in Ernst would have a majority of from 2,500 to 3,000. Mountain counties yet unheard from are regarded as heavily Republican.

Incomplete returns indicated the election of Mrs. John W. Langley over her Republican opponent, Doug Hays, by approximately 4,500. Her victory is regarded as a vindication of her husband, John W. Langley, now serving a two-year sentence at Atlanta penitentiary for conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws.

Besides, perfectly respectable men, even clergymen, now doubt that the soul is a reality. It must have been a comfort to believe, as ancient rulers did, that God was their cousin, and expecting them to come and spend an eternity.

RAYMOND, Ala., Nov. 5.—Fire destroyed five buildings including the Raymond hotel in the business district of this town today, doing damage estimated at $200,000. OHIO SLAYER HELD INSANE

London Youth Admits He Killed His Grandmother, 75.

LONDON, O., Nov. 5.—Paul Weese, 21, confessed slayer of his grandmother, Mrs. Flora Rickard, 75, today stood declared insane and was awaiting transfer from the county jail here to the Lima state hospital for the criminal insane.

Weese admitted the murder, declaring "everyone told me to do it."

He had been raised from infancy by his grandmother, his mother having died 20 years ago.

Mrs. Rickard was stabbed 30 times with a kitchen knife.

County Chairman's Statement.

County Auditor Elmer E. Walker, chairman of the county Republican executive committee, today issued the following statement:

"In reviewing the work of the campaign just closed, I feel that as chairman of the county Republican central committee, I have no cause for regret. I feel that my own part of the work was small, but I certainly had the loyal support of the 105 men and 105 women that composed the committees.

"Through their combined efforts, we were able to increase the majority given the head of the Republican ticket in 1924 by more than 3,000 votes.

"Republican candidates on the district, county and judicial tickets were elected to office. We grant that the candidates themselves were largely responsible for the result, but the untiring work of the members of the committee aided very materially in getting out the vote and increasing the majorities.

"I want to thank the men and women that compose the committee, and I wish to especially emphasize the work of the Republican women. Without their aid the same results would not have been obtained.

"Each Republican candidate has expressed a desire to join me in an expression of thankfulness to all voters who supported them in the contest just closed."

Widower Testifies

He testified he went to the church on the morning of Sept. 15, 1922 the morning after his wife and Dr. Hall were slain in De Russey's lane. He said, under questioning, that he saw a newspaper clipping on the pastor's desk. He identified a photographic copy of the clipping. One of the clippings carried this headline:

"Attack Is Begun Against Episcopal Canon Divorce."

Tells of Night of Murder.

Simpson asked Mills if he saw his wife on the night of the murder.

"Yes," said Mills, "when I got home from work—about 6:15."

"What time did your wife leave?"

"Seven thirty."

"Was that the last time you saw her?"

In a low voice that penetrated all parts of the impressively silent court room, Mills answered:

"Yes, it was the last time."

After his wife left, Mills said, he worked around the house, staying up until 11 o'clock waiting for her to come home. He said he looked for her in the church at 11:05 o'clock.

(It has been variously estimated that the murder of Dr. Hall and Mrs. Mills took place between 9:10 that night and 11 o'clock.)

Then, Mills testified, he went home and went to sleep. At 2:30 a. m. he awoke, he said, and asked his daughter, Charlotte, if his wife had come home.

"I got up and went to the church and lighted it. I looked in all the pews to see if my wife was there. I thought she might have fainted, she had had fainting spells. Then I went home."

Dramatic Point of Trial.

Mill's appearance on the stand was the most dramatic point of the trial so far. There wasn't a sound in the court room as the nervous little ex-janitor of Rev. Hall's church told of the events that took place the fatal night.

Mrs. Hall's pale face remained expressionless as the witness told of meeting her the next day. He saw her on the morning of September 15 at between 8:30 and 9:00 in the study of her husband's church, of St. John, the Evangelist, at New Brunswick.

"She said: "Did you have any sickness? Mr. Hall did not come home all night.' I said neither did my wife. Then it popped into my mind and I suddenly said:

" 'Maybe they've eloped.' ".

"Mrs. Hall said: 'I know they're dead or they would come home' ".

Mrs. Hall, sitting very still, looked at the witness without changing the expression of her face the slightest, although she was very pale.

May Adjourn Case.

With the important matter of obtaining the testimony of Mrs. Jane Gibson, the state's star witness who is seriously ill in Somerset county, held in abeyance awaiting developments in her condition, the prosecution went ahead with its case.

It was learned on high authority that the court will not go to the hospital for the "pig woman's" testimony.

If, however, Prosecutor Simpson requests it, court may adjourn for a few days to await her recovery, since her testimony is considered more important than that of other witnesses.

Photographer on Stand.

As soon as court was re-convened Isaac Vanderveer, a photographer, who made pictures of the murder scene, was called to the stand. He is a tall, slightly bald man who talks in a quiet, subdued manner. He identified pictures of the scene that he had taken.

Defense Counsel Clarence E. Case protested against the admission of one photograph, because, he said, the picture which was taken this year, did not show the view that would have been obtained had it been taken four years ago.

The crabapple tree, for instance, wasn't there.

The spot where the tree stood was marked by an arrow. Sightseers long since had torn down the tree beneath which Dr. Hall and Mrs. Mills were found shot to death on the night of Sept. 14, 1922.

"The whole face of things has changed there in four years," Case said.

The picture was finally admitted into evidence.

Mrs. Hall seemed listless and tired Willie, however, was animation personified. He craned his neck time and again to get a good look at the enlarged photographs.

Henry Stevens looked on grimly.

Jail Warden Testifies.

James Major, warden of the Somerset county jail at the time the crime was committed, was the next witness.

Major identified exhibits taken from the bodies of the slain couple. He said that he turned over the articles to Francis R. Bergen, the prosecuting attorney. In reading a list of articles he turned over to Bergen, he mentioned a "handkerchief taken from Mrs. Hall" as being among them.

Then Capt. John J. Lamb, of the New Jersey state police was called.

"Did you ever turn over to Inspector John Underwood a handkerchief taken from the pocket of Mrs. Hall?" Simpson asked.

Attorney Case was on his feet.

"I will change it then," said Simpson.

"Did you ever turn over a handkerchief said to have been taken from the pocket of Mrs. Hall?"

"No," replied Lamb.

State Trooper Awaits Call.

When Lamb was excused from the stand, Senator Simpson looked around for a witness he wanted, failed to find him and abruptly walked out of the court to find him. The judge announced a recess.

Henry L. Dickman, former state trooper, who is reported to have said he was bribed to leave New Jersey after he made an exhaustive investigation of the crime four years ago, was brought to the court house this morning.

Truck Kills Child.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 5.—Funeral arrangements for Robert Crellin, 8, who was crushed to death under the wheels of a heavy truck here late yesterday, were being made today.

Merchants Mail Letters Here For Armistice Silence

The Retail Merchants' division of the Chamber of Commerce has sent out letters to all members outlining arrangements for the period of silence which will be observed in all the stores on Armistice Day, in honor of the soldier dead.

Business will be suspended for a two-minute period at 11 o'clock, while clerks stand at attention. Factory whistles will be blown and church bells rung during the five-minute period preceeding the Armistice hour.

Merchants have been asked to display the American flag in the sidewalk sockets and decorate their stores in the national colors for the day.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Speculative interest returned to the railroad stocks in the early trading on the stock exchange today. Fractional opening gains were extended to two points or more in a few of the outstanding stocks in this group, while more than the usual activity was noted in the so-called speculative rails like New Haven, Missouri Pacific, Chicago and East Illinois and the Erie.

Two Persons Hurt When Three Autos Figure in Crash

Two persons were slightly injured and another escaped unhurt in a collision in which three automobiles figured on Pennsylvania avenue near the clay bank at 6 o'clock last evening. Two of the cars were badly damaged.

The accident occurred when "Whitey" Allen, of Wellsville, driving a sedan, going west, and Edward Arnold, of this city, driving a touring car, traveling west, sideswiped. Alfred Gleockner, Blakely street, driving a coupe, crashed into the rear end of the Arnold automobile.

Allen and Gleockner were cut and scratched by broken glass but Arnold was unhurt. The Allen and Gleockner machines were removed by the McElravy wrecker. Arnold's car was driven away under its own power.

Captain Mason Conley investigated the accident.

Slater Resumes Quiz

zer. The special venire has been drawn and we believe that Mazer who has been in jail, more than two months, should be granted an opportunity to face a jury as soon as possible," Mills said.

The prosecutor in open court has said that he had a much stronger case against McDermott than the others of the three indicted and that he desired to have McDermott's case tried first.

If the judge sustains McClintock's request for trial transfer, the sheriff will be instructed today to draw a special venire of 75 prospective jurors, as the prosecutor stated he hoped to go on trial on McDermott within two weeks.

'REGENERATION' DISCUSSED BY DR. MEL MORRIS

Points Out Spiritual Birthmarks of New Born.

SPECIAL MUSIC

Evangelist Speaks to Large Crowd at Baptist Church.

With compelling logic and consummate skill that carried conviction throughout his concourse of hearers, Rev. Mel Morris, magnetic Maryland evangelist, speaking on "Regeneration" at the First Baptist church revival last evening unqualifiedly pointed out the scriptural birthmarks that characterized the new born soul into the kingdom of God.

"If you believe that Jesus Christ was and is the Son of God; if you love, genuinely, your brethren; if you know you are saved; if you want and do the things of the Almighty; if you can overcome worldliness and if you do not deliberately sin, then you can be assured that you have entered the real of spiritual attainment that guarantees salvation," the evangelist explained. "If you are without this zone then yours is a lost soul."

Folowing a lively musical service which was featured by a duet, "Nearer, Still Nearer," by Marion Ball, musical director, and Miss Ruby Aley, revival accompanist, and the invocation by Rev. A. H. O'Brien, pastor of the church, Rev. Mr. Morris averred that short sermons were not in his repertoire. "You will have to go elsewhere for sermonettes," he said. "When I am hungry, I want a full meal. Likewise I wish to put all I can into the spiritual menu so that the sinner may have all possible done for him." He announced that his subject for Friday evening would be: "The Second Coming of Christ,' with emphasis being stressed on the world's last prayer meeting.

standing on December 31, 1925. This measure does not apply to the deficit this year.

The 2.3 mill levy approved by the voters last Tuesday will solve the financial dilemma after January 1, board members say. The levy is intended to meet interest charges and bond payments, leaving other revenue for operating expenses.

The board approved the recommendations of Superintendent C. S. McVay that Miss Hazel Minnix, teacher in the elementary schools, be engaged as coach of the high school girls' basketball team. She will also have charge of grade school girls who will practice in the high school gymnasium on Saturday. William Cox, director of physical education, will supervise the training of elementary boys in the high school.

Armistice Day Plans.

Charles Logan, commander of Private Eddy post, No. 66, Veterans of Foreign Wars, asked the co-operation of the schools in the community Armistice Day celebration here next Thursday. The board endorsed Logan's plan.

The high school, Central, Sixth street and Third street students will be dismissed at 10:30 a. m. on Armistice Day in order to take part in the parade, which will disband in front of the Carnegie Library where the exercises will be conducted. Superintendent McVay was instructed to negotiate with Ralph Johnson, leader of the high school band, with a view of having the band lead the parade. Should adverse weather conditions prevail, school children will not be dismissed for the parade or exercises.

Mrs. George O. Thurn Closes Free Cooking School Here

The final day of the Review-Tribune cooking school teemed with interest. Crowds packed the Eagles' temple this afternoon and the last talk of Mrs. George Thurn on the high art of modern home keeping and the bidding farewell to the women of East Liverpool was a scene of enthusiasm and satisfaction never before witnessed here.

There were many gifts of value presented to the fortunate ones. The delicious food prepared by Mrs. Thurn was given away while different merchants distributed their products. No one went home empty handed, even the less fortunate carried excellent printed recipes of the dishes they had seen cooked. They also carried with them a knowledge of methods and news ways of running the house and the kitchen.

At the close of the session, the lecturer was besieged with women anxious to learn when she would return. They also piled her with final questions and wrote the answers on pads.

Mrs. Thurn voiced her thorough appreciation of the cooperation shown by everyone in East Liverpool in making the cooking school the successful event that it has been.

The following were awarded market bags yesterday:

Mesdames Charles Applegate, Orchard Grove avenue; J. C. Hamilton, New Cumberland, R. F. D. No. 4; D. Higgins, Klondyke; Albert Evans, 1044 St. Clair avenue, and E. C. Leeson, 312 East Third street, and Miss Hazlett, 118 W. Sixth street. A bouquet of flowers was presented to Mrs. C. S. McVay, 311 Thompson avenue.

MARINE CORPS CAPTAIN OUSTED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Captain E. T. Cripts, stationed at San Diego, today was dismissed from the marine corps. He must serve a ten-year sentence following a recent court martial conviction.

The performance of Balkite "B" has yet to be equalled

The first Balkite "B" purchased by a radio set owner nearly four years ago, is still rendering satisfactory service. It will continue to do so for years to come, for it has no tubes nor anything to replace. Since that time over 75,000 Balkite "B"s all based on the same principle as the first, have been purchased. Of these, to our knowledge, not one has ever worn out. This record has yet to be equalled by any other "B" device. To be as good as Balkite "B," a "B" power device cannot be an experiment. It must have stood the test of time.

Balkite "B" is offered in three models to serve any set: Balkite "B"-W for sets of 5 tubes or less requiring 67 to 90 volts—$27.50. Balkite "B"-X for sets of 8 tubes or less including power tubes, capacity 30 milliamperes at 135 volts—$42. Balkite "B"-Y for any standard set, capacity 40 milliamperes at 150 volts—$69. WORLD'S NEXT GREAT GENIUS IN MUSIC WILL BE AN AMERICAN, SAYS SOKOLOFF

CLEVELAND.—The world's next great music genius, one who will stand on a par with Wagner, Beethoven and Handel, whose music will sum up the entire progress of the world's civilization, will come from America.

"America is ripe for the production of a genius, who will amaze the civilized world with the power and glowing tones of his composition," the conductor said.

"Through the nation-wide interest in music, the fine orchestras that are being brought into existence and the very bringing of music into every home via phonograph and victrola, the stage has been set for the advent of a composer, who will mean as much to this generation as Wagner meant to his.

"I believe that no where in the world is as much attention given to the cultivation of the musical art as in America," declared Sokoloff. Wherever you go in this nation you hear music, whether it be jazz or opera on the lips of all; and this provides the necessary environment in which a budding genius may develop his talent and grow in mental musical stature."

"The people of America today, are much more musical than that of any other country at any other time. We hear a great deal of German bands and the German love of music, but at no time in the musical history of that nation was there evident the popular love of music as in this country today.

Both the school and home will be instrumental in bringing forth the American successor to the great geniuses, who have heretofore come from Europe, Sokoloff added:

"The schools are doing yeoman's service in developing appreciation for the finer things in harmony and it is in a major part due to their good work that music in this country has advanced to its present plane."

Lutherans Planning Great Migration for Tilt With Wesleyan

SPRINGFIELD, O., Nov. 5.—A football migration, the largest in all time to leave Springfield, is expected to get under way early Saturday morning for the Wesleyan-Wittenberg football game at Delaware.

The popular "Fighting Lutherans" will attract to the Methodist homecoming their own supporters from all parts of the state, according to alumni letters. These same supporters drawn from varied vocations of the Commonwealth have long participated in foxdrives against Wesleyan, and if there's to be a killing this year, they want to ride close to the hounds.

YALE STUDENT COUNCIL BANS PARTIES ON NIGHT OF ANCIENT JUNIOR PROM

NEW HAVEN, Conn.—Yale's student council has rushed to the rescue of the Junior Prom., and ancient institution that lately has been tottering. Because in recent years students have preferred house parties given by the fraternities to the more formal Junior Prom the student council this fall has voted that all parties on Prom night be abolished. The vote is considered a final effort to retain the Prom as a traditional Yale institution.

"There has been a steady encroachment on the importance of the Prom over a long period of years. Parties on Monday night served to keep many away while breafast dances were rather in the nature of an anti-climax." So the student council declared. Then it said:

"Sheff Houses have been the worst offenders in the past but with the college fraternities adopting an open-house system in their new buildings there was the danger that they might also plan parties which would further divert the attention of the university from the Prom itself.

"As a result of the small attendance consequent upon these conflicting parties there has been a serious financial deficit each year until affairs reached such a point last year that there was a possibility that the Universities authorities might take cognizance of the dwindling interest and abolish Prom Week completely."

Yale without its Prom would be unthinkable, according to old-timers who point out the Prom has gained more attention in American literature than even the famous old Tap Day.

SUSPECT IN WELLSVILLE MURDER PROBE GETS BOND

MIKE ZIONNO OF CLEVELAND POSTS $5,000

Friends Also Seek Release of Mike Scoia.

PROPERTY BAIL

Accused in Death of Patrolman James Kenney.

Mike Zionno, of Cleveland, a suspect in the slaying of Patrolman James Kenney May 17, last night was released from the county jail at Lisbon on bond of $5,000, while Mike Scoia, also of Cleveland, who was arrested by Chief of Police Fultz and Sheriff George Wright along with Zionna, is still behind the bars as friends endeavor to raise the bond for his freedom.

Counsel for the two men yesterday went before Judge W. H. Spence and asked that their clients be released, but the court refused to act until the consent of Prosecuting Attorney R. M. Brookes had been obtained.

Friends of Scoia left for Cleveland last night where they expected to raise $5,000 cash. In the event they are successful this sum will be deposited in a Lisbon bank before Scoia is freed.

Charges against these men will not be investigated until the next session of the grand jury.

When Sheriff Wright and Chief of Police Fultz of Wellsville returned from Cleveland with Zionno and Scoia a week ago last Saturday morning, the suspects were taken before Justice M. K. Zimerman at Lisbon and an affidavit charging each with murder was filed. The men were bound over to the grand jury upon their pleas of not guilty without bond.

M. E. Women's Service Guild Holds Meeting In Church Parlors

Members of the Women's Service Guild of the First Methodist Episcopal church held their regular meeting yesterday in the church parlors.

Sewing occupied the attention of the Guild members from 10 until 12. A coverdish luncheon was served at noon. Following a session of sewing, from 1 until 2:30, the customary business meet was held, in charge of Mrs. H. T. Weaver, president, who also was in charge of devotionals.

Mrs. Eva Brigel delivered a paper on W. C. T. U. work.

Plans were completed for a bazaar to be held by the Guild in the church gymnasium on December 17 and 18. Supper will be served on the second day of the bazaar.

"Home Missionary Day" will be observed by the Guild at a meeting next Thursday at the church.

Production Will be Given on Two Nights, Nov. 11 and 12, With Special Matinee for Children; 150 Pupils in Cast.

Under the direction of Miss Ruth Maxon, of the John B. Rogers Producing company, rehearsals for the high school's musical comedy, "Kathleen," which will be presented on two nights, November 11 and 12, in the school auditorium, are well under way.

The rehearsals were launched this week and will continue daily until the eleventh.

A cast of approximately 150 students will take part in the production, proceeds from which will be turned into the school library fund.

Special matinee for children will be held on Friday.

Mrs. Mary Carnahan Funeral Services Held in Toronto

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Carnahan, 59 years old, who died Tuesday at her home in Toronto, were held yesterday afternoon at the Toronto Methodist Episcopal church in charge of Rev. H. F. Patterson. Burial was made in Toronto Union cemetery.

Mrs. Carnahan had been in the hotel and restaurant business in Toronto for 25 years. She was born in Smiths Ferry, Pa.

She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Edward Gibbons, a daughter, Mrs. Brady Bailey, and two sisters, Mrs. David Rogers and Mrs. John Goodwin, of Wellsville.

Mrs. James Harrison Hostess to O. N. O. Club at Maple Villa

Mrs. James Harrison was hostess to members of the O. N. O. club Wednesday evening at Maple Villa tea room, in Aten and Maple avenues.

L. T. L. MEMBERS GIVE PROGRAM

Music, songs, readings and a pageant by the officers featured the program given by members of the Loyal Temperance Legion last evening in the First Methodist Episcopal church.

Miss Blanche Rice pleased with a solo, "Morning." Miss Doris Maxine Miller gave a reading. A humorous sketch, "Fifteen Minutes in School," was rendered by the organization.

Rev. B. R. Johnston Gives Address At Fathers' and Sons' Banquet

With approximately 85 in attendance, the annual Fathers' and Sons' banquet held last night at the First Christian church scored a decided success. The event was held under the direction of the pastor, Rev. L. E. Lee.

Rev. B. R. Johnston, pastor of the First Church of Christ, of East Liverpool, was the chief speaker.

Rev. Johnston's subject was, "When Dads Become Boys Again." He stressed in his talk, the extreme importance of a close relationship between father and son, that the father be a chum to his son, and a true confidant. All this, he said, will enable the father to lead and direct the boy down the proper path through life.

George Mendel read an Edgar Guest poem, "It Takes a Heap of Living to Make a House a Home."

The oldest father present, J. A. Armstrong, 84 years old, gave a short talk and the youngest father, Lester Donnelly, responded also.

Group sinking was led by F. C. McClelland.

Spring's nine piece orchestra gave a number of selections.

Church Conference Head is Guest at Sunday School Meet

Approximately 30 members of Sunday school class No. 10 of the First Methodist Protestant church were entertained last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Urie, in Tenth street.

The business session was featured by a talk to the class by the president, C. C. Culp.

This was followed by a surprise miscellaneous shower in honor of Mrs. Harold Miller, nee Thelma Williamson, by the class members, Mrs. Miller received a large number of gifts.

Rev. Frank L. Brown, president of the Ohio Methodist Protestant conference, who is attending the Steubenville district meet here, gave a special talk. Rev. Brown, and Rev. and Mrs. L. C. Momberg were guests of the class.

A number of selections were rendered by an orchestra comprised of Rev. Momberg, Fred Lewton, Mrs. Charles Lewis and Miss Frances Russell.

MRS. D. BROOKMAN CLASS HOSTESS

Mrs. D. S. Brookman was hostess to members of the Forward Sunday school class of the First Presbyterian church last evening at her home in Riverside avenue.

Approximately 20 members were present. The customary business meeting was followed by a social hour.

The wishes of the class toward the recovery of Miss Minerva Ingram, former teacher, who is at present a patient in a St. Petersburg (Fla.) hospital, were expressed in letters written by the members.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Brookman, assisted by Mrs. J. F. Hamilton and Mrs. Charles Brannan.

COUNTY SENDS YOUTHS HOME AFTER QUIZ

TWO BOYS LEAVE

Mrs. Holly Jones, Raymond Risinger and Earl Laney, of Cokeville, Pa., near Indiana, arrested here Monday by local police, were sent back home yesterday by Prosecuting Attorney R. M. Brookes.

Questioned during her stay in city hall here, the girl admitted that she had left her husband at home and had run off with Risinger, accompanied by Laney, the latter asserting that he had come into Ohio in search of work, police said.

The case was turned over to Probation Officer John McShane and on the recommendation of the prosecutor, the three were sent home yesterday.

No Title Significance In Saturday's Collegiate Clashes

Illinois Expected To Defeat Chicago; Carnegie Favorite

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Traditional, rather than competitive significance will be served tomorrow in the meeting of gridiron arch-rivals who once were great. Princeton and Harvard, California and Washington, Chicago and Illinois, Georgia Tech and Vanderbilt, Pitt and West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Penn State—these were games that filled the eye and gladdened the heart when viewed from the kindly distance of September.

But November, austere as a second lieutenant, is the month when illusion dies. There will be no championship decided in the "naturals" of the morrow, though the turnstiles will know it not. These will click as readily as in other and better days. For arch-rivals die hard even when they die together.

Illinois Favorite.

The demise of some of those mentioned is strictly unofficial, at that. Illinois, beaten by Michigan, came back against Pennsylvania, proponent of the hidden ball but using only the hidden touchdown for the day in question. Illinois apparently is an adequate representative team and should win from Chicago with plenty to spare, the Maroon being sub-normal.

However, it is a strange Illinois-Chicago game when it has no bearing on the Big Ten championship. I might say the same for the California-Washington affair in relation to the Coast title. Neither has a chance for that honor; California, in fact, only has a chance for its life and it may lose that tomorrow. Barring its defeat in the Washington State game, Washington has looked the part of the superior team. This patient probably will live.

The parallel of depreciating values can be applied also to the Vanderbilt-Georgia Tech game. Neither team is a prospective champion of the south though both have played sound football since losing to Alabama, which has only Tennessee to reckon with at this late date. Still, Vandy and Tech are more or less among the living.

Penn Seeks Solace.

Having suffered its maiden defeat, Pennsylvania should gain solace from Penn State, which seems to be right obliging in this respect. Though the Pennsylvania patient still breathes, I can't become perturbed over the outcome. Pitt and West Virginia is another game that leaves me cold; neither team means much now, except to itself. I wouldn't be surprised if Pitt pulled one out of the hat and won the ball game.

Neither Harvard nor Princeton can affect the eastern championship, though the former has come back following early season defeats. Princeton will have its stars intact for the first time in a month and it would surprise a lot of people, but not me, by winning. A tie game is a good guess in this one.

Pick Tech to Win.

The New York university-Carnegie Tech affair is another hard one to figure out, somehow, I can't down the hunch that Tech is due. For one thing, I feel that N. Y. U. is overdue—for defeat.

Eleven other unbeaten entries—Stanford, Tennessee, Alabama, Missouri, Kansas Aggies, Notre Dame, West Point, Lafayette, the Navy, Holy Cross and Boston College—will fare into action but only two of them seem in actual danger. Kansas Aggies may have to show top form to beat Marquette, which is not what it was, and Tennessee would do well to look for an upset with Sewanee. However, the latter lost to Auburn, which lost to Louisiana State,, which lost to Tennessee. So there one is.

Missouri's game with Oklohoma may be a hard one but the valley champions should survive. However, I can't see Indiana beating Notre Dame nor Alabama losing to Kentucky nor Stanford being defeated by Santa Clara nor Boston College sloughing one off to Villa Nova nor any other foolish promise of kindred nature. Holy Cross can look for squalls against Fordham and the Navy might keep its weather eye on West Virginia Wesleyan but Lafayette should have a "breather" against Rutgers.

Michigan "Come-back."

I also like Minnesota over Iiwa, Northwestern against Purdue and Michigan for a return to form against Wisconsin, though these games are far from "breathers" in any sense. Neither is the valley meeting between Kansas and Grinnell nor are those southern games involving Baylor and Texas, Tulane and Mississippi Aggies and Georgia and Alabama Poly. Georgia, on its form of the Florida game, should win.

There is nothing soft, either, for Syracuse in the Georgetown game and Idaho, having fooled Oregon Aggies, may live to fool Washington State. But that isn't likely.

SMITH WINNER IN CUE MATCH

Herbert and Trout will play next Tuesday when tourney play is resumed.

The standing:

W. Shaffer	2	0	1.000
L. Herbert	2	0	1.000
P. Johannes	2	0	1.000
E. Smith	2	1	.667

LET'S GO!

A little encouragement from the sidelines in this important battle will mean a whole lot to the fellows out there on the field and, consequently every student that can make the trip to Salem, as well as those who are not students, should make a mighty big effort to get out along the sidelines at Salem.

LARKINS BACK ON HIGH SQUAD

CHANGES in the East Liverpool high school lineup which are expected to put the team in the peak of condition for the all-important clash tomorrow with Salem were announced today by Coach George Kidder.

Misfortune hit the Blue and White squad day before yesterday when Carney, lineman, received a broken nose in scrimmage practice and, as a result, will be out of action for tomorrow, and maybe, several weeks.

But the great stock of reserve material on hand will permit Coaches Kidder and Cox to fill up the hole sufficiently well to stem the tide of Red and Black jerseys.

Larkins Back.

The team both loses and gains this week. As Carney goes out, Captain Dick Larkins gets back into action at center and any worry that the Blue and White coaches may have held concerning the performance of the forward line is gone now with Dick's return. Without exception Larkins is the best lineman in the county and it is entirely possible that the territory can be extended farther than that.

Todd and Irwin will be located at the guards and Clark and Smith at the tackles. This makes a mighty strong quartet. On the flanks will be Tom Pusey and English, two rare performers when they are hitting their stride. This seems to be the case now. It would be difficult to replace English at end the way he had been playing the last two games and Pusey's all around value was certainly demonstrated in the Lisbon game.

Pusey on End.

Tomorrow Pusey will play an offensive end and, on defense, will enact the role of safety man. He is fast and an adept at bringing back punts.

Quarterback Dick McKee will be shifted to Pusey's end when the Blue and White is on the defensive and his arm will be utilized in heaving passes, which he does with telling effect, when the locals are carrying the ball.

Van Dyne and Deidrick will start at the halves. The former played a great game against Lisbon. Deidrick is credited with having gained more ground, per game, than any other backfield performer. He wheeled off a daring 22-yard run against Lisbon in the last few minutes of the final period that put the locals in position to score. Both men are fast and will stack up with anything the north countians can muster.

Jack Bromby, at fullback, completes the ball toting quartet. Jack is the line plunger of the outfit, but he can heave passes and run the ends if necessary. He'll be backing up the line on the defense.

According to present indications the Blue and White should have plenty of support. A large number of fans will take in the contest.

Fight Results

AT PASSAIC, N. J.—Ad Stone, of Paterson, knocked out George Gemas, of Philadelphia, in the sixth round.

AT LOWELL, MASS. — Billy Murphy, of Lowell, knocked out Andy Chaney, of Baltimore, in the third round.

AT LYNN, MASS.—Silvio Mirecault, of Montreal, won decision over Joe Cook, of New Orleans, ten rounds.

ABOUT the greatest MONG the greatest tragedies in baseball, not of the past season but of the life of the game, is the career of George Sisler, until a few days ago manager of the St. Louis Browns.

Being bounced as pilot of the much-managed St. Louis team does not bring the tragedy into his life. That move probably brings him the same feeling of contentment—on reflection—enjoyed by a man released from jail.

The tragedy lies in the nipping almost in the bud of what promised to be one of the greatest careers anticipated for or by any players who ever donned a baseball suit.

Sisler draws the stigma of having failed at a baseball task when he should be rolling happily but earnestly on to a brilliant record in the game.

Sinus trouble, in the winter of 1922-23, checked that career and shortened his days in the game.

From the time he began to star as an all-around player for the University of Michigan nine until the troubles with his eyes, Sisler seemed destined to write a chapter in baseball that would almost parallel that of Cobb.

While still lacking professional training and the help of the game's great teachers, Sisler astounded the baseball world with his batting and daring base running for the Wolverine nine. "Sisler Steals Home to Win Game" was a common caption. Long before he was graduated big league teams sought to sign him. His entrance into the major leagues was marked by a bitter battle between the Pittsburgh Pirates and St. Louis Browns to prove their respective claims to his services. The Browns won.

Was Versatile Star.

Sisler proved immediately that he was a natural ball player. From out the ranks of the "Second Ty Cobbs" Sisler loomed as the only man who seemed fitter, physically and mentally to rival the great Georgian. Sisler surpassed Cobb in one way—his versatility. He pitched, played first and the outfield brilliantly. Cobb has always confined his activities to the outfield.

George had the batting ability of Cobb, it seemed. He started out to equal the life-time record of Tyrus. He was a daring man on the bases, lacking only, perhaps, a bit of the dash of Cobb. And he proveed as quick a thinker as the Tiger star and manager.

Through the season of 1922 Sisler led the American league—Cobb included—in batting. He finished the year with a mark of .422 and seemed destined to shoot at that mark for many years. Then came the trouble with his eyes.

The campaign of 1923 found him not playing baseball but struggling almost hopelessly to recover the use of his eyes. The trouble had affected his vision. He found it hard to focus his eyes simultaneously. But for the patient help of Jimmy Austin that summer and the following winter out on the Pacific coast Sisler might never have played ball again. He did, however, return. He not only took his place at first but hit well and attempted to carry on the management of the team.

Batting Falls Off.

By 1925 he had raised his batting average again to .354. However, the strain of playing and the mental strain of managing what seemed to be a demoralized outfit proved too much. Last season his batting dropped below the .330 mark. He found himself hopelessly at sea trying to bring order out of chaos on the ball field. And this is something that the public in general does not know. Since the day he has returned to the game he has played with faulty vision—a defect that forced him on occasions to field or hit a ball when he could not judge the nearness of the ball, the speed at which it was traveling or even see the ball clearly.

Those close to Sisler know that at times he had to "throw" his eyes into focus before he could attempt to catch a ball or hit it.

Now he finds himself forced to look for a baseball job—this when he stands at the age of Rogers Hornsby, with the future of the great Cardinal hitter before him but beyond his grasp.

This when he should be plunging on toward a record that would permit his friends to question the right of Cobb to the title of "Baseball's only superman."

If there be not tragedy in that I know of nothing in the game that deserves the title.

East End Eleven To Play Beaver Falls Team Here

The East End Blues will play the fast Beaver Falls Elks tomorrow afternoon at Columbian park. The game will start at 3:30.

The Blues are getting a late start but expect to be in good trim for the tilt with the Pennsylvanians. After holding the Sebring Independents to an even score they are confident they can make a good showing against the Elks.

The Blues will be reinforced by four former members of the Wellsville shop team and the return of Mundy to end.

SCRIBE TO WED AQUATIC STAR

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—Miss Sybil Bauer, famous aquatic star and holder of 33 world's swimming records, today confirmed reports that she is to marry Edward Sullivan, sports editor of the New York Evening Graphic. The marriage will be early in June.

"We met in Florida in February, 1925," said Miss Bauer. "It was love at first sight. When Mr. Sullivan returned to New York he continued his courtship by air mail."

BANTAM TO ASK REINSTATEMENT

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Charley (Phil) Rosenberg, recognized here as the world's bantamweight champion but discountenanced in many states, was to apply for reinstatement before the New York state athletic commission today in order to be eligible to meet Bushy Graham, of Utica, for the title on January 7. Graham and Rosenberg already have signed for the match and this fact may delay reinstatement since James A. Farley, commission chairman, is said to have been nettled that Madison Square Garden officials would sign an ineligible boxer. Rosenberg was barred here for failure to accept Graham's challenge, the suspension becoming effective in states that cooperate with the local board.

May Match Flyweights.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Jess McMahon, matchmaker for Tex Rickard, was trying to close a match today between Fidel La Barba, of Los Angeles, and Elky Clark, of England, with the world's flyweight title at stake. La Barba generally is recognized as world's champion at the weight but Clark, champion of Europe, also claims the world's title.

Autograph Football Used.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5—A football bearing the autograph of President Calvin Coldge today is enroute to California to be used in the Army-Navy game on Armistice day to be played in Berkeley between teams of the Ninth corps area and the Pacific fleet. It is estimated that 70,000 football fans will witness the boting of the president's name over the gridiron.

BILLIARD STARS CLASH IN PHILLY

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—An exodus of billiard stars was due today. Their destination being Philadelphia, where the world's pocket billiard championship will open at the Elks' club tomorrow. Those in the party will be Frank Taberski and Ralph Greenleaf, present and past champions; Charles Harmon, winner of the recent New York state championship; Tom Hueston, runner-up in that tourney; Erwin Rudolph, Andrew St. Jean and Arthur Woods.

Others who will take part in the championship are C. D. Prindle, Appleton, Wis., Harry Oswald, Pittsburgh, and Andrew Ponzi, Philadelphia.

Attica, Greece, is to have more than 300 miles of new roads.

By Norman E. Brown.

The fact that Columbia recently defeated Cornell for th first time in 26 years doesn't entitle Bill Madden, Columbia captain and halfback, to consideration as an All-American possibility. But that victory gave him another chance to show his greatness and to become the leading point scorer in the east. He is a brilliant passer, runner and booter. In addition to this his generalship, especially on the defense, is superb.

MADDEN

Mayes McLain, fullback of the picturesque Haskell Indian team, is one of the greatest scoring stars the game has produced, judging by his record to date. His seventeen points scored against Bucknell University in a recent game raised his total to 208 points. He scored 111 points in his first three games this season, seventeen touchdowns and nine goals after touchdowns. In addition to carrying the ball McLain is a great forward passer, splendid interference man, a good defensive player and line plunger.

Mountaineers Given Edge Over Panthers

Overwhelmed Alleghen y While Pitt Was Barely Able to Win; Compa rative Scores, However, Mean Little When T wo Rivals Clash.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 5.—Mountaineer and Panther clash once more tomorrow afternoon. Once more a train load of rooters led by the famous West Virginia Cadet band will descend on Pittsburgh to cheer their favorite football team on to greater deeds on the barred field. To a great number of the younger generation of Mountaineer football followers, this is "the day." A victory over Pitt would be relished by them far more than any other single win this season.

On the face of the records to date, West Virginia would seem to have a slight edge over Pitt. West Virginia overwhelmed Allegheny college while Pitt was barely able to nose out a victory over the husky Meadville Methodists. West Virginia defeated Georgetown at Washington, D. C., while the best that the Panthers could do against Georgetown was to fight an uphill battle to emerge with a tie score at the Pitt stadium. Again, West Virginia has won five games this season and lost but one while Pitt has won three victories, suffered two defeats and one tie. However, it must be admitted that Pitt has been playing tougher opponents, on the whole, than have the Mountaineers. Comparative scores which favor West Virginia, mean absolutely nothing when bitter rivals meet on the gridiron. Pitt has played splendid football in spots, as for example, in the Colgate game when the Panthers completely outplayed the strong New York eleven which was unable to do anything with the Sutherlanders until the final quarter when Pitt subsitutes were on the field. The overwhelming victory over Westminster last week is an indication of the Panther's growing power. The Mountaineers played wonderful football until late October when the green machine slipped a cog or two. If West Virginia can regain her early October stride, Coach Rodgers and his crew should take home a victory, but if the temporary slump is not shaken off, Pitt will doubtless cop the honors in the twenty-second setto of Panther and Mountaineer. If both elevens are "off color" the devil will get the hindmost, and take your choice.

Captain Ross McHenry and Julian Murrin, veteran Mountaineer linemen will oppose two former high school teammates in Gibby Welch, Pitt backfield ace and Roberts, right guard on the Panther eleven. All four of these stars, and brilliant players they are, were members of Parkersburg High school elevens several years ago. Roberts at right guard will be playing directly opposite the Mountaineer leader. If West Virginia can stop Welch, a native West Verginian, their chances a native West Virginian, their chances The battle looms up as a bitter one with little to choose between the two old rivals.

Revise Game Laws To Conform With Bird Treaty Act

The department of agriculture at Columbus has announced several changes in the Ohio game laws to conform with the federal amendments to the Migratory Bird Treaty Act of March 8th, last. These changes are:

Wood ducks, swans, eider ducks, bitterns, cranes, grebes, gulls, terns, herons, jaegers, loons and all shore birds, except Wilson's snipe, Woodcock and Yellowlegs, are protected and cannot be legally taken.

Coot and gallinule: 25 in the aggregate but not more than 15 shall be gallinules.

Sora, and other rail birds, except cootes and gallinules, may be taken only from Nov. 1st to Nov. 30th, inclusive. A person may take in any one day during the open season, except Sunday, not to exceed 25 rail birds in the aggregate of all kinds except sora, of which 25 may be taken, but not more than 15 of any other species.

All deputy game wardens in Ohio have been instructed that these changes should be rigidly enforced.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON,
Maker of 51 Golf Champions.
"Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

KLINCK ELEVEN AT PALESTINE

Remainder of Wellsville Contests on Road.

With the curtain rung down on football activities, so far as home attractions are concerned, Coach Earl Klinck's Wellsville eleven is set for a tussle tomorrow afternoon at East Palestine.

The clash with Salem two weeks ago concluded the home schedule for the Orange and Black. A game with Mingo was scheduled last Saturday, but the Jefferson countians, unable to muster up sufficient strength, called it off.

On Nov. 13, Wellsville will take issue with Lisbon at the county seat and their next and final battle of the campaign will see them in action here against East Liverpool in the resumption of Thanksgiving grid relations.

The squad, as a whole, is in excellent condition as a result of a two weeks' period of straight practice sessions with no game intervening.

The contest with East Palestine sizes up as a real battle but the Orange and Black, if playing in form, should win, or at least come out with a tie, barring bad breaks.

Faculty Manager Trumbull will send the squad over to East Palestine in a bus, leaving Wellsville at 11 o'clock.

BRITISH STRIKE IS NEAR END

LONDON, Nov. 5.—The British coal strike is apparently moving rapidly to an end.

The Trades Union Congress delegation, headed by J. H. Thomas, has opened conferences with Premier Baldwin, and there is a report in Whitehall that there is a strong possibility of the Miners' federation ordering all strikers back to work within 48 hours.

More American automobiles will be sold in foreign countries this year than in any previous twelve-months, say experienced estimators.

TALKING UNDER WATER IS NEXT SCIENCE FEAT

Navy Experts Predict Sea Bottom Voices Will be Heard.

"SUPERSONICS"

Efforts Will be Redoubled to Make Communications Easy.

WASHINGTON.—Having made the atmosphere an almost perfect medium for transmitting the human voice, scientists now are redoubling their efforts to make it simple to talk under water.

Navy experts predict that in the future it will be almost as simple to communicate in the depth of the ocean as above it.

Terming the new science, "supersonics," the Navy's experts are bending their energies in particular toward improvement of communication between submarines.

Since the World war great advance has been made in the art of underwater communication and depth sounding, says an announcement by the Navy department. Up until 1918 the chief mediums were audible sound receivers and transmitters.

Discoveries in the application of the Piezo-electric effect to underwater sound transmission and reception however, have opened up a new field.

Use of Short Waves.

"The term 'supersonics' refers to frequencies above the limits of audibility of the human ear," says the Navy announcement. 'For instance, the human ear may be considered a sound receiver tuned to receive sounds lying between frequencies of 30 to 30,000 cycles per second. Sounds lying above this spectrum are inaudible and the reception of these sounds is accomplished by the use of the heterodyne principle.

"By use of these short waves, it has been possible to telephone under water and to telegraph at speeds of 20 to 30 words per minute. This is considered by scientists as quite an advance over the older methods of audible transmission and reception under water."

So important does the Navy regard the possibilities of underwater communication that the Naval D. C., has established a sound division with Dr. Harvey C. Hayes acting as superintendent. Two barges have been fitted up to be used in the sound experiments.

The research has been spurred, not only here but abroad, as a result of the submarine menace during the World war. At the beginning of the war, the Navy's devices for detecting the presence of submarines through sound receivers were unsatisfactory. Toward the end of the war great improvement was made. Now a sonic depth finder has been developed which it is declared will accurately place a submarine in depths of 40 to 4,000 fathoms and in a radius of forty miles.

New Depth Finder.

A new peace-time use has been discovered for the sonic depth finder. When the Navy department was called upon to survey the route of the War department's submarine telegraph cable which serves Alaska, the problem on a rough ocean bed, made up partly of submerged mountains faced it.

By the use of the sonic depth finder—measuring the depth of the water by the angle of reception of the vessel's own propeller sounds which were reflected—the Navy experts were able to make a map of the bed of the ocean without seeing it.

Another use for this war-born device is in protecting Atlantic ship lanes against huge ice-bergs. The distance and bearing of the bergs is obtained by means of echoes given off by the submerged faces of the bergs. While the range is still somewhat limited, scientists hope to perfect the sounder to a degree where it will be comparatively easy to spot icebergs and plot their course.

FAMOUS LAWYER TO AID IN CASE OF DR. NORRIS

READS BIBLE

Noted Criminal Attorney Prepares to Prosecute Texas Pastor.

FORT WORTH, Texas.—"Wild Bill" McLean will meet Dr. J. Frank Norris, famous fundamentalist pastor, accused of murder in the slaying of D. E. Chipps, lumberman, on his own grounds when Norris faces a jury.

"Wild Bill," or Judge W. P. McLean, one of the most noted criminal attorneys in the southwest, has been hired by Mrs. Chipps, wife of the man shot to death in the office of the First Baptist church, of which Norris is pastor, as a special prosecutor.

"Wild Bill" is reading the Bible, in the belief that Dr. Norris will cite it in support of his announced plea of self defense. Dr. Norris already has preached several sermons dealing directly and indirectly with the events that occurred when Chipps came to his office to protest against statements the pastor had made against Mayor H. C. Meacham and others of the lumberman's friends.

The Bible Figures.

Fundamentalism is the creed which has made Dr. Norris known throughout the country, and which brought him note through the Searchlight, publication of his church. Since fundamentalism bases its creed on verbatim and literal interpretation of the Bible, McLean is preparing to quote as much of the Bible, and, if possible, more apropos portions than Dr. Norris.

"Of course," he told an interviewer, "I will help try this case very much as I have tried other cases, except that I will be prosecuting where I usually defend. But if Dr. Norris brings religion into his trial I will be prepared for it. I studied theology and the Bible in college, in a Baptist college too, and I have been familiar with it since, because I think every attorney should be. So I will be able to meet the defense on its own grounds."

McLean stated that the case would be tried strictly on the basis of the information given the first investigating grand jury of Tarrant county, which indicated Dr. Norris for murder.

Feared Threats.

Dr. Norris' statement was that Chipps, whom he had not known previously to the day of the killing, had called him on the phone that day, and had told him that he was "coming over to settle with you for the things you said about my friends, Meacham and others." Norris had made various utterances from the pulpit regarding the alleged discharge of members of his church from Meacham's department store, because they refused to quit the church.

Chipps, Dr. Norris said, came to the church study, and after threatening several times to kill the pastor, reached for his hip and Norris shot him.

"I believed my life in danger, so what else could I do?" Norris asked.

Various other witnesses testified to portions of Norris' story at the grand jury proceedings. The testimony of Carl Glaze, 14, who was in the office of Norris on an errand, has not been made public, but the prosecution claims that the indictment was made without the help of that statement.

Chipps Unarmed.

"We will try it as a murder case. From the standpoint of the evidence, Chipps was unarmed, and shot down by the pastor. That is our case and nothing more. We will not, if possible, deal with other matters," said McLean.

"There is a good chance, however, that the religious fight will enter, and I am prepared to combat that defense when and if it is presented.

"Wild Bill" is the attorney who defended Clara Smith when she was accused of the murder of Jake Hammond, Republican leader and oil man of Oklahoma, one of the most picteresque court battles of the southwest."

POLICE OFFICER WINS OUT IN A HARD FOUGHT BATTLE

With the Aid of Tepee Herb Tonic Stomach and Kidney Troubles Are Conquered

To look at Officer F. Brickline of the Elyria, Ohio, police force, one would scarcely imagine that he ever suffered with physical ailments. Dressed up in his uniform he presented the very picture of health and yet there were times when it required his greatest efforts to keep going.

A person of less fortitude would surely have given up but not so with Officer Brickline. He is a man who is made of grit. He never complained as he steadily patrolled his beat and few knew that he ever had a pang of pain. But now, since he is a perfectly well man he does not mind telling his experience with Tepee Herb Tonic—the only medicine that ever relieved him.

Officer Brickline lives at 800 East avenue. He says: "For several years I was troubled with stomach and kidney ailments. I had severe backaches but I paid little attention to them. This summer my ailments were worse than usual. My back ached continually for days at a time.

"My arms and legs also ached and I couldn't sleep soundly at night. My digestion was poor. My food soured and I could taste it for hours. I was constipated and my bowels very, very irregular. Finally I took Redwood's Tepee Tonic and that went right to the spot. It relieved my stomach and kidney troubles almost at once.

OFFICER BRICKLINE.

"It did me more good in a short time than any medicine I have ever taken. My kidneys are now in a normal condition. I sleep soundly and eat what I want. There is no comeback—no indigestion. I don't have any more pains in my back or legs. My work is now a pleasure since Tepee Herb Tonic relieved my ailments.

Tepee Herb Tonic may be had in East Liverpool at Caranhan's Drug Stores.

URGES CHANGE IN TIME FOR STATE PRIMARY

Defense League Head Suggests Remedial Legislation.

ISSUE DEFEATED

Modification Committee Says it is Just First Battle.

ELYRIA, O., Nov. 5.—The tremendous vote cast to retain Ohio's primary law was a clear cut indication that the citizens did not wish to correct certain defects in the legislation by repudiation of the statute, according to J. F. Burke, president of the Defense league, here today.

But in order that these features of the law be eliminated a meeting of the league will be called at once to discuss remedial legislation, Burke announced.

"We will hold a meeting of executives of the league within a few days," the publisher declared, "and agree upon legislation which will be introduced and urged for passage in order that the primary law may function to the highest degree."

Among the changes which the league will seek to remedy is the time for holding primaries.

Committee Not Disappointed.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 5.—"While the result of Tuesday's election with regard to the proposed constitutional amendment has not been finally determined, still it is quite certain that the proposal has been defeated," said Nathan E. Cook, executive secretary of the Ohio Primary Modification committee, this afternoon.

"The committee, consisting of the five public spirited citizens who at a great personal sacrifice gave to the electors of Ohio an opportunity to express their opinion upon this all-important political question," said Mr. Cook, "are not at all disappointed with the result, in fact, it is what they had anticipated. Realizing from the beginning that it would be defeated, they still carried on.

"This is just the first battle in the war," Cook added, "and is only a temporary setback in the great movement to purge the constitution of Ohio of the chief reason for the waning interest in political affairs.

"The time will come and not in the far distant future when after a campaign of education the voters of Ohio will vote 'up' the proposal which they voted 'down' on Tuesday."

INSIST UPON KEMP'S BALSAM for that COUGH!

Woman Thinks She Can't Talk Enough

"I had gall stones for 14 years and suffered severely from gas, colic and indigestion. Doctors wanted me to go to the hospital, but I took MAYR'S instead, and am now feeling fine and better than I ever did. I can't talk enough about this remedy." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One does will convince or money refunded.

Wavy—Curly Glossy Hair

By Edna Wallace Hopper

The thousands who see me daily on the stage know how my hair waves and glows. It seems doubly abundant because of the curl. Nearly every girl and woman who sees it would like to have hair like mine.

But I never go to a hairdresser. I have never had a Marcel wave. I simply apply a hair dress which experts made for me. Neither you nor I will probably ever see anything else to compare. It keeps the hair in curl, keeps it in place and gives it a lovely sheen.

This hair dress is known as Edna Wallace Hopper's Wave and Sheen. All toilet counters supply it at 75c per bottle. It will bring you added loveliness more quickly than anything else I know. My guarantee is enclosed with every bottle, so it costs you nothing if it doesn't please. Try it at my expense.

DON LANNING, HOME BOY, NOW SHOW PRODUCER

HERE NEXT WEEK

Touring Company Will Appear at Ceramic Theatre.

Don Lanning, the one time mould runner and batter-out in the potteries of East Liverpool, like all others, had his childish dreams of becoming the owner, director and star of a big touring musical comedy. But in Don's life, much unlike the Alger tales of how boys became millionaires over night, he worked his way from the bottom up. Next week he comes back to his home town with his ambition realized.

A local quartet sprang up in East Liverpool and was composed of Bill Woods, Buck Stevenson, Jack Whitlow and Don, singing tenor. They filled engagements in nearby towns for almost a year, with greatly improving harmony as the time passed by. Later Don went to Akron.

After a few months in the Rubber City, the opportunity presented itself to join a quartet entour. Don took the job and played through the mid-western state until the act broke up in Chicago, and our young hero, rather than hoof it back to East Liverpool, accepted a position as singer in one of Chicago's cabarets where he remained for two years. Then he went in vaudeville for a tour of the mid-western states. He was drafted in Arkansas and went overseas as army entertainer with a troupe of ten, known as the Jambone company of the 332nd infantry. He was discharged in 1918 following the Armistice, and returned here to work for several months in the Knowles, Taylor & Knowles plant.

He later joined the now famous Frank Tinney in an army play in which Don had one of the leads and the entire troupe was composed of ex-soldiers. This company toured the larger cities of the United States and Canada. A year later the show closed and Don returned to the home town, only to join the then popular Jimmie Hodges who was playing at the Ceramic. He was sent to the second company in Detroit. He was placed in charge of the entire company and production as comedian in 1920 after only six months in this kind of work. He stayed with Hodges for three years and then returned to vaudeville for a year. Then he signed another contract with Hodges and became comedian of the Pretty Baby company, playing in a cabaret at Hileah, about five miles from Miami, Fla.

He made a hit with the southern tourists. The following summer he took another of Hodges shows north to Norfolk and Richmond. The following year he returned to Miami. The following summer he organized a musical comedy company, known as the Lanning, Poulliott, Farrell company, with Hodges as manager and J. E. Eviston as business manager and treasurer. This company played to large houses and took Asheville by storm, and through investments in Florida real estate, Don increased his profits to the extent that he financed his own show this year and opened this spring in Atlanta where he did turnaway business for six months.

With him he has such musical comedy notables as Emily Ross, Edna Jacques, Nell Walker, Mildred Robison, Patsey Cullen, Rafe Poulliott, Lew Hampson, Milton Reick, Jack Barbee, Emnett Merill, Bartley Cahill, Fred Brigman and 35 others, including chorus girls whose homes are all south of the Mason-Dixon line.

It is Lanning's plan while here to give three shows, opening with "Very Good Eddie" on Monday and Tuesday, in which he will play the role of Eddie Kettle. Wednesday and Thursday he will offer "Top Holpe," in which he plays the dual role as the wayward son, Bob Corchran, and that of Patrick O'Rourke, a golf instructor from Belfast, Ireland.

There will be two shows each evening, the first starting at 7 and the second at 9 o'clock. There will be three matinees presented — Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

Farm hands are subject to benefits of the new workers' compensation law in New South Wales.

SURE WAY TO STOP NIGHT COUGHING

Relief in 15 Minutes—or No Cost

Persistent night coughing is usually due to causes which ordinary cough mixtures do not touch. A remarkable new prescription known as Thoxine, working on an entirely different principle, goes direct to the cause, stops the stubbornest cough within 15 minutes. One swallow is all that's needed. If it fails, get your money back. Equally good for sore throat for which purpose it is far superior to gargles. No chloroform or other harmful drugs. Excellent for children's sore throat and coughs. 35c., 60c, and $1.00 At all good druggists.

Just Delighted With Plant Juice Medicine

Glad to Tell Everybody How Splendid It Has Been For Her, Declares This Columbus Woman.

"My experience with Plant Juice has been so delightful that I am glad to recommend this medicine to others," declares Miss Margaret Kaylor, who is employed at the Ohio school for the blind, in Columbus.

"My case was a most peculiar one—a distressing asthma that had me feeling perfectly miserable. I couldn't lie down and expect to sleep in comfort it troubled me so.

"Well, I have been truly surprised at the wonderful way in which Plant Juice has helped this condition. Rheumatism, which caused me trouble in my knees, is rapidly disappearing, too, and Plant Juice has acted as a general tonic for my entire system. I am going to continue to use Plant Juice and will always keep a bottle on hand."

Paris Police Take Preventive Measures To Protect Jewelry

PARIS.—With the famous rose diamond, the Grand Conde, in the hands of clever thieves, steps to increase the safeguarding of other valuable state jewels are now being taken in Paris.

The principal one of these is the "Regent" diamond, now in the Louvre and worth considerably more than the one stolen from the Chantilly museum. It has been stolen once and carried away twice by fugitive rulers, pawned twice to get supplies for the armies of Napoleon who redeemed it in 1802 and wore it in the pommel of his sword when he was crowned Emperor.

It would probably be a very difficult task to make away with it now that it is so safely guarded in the Galerie d'Apollon. It is surrounded by an iron balustrade and the glass protecting it is so thick that a shot from a gun could not even break it. Aside from the special guardians who watch over it, hourly rounds are made by others and at night the table on which the precious gem reposes is lowered into the floor and disappears as if by magic to a spot where few thieves could find it.

$2,448 MARK IN REVENUE IS HIT BY COURT

October Collections Break Monthly Records.

$65 FOR COUNTY

Collections in municipal court during October reached a new high record of $2,448.14, Miss Lulu Bennett, acting clerk, announced today. The largest month heretofore was May, when $2,358.55 was reported.

Of the October revenue, $2,382.04 went to the city and $65.10 to the county. From fines collected for violation of city ordinances $1,869.58 was collected, while the costs on these actions added $386.50. Costs in civil suits netted $126.96.

The county's revenue included $50 in fines and $15.10 in costs on actions.

Net earnings of the court for the city, after deducting the municipality's share of theoperating expenses, were $1,819.04. This will pay the salaries of about 13 members of the police and fire departments.

Since established on January 1, the court has collected $17,200.48 for the city and a little more than $500 for the county.

The clerk's monthly report shows that 68 civil cases were filed and 114 disposed of. Criminal actions numbered 173, of which 145 were for violation of state laws, while 33 were for infractions of city ordinances.

Twelve state cases are pending while four were dismissed. Seven prisoners were committed to the county jail upon the court's orders.

EAST END

STATE OFFICERS TO ATTEND MEET

State officers of Pennsylvania council will be present at the open meeting of William A. Pike Council No. 2, Order of Independent Americans, to be held next Wednesday night in the Odd Fellows hall, Mulberry street.

Purpose of the visit is to acquaint the people of East Liverpol with the objects of principles of the organization.

This organization in Pennsylvania made possible the reading of the Bible in the public schools and also sponsored the Flag Display bill, and opposes unrestricted immigration.

At the last session of the state council, the Ladies Auxiliary was recognized.

REV. C. A. PIERCE TO FILL PULPIT

Rev. Charles A. Pierce, of Hiram, will speak this evening in the Pennsylvania Avenue Church of Christ. He will also occupy the pulpit at both services Sunday.

Large crowd attended the reception for new members in the church last night. Diversified program was given after which refreshments were served.

Bridge Work Progressing.

Work is progressing on the new bridge spanning the Ohio river at Ambridge, Pa. Concreting has been completed and it is expected the structure will be finished early next spring.

Evangelistic Services.

Lodge Meeting Tonight.

Ohio City Rebekah lodge No. 782, will meet tonight in the Hill building, Mulberry street. Number of matters will be considered at this session.

Notice.

I wish to notify Cassius Squires that I do not wish my name used in connection with the prosecution of the boys of Calcutta on any charge.

W. T. GRIMM.

Don't Let a Cough or Cold 'Go Down'

If you let a cough get down into your bronchial tubes or lungs, it stops being merely a nuisance and becomes a real danger.

A "head cold" is only a bother while it stays in your head. But once it gets down into the danger zone, serious trouble threatens.

Act promptly to check the cough; to keep the head cold from "going down." Sure and lasting relief is as near as the nearest drug store.

Quickly and unfailingly Ayer's Cherry Pectoral goes straight to the seat of danger. Real medicine, reaching deep with its soothing, healing power, penetrating through and through the irritated membranes of your throat and bronchial tubes.

If you are catching cold; if you have a "head cold"; if your chest is tight; if you have a cough—even if bronchitis has developed—Ayer's Cherry Pectoral at once! Keep your cold from going down into the danger zone.

Cherry Pectoral is pleasant, safe and dependable—for children and grown people. At all druggists—60c; twice as much, $1.00. 1b24c

BOOK FIVE—V.

There was assembled in the Washington Square apartment on the following afternoon a representative group of kindred spirits, to the number of twelve. Of these twelve, six were shooting dice in a circle on the floor. Two — a girl with straight blonde bobbed hair, like yellow paint, and a boy in a West Point uniform—were seated close together on a divan, wearing that desperately solemn expression of countenance young people wear only when they are discussing one another's probable faithlessness. Two more occupied the piano bench and played intermittent ragtime, the girl with both hands, the boy with a somewhat erratic forefinger on the upper end of the keyboard. The host, Johnny, was performing calisthenics with a cocktail shaker. And Mrs. Johnny, in a voluminous blue-checked apron and with a smudge on the tip of her extraordinary nose, was flying back and forth between kitchen and living room demanding, whether or not anybody wanted her to make coffee—"If anybody says yes I'll crown them—"

On one of these trips she paused by her husband's side to say, "What's happened to Jock and Yvonne, do you 'spose?"

"He's not bringing Yvonne," Johnny answered, opening a fresh bottle of gin and sniffing into it with the usual post-Volstead distrust. "He's bringing some other girl. Told me so yesterday. Forgot to tell you about it."

"He is?"

"He is."

"Why, what's that mean?" Peg marveled.

"I don't know," said Johnny, "but I know what I hope."

"Me, too. I don't like her either."

Outside in the street was heard an automobile horn braying a little refrain. "Honk — honky-honk-honk — honk honnnk!"

Peg and Johnny with one accord went to a window and threw it open, drenching their protesting guests with zero air. They hung out. Four stories below they could see Jock's roadster, and Jock assisting to alight from it a diminutive person in a fur coat and a dot of green hat.

"Ship ahoy!" boomed Johnny.

"Wait'll you see what I've brought!" Jock shouted from the sidewalk, and the pair vanished into the doorway below.

Their arrival at the apartment was attended by an untoward mishap. Amy Hazelton, the girl at the piano, understanding that Jock had Yvonne with him and desiring to be apropos, struck crashing chords . . . Jock and Cecily entered to the Bridal March from Lohengrin.

"Why, how nice!" said Cecily, quite unabashed. "Now if somebody'll lend me a lace curtain—"

Amy gasped and jerked her fingers from the keys. "Oh, I'm so sorry—why, I thought of course it would be Yvonne!" she explained brightly.

Peg rushed to the rescue, and without waiting to be introduced to Cecily introduced her to the room at large. "Say hello to these tramps, my dear," she directed, hooking her arm into Cecily's. "The one now lumbering toward us is my warden, Johnny Havens. And this is Elsie Henry, and that's Dinny Purviance—" She recited names rapidly, and Cecily smiled and twinkled: which was really all the current Cecily had to do to conquer.

"Jock seems to be trying to keep it a secret," she said at the end with just the proper touch of diffidence, "but my name's Cecily—"

And inside of a minute they were calling her Cecily, with unanimous cordiality. They were making quite a little stir about her. Dinny dragged her coat from her shoulders, and Johnny handed her a drink, and some one else proffered cigarettes, and the crap shooters shifted to make room for her. And in a few minutes more she was down among them on the floor, leaning on one palm, shaking the dice in the other, her wavy brown hair half hiding her cheeks as she bent to see whether or not she got that "Ada from Decatur" she had cried for.

Through all this Jock stood quietly watching; and his were sensations like unto those of a parent whose offspring performs creditably, even brilliantly, at a public entertainment. "I knew it!" he crowed in secret. "Takes to 'em like a duck to water—and they to her!" He continued to watch her, entirely unconscious of himself. She lost the dice and sat up straight, a slim, supple figure in modish green, with a noteworthy ankle and calf showing beyond the hem of the green skirt. Larry Vane, who sat next her, said something to her in an aside and she laughed, throwing her head back. That line of her throat . . . entrancing . . . Larry looked as if he thought so too. . . .

"Jock," said Peg's voice plaintively, "are you going to stand around till doomsday in that overcoat?" And, as he slid out of the coat with guilty haste, there were cruckles and pointed remarks. He saw that his engrossed attention to Cecily had been misinterpreted, and he was confused and angry. "They ought to know better than that!" he told himself peevishly. "They all know about Yvonne. Do they think I'm one of the two-time boys, for heaven's sake?"

After that he took pains not to gaze too often or too long in her direction; but he contrived to miss nothing.

The crap game gave way in time to informal dancing. Rugs were rolled up, chairs sent spinning into corners. Amy Hazelton instructed to play "That thing that goes 'ta-ta-tum-te-ta,' you know, and not too fast!" Cecily, flushed and merry, her hands full of crumpled one-dollar bills, was pulled to her feet by Larry and another youth and literally fought over. Finally Dinny Purviance settled the question by carrying her off himself.

Jock danced with Peg. She had pulled her apron around so that it hung from her shoulders down her back like a court train; now she threw it over both their heads. There was an outbreak of comment: "Holy smoke, will you pipe that?" . . . "What is it?" . . . "It's the covered wagon!" . . . "It's a laundry bag with legs!" . . . "Hey, Johnny, better look into this!"

Peg, paying no attention, said in Jock's ear under the sheltering gingham, "She's a knockout! Who is she?"

"Since when?"

"I should think you'd feel as though you'd discovered America," Peg declared briskly. "I'm sold on her. So's Johnny. So's everybody. Be sure to bring her again."

"I will," Jock promised. Even as he promised, he thought, "But I can't, very many times. I'll be married in a month, and they don't want Yvonne."

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestents are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

$1,000,000 for this way to end Colds

One of the world's largest laboratories perfected a way to end colds. It combined a number of modern discoveries. That way proved itself so efficient, so quick, so complete that we paid $1,000,000 for it.

That way is called HILL'S. It checks a cold in 24 hours. It ends the fever, stops the headache. It opens the bowels, tones the entire system. And without any ill effects. As a result, one usually feels better than before the cold began.

Millions now employ it. When they learn its results they keep it ever on hand. Then a cold rarely gets started.

Here is all-in-all for colds—the best modern science knows. Things will change tomorrow if you take it now. Go start it without delay.

Chicken Croquettes

A Tested Recipe by Winifred S. Carter

2 cups chopped cold chicken
2 tablespoons finely chopped celery
Few grains nutmeg
¾ cup fine bread crumbs
2 tablespoons water
1 egg
1 cup very thick white sauce

Put chicken through meat grinder. Add celery, nutmeg and hot White Sauce, and mix well. Season more if necessary. Chill. Form into croquettes or cutlets. Roll in crumbs, dip in slightly beaten egg diluted with water, and roll again in crumbs. Fry in deep hot Crisco (375 to 400 degrees F.) about 5 minutes. Drain on unglazed paper. (½ cup chopped cooked mushrooms may be added to this recipe if desired.)

WHITE SAUCE

2 tablespoons Crisco
4 tablespoons flour
¾ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 cup milk

Melt Crisco, add flour, salt and pepper and mix well. Add milk slowly and bring to the boiling point, stirring constantly to avoid lumping. Place over hot water until ready to use.

(All measurements level)

In frying with Crisco, notice that Crisco never smokes or makes an unpleasant odor at proper frying temperature. And remember that Crisco alone meets your every need of a shortening and cooking fat. It is just the thing for light, tender cakes, fluffy biscuits, flaky pie crust and dainty desserts.

MICHELHAM ART SALE SET FOR NOVEMBER 23

200 PICTURES

LONDON.—The coming sale of the art treasures of the late Lord Michelham is expected to be the most sensational event of its kind in the history of the auction-room.

Hamptons, the internationally known English auctioneers, will begin the disposal of this great collection of pictures, art, furniture, porcelain, tapestries etcetera, which took Lord Michelham many years to gather together, on November 23.

Already they have been inundated with inquiries from dealers and connoisseurs the world over for particulars of the sale, and a record attendance is anticipated.

Nearly two hundred pictures of class are to be sold, and of fifteen of them it may safely be said that any one would invest a sale with first-class importance.

At a modest estimate these fifteen, which have vastly increased in value since their purchase by Lord Michelham, are expected by experts to realize between a million dollars.

Famous Pictures.

The fifteen include four fine Romneys, two of them rivalling in interest the famous portait of Mrs. Davenport, by the same master, which brought the record price of approximately $300,000 when sold by Sir William Bromley-Davenport last July.

Gem of the Michelham Romneys is the portrait of Anne Lady De La Pole—a beautiful work which lay hidden away for more than a century in a Devonshire country house before its value and importance were realized. Twenty-three years ago Sir Joseph Duveen, the famous London art dealer, paid $70,000 odd for it.

The other great Romneys in the collection are portraits of Lady Elizabeth Forbes, the "Three Children of Captain Little," and one of the celebrated Lady Hamilton as the "Ambassadress." "Emma" Hamilton was a favorite sitter of Romneys, and some of his finest work is seen in his portraits of her.

Two works by Sir Thomas Lawrence, an early president of the Royal Academy, three Hoppners, including a portrait of Lady Louise Manners, for which Charles Wertheimer paid $210,000 twenty-five years ago the then highest price ever paid in an auction room for a single picture.

Expect U. S. Bidders.

The collection also includes two of the better examples of Raeburn's work, a portrait of Mrs. Robertson Williamson, for which Sir Joseph Duveen paid $75,000 in 1911, and a portrait of Lord Dundas.

There are also two examples of the work of Gainsborough—Master Heathcote and Miss Tatton. Big prices are expected to be realized for these two works, especially if there is any strenuous competition from American buyers.

It is admitted that the financial success of the sale will depend on the interest exhibited by American dealers and buyers. Indications point to Americans being strongly represented, and the pick of the collection is expected to find a resting-place in the homes of American millionaires.

Electrification of Austrian railways is proceeding so rapidly that the lines to the Swiss frontier will probably be operated by current next year.

Where Hills Eat Oil!

Sterling is more economical and Safer

The Thousand Mile Oil.

When you are driving in a country where the land is all "on edge", it's not always safe to trust your engine to a short-mileage oil.

Short-mileage oil means short wear oil. And if there is any place on earth where it is necessary to have oil that will stand the "gaff", it's the miles-in-low, you use in the hill country.

Sterling is the long distance oil—1000 miles in safety without change.

Long-mileage oil means long wear oil.

Sterling is safer on the hills and on the long run and doesn't cost a penny more.

"GIRL FRIEND" HERE NOV. 16

Lew Fields' Stage Success Coming to Ceramic.

Lew Fields' "The Girl Friend," to which on its premiere in New York City last season the audience is said to have opened its arms and its heart and received its with a spontaneous burst of uproarious welcome, and which played to large audiences through the summer and is still drawing throngs to the Vanderbilt theatre in the metropolis, will be the offering at the Ceramic theatre Tuesday evening, Nov. 16.

The book of "The Girl Friend" is by Herbert Fields, the lyrics by Lorenz Hart and the music by Richard Rogers, the trio responsible for "Dearest Enemy" and "Garrick Gaieties." It is said to tower head and shoulders above most of the musical comedies which have come to this city. There is enough material in it for two of the ordinary pieces of its kind, which are usually built around one of two tuneful songs and generously padded. Every song in "The Girl Friend" is said to be meritorious and, of course, all music lovers are familiar with the hits of the production, "The Girl Friend" and "The Blue Room," through having heard them over the radio. And so far as fun is concerned the show is cerdited with being a gale of laughter from start to finish. There is nothing serious about the play from first to last, nothing in fact but tuneful music, lot of fun and froth and beautiful girls.

The story concerns a young Long Island dairyman who has ambition to become a professional bicycle rider. The boy is a simple country lad, who has effected a successful combination of business and pleasure by lending his wheel to the service of the churning machine. He is taken up by a manager of sports, and although dastarly schemes are afoot to thwart him, eventually he wins the bicycle race and his rustic girl friend in the bargain.

Lew Fields of the famous team of comedians, Weber and Fields who were the rage of America in the days of Weber and Fields' Music Hall in New York, and producer of "The Girl Friend," supervised the entire production. And it is said the players enter into the run of the piece with a spirit that never flags, and the chorus is well-trained, graceful and vivacious and can sing and dance.

Among the principal players are Allan Gold, Frances Dewey, George B. Phelps, Gladys James, George Bogues, Anita Wright, Teddy Deurr, Frances King, Elizabeth Raymond, John McNamara, Helen Reilly, Charles Cooley, Jimmy Cort and Barry Bernard.

Prince of Wales to Gain From Opening Of Cornwall Mines

LONDON.—The Prince of Wales is likely to be one of the fortunate beneficiaries from the great tin gamble. Some of the mines on his estates in Cornwall are likely to be re-opened in consequence of the world's demand for tin at any price.

In fact, so tempting are the rewards, that adventurers in Cornwall, with tin at over $1,500 per ton, are prospecting for likely spots to "tin-streaming."

At one spot, known as Portheras Beach, streaks of black tin particles appear in ridges in the sands after each tide. These are to be raked off as the tide recedes, and raised by means of an aerial basket to the workings in the valley above where the tin miners will mill and "buddle" the sands on approved principles and send the product to the smelters.

Although the British Empire, on account of the great mines in the Maley States and other tin-bearing countries controlls nearly 60 per cent of the world's output, and can sell to the United States and the rest of the world at practically any price, the home manufacturer is suffering just as much from the 300 per cent rise in value as the foreign consumer. Hence the attempt to get at any tin left in Britain, even though the working had previously been regarded as unprofitable.

EVERYONE LIKES THIS COLD CURE

"Pape's Cold Compound" ends a cold or grippe in a few hours

Your cold will break and all grippe misery end after taking a dose of "Pape's Cold Compound" every two hours until three doses are taken.

It promptly opens clogged-up nostrils and air passages in the head, stops nasty discharge or nose running, relieves sick headache, dullness, feverishness, sore throat, sneezing, soreness and stiffness.

Don't stay stuffed-up! Quit blowing and snuffling! Ease you throbbing head—nothing else in the world gives such prompt relief as "Pape's Cold Compound," which costs only thirty-five cents at any drug store. It acts without assistance, tastes nice, and causes no inconvenience. Accept no substitute.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Final Homage Will Be Paid "Fiacre" Next Year in Paris

PARIS—Final homage to the fiacre in Paris will be paid by motorists, cyclists and pedestrians on the first of April next year. The ceremony is being arranged by the sporting newspaper, "L'Auto."

Once practically the sole means of speedy locomotion on Paris streets, there are now only 44 fiacres in operation in the city. "L'Auto" expects that a rigorous winter will cause the disappearance of these last 44.

If it doesn't the ceremony will be delayed.

Sounds almost incredible—but it's true! You see, rheumatism, as it is called, that cripples you up and tortures you night and day, is caused by impurities in the system. Weak, impoverished blood can't throw off these impurities—so rheumatism remains.

Get this wonderful relief yourself! Thousands are doing it! S. S. S. has been stopping rheumatism by building up red cells in the blood for generations. It will do the same for you.

S. S. S. also cleanses your skin of blemishes—increases your appetite—puts power and strength and energy in your body. Get S. S. S. today from any druggist. The larger bottle is more economical.
